Woods Lists Downtown Progress as No. 1 Aim

19 Other Goals Outlined in Memo

Revitalization of downtown Arlington Heights was cited Monday as the leading concern of the village board in the coming year. Downtown problems led a list of 20 concerns in a memorandum distributed to trustees by Village Pres. John G. Woods at the swearing in of the new village board.

In the downtown area, Woods recommended that the board work for:

1) Completion of the central business district study now being conducted by the Tec-Search municipal planning firm,

2) Improvement of recently acquired railroad parks to provide additional parking.

3) Study the feasibility of depressing the North Western Railway tracks.

4) Secure removal of certain obsolete structures downtown, and

5) Secure more adequate post office facilities, including a postal substation.

AMONG OTHER top concerns cited by Woods were:

Attracting office, research and light industry facilities.

Continuing annexations to establish the village's ultimate boundaries.

Intensify efforts to secure a toll road entrance and exit in the village.

Expedite efforts to secure an alternate water supply.

MONDAY'S "changing of the guard" proved a time for reminiscences of past work together among trustees leaving the board as well as some bright prospects for the future of Arlington Heights.

Four members left office: Trustees George (Bud) Beacham, Norval B. Stephens and William J. Moore and Clerk Alberta Foerster. Moore, who has been confined to Chicago Wesley Memorial Hospital for more than a month following hip surgery, was hooked up via telephone speakerphone for the full proceedings.

Two members returned to the board: Woods and Trustee John F. White.

Two members whose terms expire in 1967 remain on the board: Trustees Carl F. Mees and John J. Walsh.

EACH TOOK the opportunity to express the thoughts public officials don't speak of except at ceremonial occasions. Trustees generally reserved their highest praise for the village administration under Village Manager L. A. Hanson and for appointed commission members.

From his hospital bed, Moore told the new board, "Arlington Heights' time has come for industrial growth. God gave you the brains and the voters gave you the responsibility. Act to keep this town moving."

New members who joined the board Monday are Trustees Roy A. Bressler, Thomas H. Hanlon and Francois N. Palmatier and Clerk Jeanne Novotny.

CHANGE WATER RATES

Some Higher, Others Lower

by DAN BAUMANN
News Editor

A new water and sewer rate schedule — providing higher rates for heavy water users and lower rates for the "average" user — was approved by the Arlington Heights Village Board Monday.

The effect will first be felt in September water bills.

It is expected to provide the new revenue needed to put the village water utility in "a sound cash position," according to Trustee Norval B. Stephens, chairman of the finance committee. It was the first change in water rates since 1952.

"Between 1952 and 1965, the nation has experienced a deflation of the dollar of about 15 per cent," Stephens commented. "We have been able to keep up with this attrition of income by greater efficiency and by the inflow of over $200,000 to provide new facilities, which was part of the 1961 bond issue.

"We no longer have a sound cash position and should take prudent management action."

THE NEW RATE structure is also designed to simplify billing operations.

The old structure provided reductions of 5 cents per 1,000 gallons metered per quarter at eight usage levels. The rate was 45 cents per thousand for the first 10,000 gallons, 40 cents per thousand for the next 10,000 gallons, and so forth.

For each 1,000 gallons over 50,000 per quarter, the rate dropped to 20 cents, the lowest charge.

The eight steps are changed to two in the new schedule.

Water customers who use fewer than 50,000 gallons per quarter will be charged 44 cents per thousand. Customers who use more than 50,000 gallons—regarded as commercial users—will be charged 39 cents per 1,000 gallons over that point.

THE BASIS for sewer charges also was changed. The charge for sewer use, which is combined with the water bill, was $1 per quarter plus 8 cents per 1,000 gallons of water metered. Stephens said that averaged out to 11 cents per 1,000 gallons. The new sewer charge is a flat 11 cents per thousand for all users.

Thus, the combined sewer and water charge for users of less than 50,000 gallons per quarter will be 55 cents per thousand. Each thousand gallons over that limit will be charged at 50 cents.

Stephens said the old step arrangement "causes us complex computations to develop the average bill. In fact, it takes five computations to figure the 18,000 gallon bill (which is average for village users.)

"We have attempted to justify these computations and the steps. In modern terms, they are not defensible."

UNDER THE OLD structure, Stephens indicated, large water customers were buying water at far less than the 32.5 cents it costs the village to "mine" a thousand gallons, while small users were paying far more.

He advocated the one five-cent step as "warranted, reflecting the lower costs to service the largest accounts."

The average residential user, Stephens said, uses 18,000 gallons per quarter and pays $10.14 for the combined water and sewer charge. The new charge will be $9.90.

The "heavy" residential user of 36,000 gallons per quarter now pays $17.68 and will pay $19.80.

CITING ADJACENT communities, Stephens said the average user pays $15.44 in Mount Prospect and $12.86 in Rolling Meadows; the heavy residential user pays $33.58 in Mount Prospect and $23.82 in Rolling Meadows.

In Stephens' calculations, the new rate should provide an income of $600,000 for water sales, in sales in the current fiscal year, compared with an estimated sales of $520,000 in the fiscal year just ended. Stephens' estimate, however, includes the growth factor of new accounts. Growth last year added $30,000 in water sales.

FREE PADDLE BALLS for kids under 12 — that's the offer of downtown retailers in Arlington Heights. Kids under 12 can enter the "Best Mom in Town" contest very easily, and pick up a free paddle ball as soon as they complete an entry in any of the 28 stores displaying the blue and white "Best Mom in Town" posters. Eileen Cummins, 26 S. Highland, Arlington Heights, couldn't make the ball work properly the first time she tried, but is determined to do it the second time around. (Staff photo)

★ ★ Affect of New Rate On You

Here's how you as a homeowner will be affected by the new combined water and sewer rates effective on bills you will pay starting in September:

If you are a very light water user—10,000 gallons per quarter—you will pay $5.50, compared with $6.30 under the old rates.

If you are the "average" user—18,000 gallons per quarter—you will pay $9.90, compared with the former charge of $10.14.

YOU PROBABLY won't notice the difference if you use 21,000 gallons a quarter, the point at which the new rate will begin to cost more than the old rate. Under the new rate, your bill will be $11.55; under the old it was $11.53.

If you have three or four children, chances are you fall into the "heavy" residential user category of about 36,000 gallons a quarter. Your new bill for that volume will be $19.80. Your old bill was $17.68.

Displays To Highlight Police Week

Arlington's mothers will have to share honors with the police on Sunday, the first day of "Honor Your Police Week" as well as Mother's Day.

The police recognition week is being sponsored by the Arlington Heights Chamber of Commerce. Displays of weapons, narcotics and items of fraud and blackmail confiscated by the police will be at strategic locations in the village during the week-long observance.

AT AN OPEN house in the police station, at 8 p.m. next Wednesday, Village Pres. John G. Woods will present pins of recognition to each Arlington police officer and an award to the department.

Refreshments—and a tour of police facilities—will follow the presentations.

Village Clerk Takes Voter Registrations

Voter registration for Arlington Heights residents opened Monday in the clerk's office at the Municipal Building, 33 S. State Road. Hours are 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. The residence requirement is one year in the state, 90 days in the county and 30 days in the precinct.

Levee Lounging Legal at Last

The antique law was dropped in a massive recodification of village ordinances given final approval by the village board Monday.

The revised code, contained in a six-inch stack of about 3,000 typed pages, took immediate effect. The village will have the code printed for easier distribution.

BROKEN DOWN into 30 separate chapters, it details village regulations covering village operation, responsibilities of appointed and elected officials and employes, public safety, licensing, commerce, amusements, traffic and thoroughfares, water and sewer, construction, fire regulations, subdivision control, signs and fences.

Not a major legislative revision, the code is, however, a major attempt to reorganize village ordinances, bring them up to date by dropping meaningless items like prohibition of steamboat loitering, and incorporate practices which have developed since previous ordinances were added to the village code.

The revision has occupied the village board for more than a year. In the past several months, special meetings have been held two and three times a week to permit trustees to review chapters and sections of the new code.

BY ITS SHEER volume, it is difficult to digest, but one provision already has sparked controversy. The chapter on building regulations requires basements or crawl spaces under living areas of a home.

Although concrete slab construction was permitted under the former code, officials indicate only a minor fraction of homes built in Arlington were on slabs. And contractors, in meetings with the village on building code revisions, suggested incorporating the existing practice into the new code.

Developers of the 300-plus home Realcoa subdivision, however, developed their construction plans on the basis of the old provision and have been denied building permits for the slab construction. They were angered with the change. (See separate story).

Restaurant Is Hit by Burglars

Burglars Saturday took about $20 from a cash box and merchandise and change from a cigarette machine at Little Les's Pizza, 210 N. Dunton Ave., Arlington Heights. The restaurant apparently was entered through a window.

Realcoa Protests

Board Backs Decision To Withhold Permits

Spokesmen for the Realty Company of American charged Monday the village of Arlington Heights unfairly changed the ground rules on home construction since the firm first submitted home plans for Realcoa Subdivision.

The firm is developing the 106-acre subdivision which wraps around the north and west sides of Surrey Ridge, at Arlington Heights and Golf Roads.

Atty. John H. Bickley Jr., representing the firm, said Realcoa had purchased the land "based on the zoning laws and building code of this village. We've complied, yet we can't get any building permits out of the building department."

Bristling, Bickley added, "The least you can do is issue building permits."

THE REALCOA attorney said Best refused to grant permits to construct five model homes because "it is against his policy to build on concrete slabs. Sixty per cent of the homes being built in the United States are on slabs."

Best, it developed, had refused to issue permits for the homes in anticipation of the board's passage Monday of a revised village code, which requires a basement or crawl space under living areas of the home. And the board, backing his refusal, approved the new code which took affect immediately.

Bickley complained when he first submitted plans on March 8 — which included a slab under a living room in one model — Best raised no objections. And, he said, in a series plan revisions and conferences since then, no mention was made of the new requirement until April 26.

He said his firm could have withdrawn from purchase of a 65-acre addition to the subdivision until April 15, if it had known its plans were unacceptable.

BEST SAID HE "missed" the living room slab in the March 8 plan. He countered that subsequent revisions showed more crawl space and were never reviewed thoroughly because they were incompelte.

"I have never yet had a complete application for a building permit."

Village Atty. Jack M. Siegel cited previous opinions in which he upheld the right of village employees to hold up work permitted under ordinance "when revision is under active consideration."

And he defended the new requirements as "reasonable" and resulting from suggestions of builders the village conferred with during code revision. "We book the standards that had been adhered to (in Arlington Heights) voluntarily and above the standards of the code."

ACCORDING TO Best, only a tiny fraction of homes built in Arlington Heights are on slabs.

Trustee George (Bud Beacham, pointing out the board felt the new requirement was superior, said "There's not a man on this board who will support a position to allow this number of homes to be built in this community based on an oversight by the building commissioner."

Buckley proposed the village permit construction of the disputed models on the first 89-home unit of Realcoa Subdivision and apply the new code to the remaining units of the 300-home development.

Contracts for construction have been let, and work crews were waiting for village approval, Bickley said.

BEST AGREED to accept penciled-in changes on the building plans, to expedite construction of the five models, and the board voted to approve the new code.

After a conference with Realcoa spokesmen following the meeting, Best said he expected th firm to resubmit building permit applications, with changes, on Wednesday.

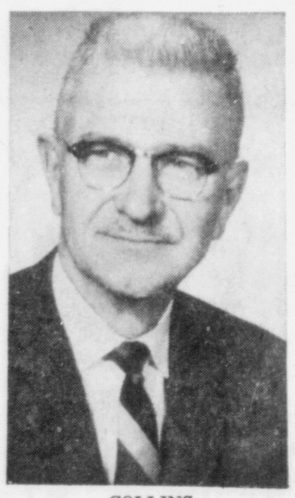
Collins to Head United Fund Drive

Paul E. Collins, president of Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan Association, has been named general chairman of the Arlington Heights United Fund for 1965.

The announcement was made by C. Frederick Leydig, president of the United Fund, following last Friday's meeting of the fund board of directors where Collins formally accepted the appointment.

In making the announcement, Leydig said, "It is important to the success of the United Fund that its general chairman be a highly respected, civic-minded and well-known, successful individual from our community. Paul Collins certainly meets those requirements. He has been a business and civic leader in Arlington Heights for more than 35 years. He knows the people, he has seen the changes and he knows what the future can be for Arlington Heights and the United Fund. The directors of the United Fund are extremely pleased and most grateful to him for accepting the appointment as the 1965 general chairman."



COLLINS

Collins has been a leading exponent of the United Fund program and was one of those men who assisted in laying the ground work for the first United Fund campaigns in Arlington Heights.

Ex-Legislator to Talk on Housing

Open housing legislation will be discussed by Robert Marks of Evanston, a former state representative, at a human relations meeting next Thursday at 8 p.m. in Pioneer Park Fieldhouse.

Host for the meeting, which is open to the public, is the recently - organized Arlington Heights Human Relations Committee, headed by Nicholas Shuman of 1001 W. Clarendon.

"We hope anyone with an interest in fair housing laws — whether they think they would be a good idea or not — will attend this meeting," said C. William Carlson of 204 S. Derbyshire, program chairman.

"MR. MARKS WAS highly recommended to us by the American Friends Service Committee as someone who can give a candid, well-informed appraisal of the effects of fair housing laws and the possibilities of any of them getting through this legislature," Carlson said.

Marks, an attorney, is a member of the Cook County Zoning Board. He served as a professorial lecturer at the Northwestern University Law School for many years.

There are several open housing bills currently under consideration by the state legislature.

One of them, H.B. 257 whose sponsors include Democratic state Rep. Eugenia Chapman of Arlington Heights, has just passed the House. Arlington Heights' other state legislator, Rep. Eugene Schlickman, is a sponsor of a Republican sponsored fair housing bill that is also under consideration by the General Assembly.

WHEN THE Democratic - sponsored H.B. 257 passed the House Wednesday, Mrs. Chapman voted for it and Rep. Schlickman against it, but he told the House that he favors fair housing legislation and was voting "nay" because he thought his bill was a better one.

The Human Relations Committee will also have a business session at which it will discuss sub-committee plans and elect officers. It will be the group's first annual meeting.

Band to Play Wednesday at St. Peter School

The St. Paul's Concert Band of Concordia, Mo., will present a program of classical and semi-classical music at the St. Peter's Lutheran School, 111 W. Olive St., Arlington Heights, at 10:30 a.m. next Wednesday.

Police Blotter Is Accurate Harbinger

The police blotter can be as accurate as the thermometer in reflecting Arlington Heights' weather.

Take Sunday, for example, when temperatures soared into the 80's. According to police casualty reports:

RAYMOND Johnson, 416 N. Belmont Ave., cut his hand in what may have been Arlington Heights first lawn mower accident this year.

And on Monday, a resident of St. James Street called police to report a stray male beagle had made "amorous advances" toward her dog. She had the offender in custody.

Police traced its owner through its tag. The owner volunteered to cover medical expenses "to prevent arrival of any little beagles."

Okay Plat For 72 Townhouses

The final plat and development plan for Sugarbrook subdivision's third and final addition were approved by the Arlington Heights Plan Commission last Wednesday.

The addition, south of existing Sugarbrook developments and east of Buffalo Grove Road, is planned for 36 two-unit townhouses. Thirty-eight three-bedroom and 34 four-bedroom units are planned.

The plan group's favorable recommendation will be presented to the village board on May 17. Developer is Town Builders of Arlington Heights.

Ask Truck District Extension

Village Atty. Jack M. Siegel Monday was instructed to draft a petition to the Illinois Commerce Commission seeking inclusion of Arlington Heights in the Chicago Commercial Trucking District.

Siegel told the village boeard that including the village in the truck district would require ICC approval. Arlington shippers are now penalized by higher rates prevailing outside the district, the attorney explained.

The current Chicago rate zone extends up to the Centex industrial development in Elk Grove Village. That village tried unsuccessfully a year ago to have the Centex development included in the zone.

Planners Still Unsure of Wallach Pact Implications

THURS., MAY 6, 1965

The meet - the - deadline pressure was off last night as the Arlington Heights Plan Commission met to consider a request by builder George Wallach for rezoning to multi-family of land in Arlington Park Manor.

That fact, plus the raising of new questions regarding the rezoning petition's relationship to previous village agreements with Wallach, made it likely that the plan commission would put off a final recommendation on the Park Manor landowner's request.

Plan commission members came out of a meeting with a village board subcommittee Tuesday evening still concerned whether they had:

1) All the documents needed to make a decision on the rezoning request,

2) A full understanding of the Wallach petition's fulfillment of a previous agreement between him and the village, and

3) The legal right of the plan commission in a matter in which the village has already guaranteed eventual approval of the rezoning change.

FORMER TRUSTEE Norval B. Stephens took the pressure off plan commission by assuring subcommittee members Charles Cronin, Clyde Ferry and Clifford Johnson that the village board did not feel bound to honor a May 1, 1965, zoning change guarantee date since Wallach's petition had not been submitted promptly enough despite a warning to them in January to do so.

The May 1 guarantee for the zoning change was included in a lengthy agreement reached between Wallach and the village board in early January after months of negotiation.

In the agreement the village board agrees — among other things — to prompt rezoning from B-4 (commercial) to R-5 (apartments) of a number of Park Manor lots owned by Wallach. Wallach in turn agreed to continue to seek a commercial developer for the site for another year before putting in multi-family buildings.

Plan commission members, going over the agreement Tuesday evening with Stephens and Trustees Carl Mees and John White, noted references to a planned development and questioned whether Wallach should not submit the planned development drawings when requesting the rezoning.

THEY ALSO indicated that they wanted to check the plot lists to see if they met the "Baughman formula" for lot usage in the Park Manor area. The village's agreement with Wallach was based in great part on a Park Manor redevelopment plan prepared by community planner Eugene Baughman in April, 1962.

Also attending the subcommittee hearing were Mrs. Alice Harms, a former Park Manor resident who is a board of zoning appeals member, and three Park Manor Homeowners Association representatives including Walter Damm, president.

Damm criticized several points in the Wallach agreement in a letter sent to most village officials April 30, and Mrs. Damm appeared at the village board meeting Monday evening to reiterate the homeowners' concern.

She asked whether it was the village's intent that the Baughman study be followed and was assured by Stephens that it was, with modifications which provided less dense, rather than more dense, development.

SHE ALSO expressed concern about the agreement's indication that Wallach could put R-3 (single family dwellings) on the lots instead of R-5 (apartments) if he chose. Trustees assured her that if one Wallach lot were developed for single family, trustees would move to have the whole block approved for single family. They said, too, that the multi-family and single-family buildings could not alternate block by block.

At Tuesday's joint subcommittee meeting village trustees stressed again their "intent" that the agreement be in accord with the Baughman study. Plan commission members said they hoped one of the trustees would attend the zoning hearing to express that intent, should there be any disagreement with Wallach or his attorneys Al Druth and Gerald Chapman.

Chapman and Druth had represented Wallach at a Board of Local Improvements meeting in April at which BOLI members learned with dismay that an agreement of their verbal "intent" that Wallach prepay $140,000 in special assessment funds had been negated by a letter approved by them later.

Fraud Ring Seen Operating Locally

Arlington police and FBI agents are investigating a possible fraud ring suspected of operating in Arlington Heights last week.

The Bank of Arlington Heights Saturday reported a man identifying himself as George M. Ward, 801 E. Miner St., had opened a checking account there Wednesday.

He deposited two checks, both for $124.24 marked "balance due on 1961 Chevrolet." Both checks were from the "General Automatic Transmissions Sales & Service Special Account" and were drawn on the Old Second National Bank of Aurora. They were signed by a James Douglas.

THE CHECKS failed to clear the Old Second, which notified the Arlington bank the account had been closed. The Aurora bank said the account was opened in February and closed after issuance of imprinted checks.

A $47 check made out to James P. Kelly drawn on the Bank of Arlington Heights and signed by Ward was cashed by a man identifying himself as Kelly at the Arlington Heights National Bank. The man used a driver's license for identification.

Police traced the registration to a James P. Kelly in Chicago. He had lost his license more than a year ago and had replaced it.

Families and friends are invited to attend the 7:30 p.m. show to view fashions from the Lorraine Anne and Anderson shops of Arlington Heights. Advanced students from the previous class session will model garments they have selected and have co-ordinated with their own accessories.

Car Wash Slated

Scouts in Explorer Post 18 will wash cars Saturday, May 8, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. at TNT Manufacturing Co., 431 N. Wolf Road, Wheeling.

Vinyl Approved For Swim Pools

Vinyl was approved for home swimming pool construction Monday by the Arlington Heights Village Board.

The board instructed Village Atty. Jack M. Siegel to prepare an ordinance permitting use of the plastic material. The existing code requires hard-shell pool construction.

Large, above - the - ground pools were not approved in the change, which provides for vinyl liners in an earth form, shaped like a regular swimming pool bottom.

The amendment had been requested by a combine which will sell pools in a multi-state region from a sales office on the Klehm nursery grounds. After reviewing the request with Building Commissioner H. C. Best, public safety committee chairman John J. Walsh said his committee recommended approval provided several major structural requirements were met.

These included use of metal sidewall construction of a grade recommended by Best (contractors' plans had called for wood or metal) and use of a formula which would relate the distance of the pool from the house to the depth of the building's foundations. That was inserted because of concerns about ground pressure against foundations.

WALSH SAID his committee accepted the builder's contention that it is difficult to apply a village requirement that pool materials have a nonslip surface, "as smooth as possible."

The nonslip provision is intended to prevent accidents; the smooth quality is to prevent buildup of algae. Manufacturers contend their vinyl pools are superior to concrete in preventing algae growth which may slick a rougher concrete surface.

Walsh said the firm would meet other requirements of the existing code which were not met in the original plans, including additional ladders and a drain at the lowest point of the pool. (A

Village Buys 10 Vehicles

Purchase of eight autos, a station wagon, a motor cycle and 100,000 gallons of gas was approved by the Arlington Heights Village Board Monday.

All purchases were on low bids recommended by Village Manager L. A. Hanson.

Of the cars, five are for the building department, two for the engineering department and one is a police squad. The wagon is for fire department inspection use.

ONLY TWO BIDS were received, despite public advertisement and calls to potential bidders, Hanson said. They were Lattof Motor Sales, $17,098, and Mark Motors, $18,452. The board accepted the Lattof bid.

The price includes three trade-in vehicles. The police department is adding a new patrol, and cars are being provided building inspectors for the first time. They formerly were given a mileage allowance for their own cars.

The three bids received for a police motorcycle were from: Fischer's Harley-Davidson, Elgin, $2,575; Illinois Harley-Davidson, Oak Park, $2,743, and Becker's Harley - Davidson, Skokie, $2,763.

The Elgin firm's bid was accepted.

THE LOW BID on autos was $829 over the amount anticipated in the current budget, and the cycle was $173 over.

The 100,000 gallons of regular grade gasoline, for village vehicle fleet, was from the Mobil Oil Co., at 16.15 cents a gallon.

Other bidders were Texaco, 16.25 cents; Shell 16.405 cents; Arlington Oil Co. (Sinclair) 16.405 cents; Cities Service 16.78 cents and American Mexican Marathon 17.91 cents. (A

Jr. College Board Takes Oath May 6

The newly-elected school board of Community College District 301 will be sworn into office Thursday, May 6.

The swearing-in ceremony and organizational meeting of the board will be held at 8 p.m. at Fremd High School, 1000 S. Quentin Rd., Palatine.

Until the election of a board president, Dr. Noble Puffer, Cook County school superintendent, will preside. Dr. Puffer will conduct the swearing-in ceremony.

HEADING THE slate of 48 candidates in last Saturday's election was John A. Haas of Prospect Heights, former president of the Arlington High School District 214 school board. Haas had a total vote of 2,520 of the 5,725 ballots cast.

He was followed closely by A. M. (Bud) Bernstein, Elk Grove Village, with a vote of 2,441 and Mrs. Jessalyn M. Nicklas, Inverness, with a vote of 2,112.

Other successful candidates and their vote totals were Richard J. Johnson, Arlington Heights, 1,477; Paul O'Dea, Hoffman Estates, 1,402; James J. Hamill, Hoffman Estates, 1,382; and Milton C. Hansen, Palatine, 1,342.

James E. McKelvey of Elk Grove Village was the eighth candidate, missing his bid for a board seat by only 65 votes.

All of the candidates except O'Dea were endorsed by Paddock Publications. Only Hamill did not receive the endorsement of the Area Community College steering committee which had spearheaded the referendum to establish the junior college district.

A GROUP OF six candidates running as a slate achieved votes for the ninth through thirteenth places. These candidates were Mrs. Helen G. Sutherland, Einar Dahl, Byron W. Pasvogel, Harold O. Fichte and Charles E. Perrin. Mrs. Sutherland and Fichte had not supported the junior college referendum.

The new school board has two representatives from Hoffman Estates and one representative each from Prospect Heights, Elk Grove Village, Inverness, Arlington Heights and Palatine. There is no representation from Mount Prospect, Rolling Meadows, Schaumburg, Wheeling or Buffalo Grove. All of the successful candidates had stressed their area-wide commitment.

Heavy "home town" votes were cast in Elk Grove Village, Rolling Meadows and Hoffman Estates, with other communities voting in great part on an area-wide basis.

"Inside" speculation is that Haas will be elected president of the college board, with Mrs. Nicklas chosen secretary.

PTA Hears Talks On Delinquency

Two guest speakers presented a symposium on prevention of juvenile delinquency at the April meeting of Greenbier PTA in Arlington Heights.

Speakers were Daniel McNamara, presiding judge for Cook County Family Court, and Charles Cooper, director of research development for the YMCA.

Notes from Arlington Acres

Marie Marshall — CLearbrook 5-2936

Among the First Communicants at the special masses at St. James Catholic Church Saturday morning were children of several area families, including:

Mark Kunz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kunz, 505 S. Forrest. Open house was held and a buffet supper was served to relatives and friends who dropped in during the day to share Mark's happiness. Among the guests were his grandmother, Mrs. Josephine Kunz, and a great-uncle, John Kunz of Elmwood Park, and close family friends, the James Haanel family of Arlington Heights.

Bert Mertes, 529 S. Phelps. Because of illness, there was a possibility that Bert would not be able to attend the service, and plans for a celebration were called off.

ARTIE BUSBY, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Busby. Artie's grandmother, Mrs. Mary Pasternak, attended mass with his parents and brothers, Jimmy and Tommy, after which they all had breakfast at the Pancake House. After breakfast, Artie's mother and grandmother joined forces ta prepare for a dinner at the Busby home, 408 S. Waterman, for almost 40 guests, including Artie's godparents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Piesowicz and their four children of Chicago.

Linda Gryzik, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gryzik, 417 S. Forrest. She was congratulated by a host of relatives at a late dinner that day. Among the guests were grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Gryzik and Mrs. Anthony Chrusciel, and godparents, an aunt and uncle, Miss Claudia Chrusciel and Stanley Gryzik Jr., all of Chicago.

OTHER MEMBERS of the Gryzik family received congratulations, too; her parents on their 10th wedding anniversary April 30 and her mother on her May 1 birthday.

Terry Loch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Loch, 2124 E. Park. His parents helped Terry celebrate by taking him out to breakfast after mass.

Mr. and Mrs. Loch staged their own celebration Friday evening by having dinner at Old Orchard Country Club in honor of their 11th wedding anniversary May 1.

Mr. and Mrs. James Evanger, 436 S. Forrest, "got away from it all" a weekend ago by flying to New York on Friday afternoon and staying until Sunday evening. Their home for the weekend was a suite in the Essex House across from Central Park. While there, they saw Carole Channing in "Hello, Dolly," wined and/or dined in noted restaurants including Sardi's (where Jim literally "bumped into" Bea Lillie), rode a hansom cab through the park and toured New York City, including the East and West Sides.

MR. AND MRS. Rex Hart, 2023 E. Park, celebrated their April 28 wedding anniversary quietly at home. Their social life is not always so uneventful.

They recently enjoyed spending a day with Rex's niece, Miss Pamela Key of Kilgore, Tex., who is one of the famed Rangerettes at Kilgore Junior College. She was in Chicago attending a convention of a national honorary sorority at the Knickerbocker Hotel. An all-inclusive auto tour of Chicagoland was followed by dinner at the Top of the Rock.

Earlier in the month, Mrs. Hart had entertained her bridge group at a farewell luncheon for her bridge partner, Mrs. Harley Unger of Arlington Heights, who is moving to Florida.

The Lyle Longries and the Gust Hermansons of South Forrest are members of a local square dance group, and last Friday evening they attended the spring dance given by the Barrington square dancers. By pre-arrangement, they were joined by several couples from Rolling Meadows, who are former neighbors of the Hermansons. After the dance Helen Longrie invited the group back to their home to help make a success of a surprise party for Charlotte Hermanson in honor of her April 29 birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Ehlen, 437 S. Gibbons, marked their 22nd wedding anniversary Saturday. After attending the wedding of a cousin earlier in the day, Mayme joined Ed and other members of the family at Ehlen's Green Tree Inn in Bensenville for the evening.

CHARLES AND K. J. Scharf, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Scharf, 528 S. Prindle, celebrate April 26 and 27 birthdays and are 13 and 7. A joint party was given April 24 for Terry Kulisch, Kevin Donovan, John Murdoch, Fred Elman, Scott Miller and Craig Borini.

On Sunday, Charles was guest of honor at a luncheon party preceding confirmation ceremonies at the First Methodist Church. Guests were an aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Wally Schmolt of Park Ridge, and Mr. and Mrs. Phil Brieding of Arlington Heights.

Mr. and Mrs. Stan Merchant, 513 S. Forrest, returned home Sunday from a week's fishing vacation in the Ozarks. They were at Norfork Lake and Bull Shoal Dam near Mountain Home, Ark. The Merchants took their two oldest grandchildren, Debby and Bobby Milam, with them, and report fishing was excellent.

Mrs. Ray Chappell, 440 S. Forrest, is home after a week in Northwest Community Hospital, undergoing tests.

Things are looking up at the Al Zmrzly home, 521 S. Forrest. Lil has been released from the hospital and Rob's progress is satisfactory. He is in Room 514, Children's Memorial Hospital, 740 Fullerton Ave., Chicago.

A DOUBLE-HEADER celebration was held in the Harry Kulisch home, 520 S. Prindle, Sunday, with Tracey Ann Kulisch the reason for it all. It was her second birthday and the day of her baptism at Community Presbyterian Church of Mount Prospect. Guests at a family dinner topped off with a birthday cake were grandparents, Mrs. Harry Kulisch of Chicago and Mr. and Mrs. A. Muenow of Park Ridge, an aunt, uncle and cousin, the James Lannings, and a great-aunt, Miss White, of Chicago.

In the Fred Both home, 433 S. Phelps, birthdays run in pairs. The latest duo to be celebrated were those of father and daughter, April 27 and 29 respectively. Both Fred's and Joanne's were celebrated Saturday at a dinner for 14 relatives and close friends.

It was the second celebration for Fred's birthday. It had been taken not of April 24, when he and Anita dined at Poppe's Alpine House in Lake Zurich with close friends, Mr. and Mrs. Doug Kirp of Palatine, who were also celebrating their own wedding anniversary.

KONNI KNUTSEN, 4 April 15, was given a party that evening by her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Huber, and Uncle Jack of Chicago. The following Saturday her playmates gathered at the Knutsen home, 432 S. Prindel, for cake and ice cream and party games. Present were Alan Cerva, Dean Briscoe, Susie Gryzik, Scotty Moller and her sister, Kari. Her older sister, Margi, and a friend, Sandy Kunz, were right hands in organizing and supervising games. Konni is the youngest daughter of Ken and Lynne Knutsen.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Wendt, 2023 E. Grove, were married three years April 28. They celebrated quietly at home.

A walking computer. A national resource!

Trip Tips

Wayne Griffin

You might say this trip was "for the birds". It used to be, but now us humans can participate too.

I'm talking about the island of Kauai, westernmost of the Hawaiian chain regularly visited by mainlanders. The "bird" trip is by helicopter along the awesome, rugged Na Pali cliffs on the northwest shore.

In a thirty-minute ride one is treated to a comfortable view of some of the world's most inaccessible jungle of razor-back ridges, precipitous canyon walls rising vertically thousands of feet from the deep gloom of narrow gorges, dozens of cascading waterfalls, and forbidding cliffs leading out over the ocean.

Our trip started at Hanalei Plantation House, a deluxe resort. Flying west we zoomed into gorge after gorge coming so close to the waterfalls that you could fee the spray. I've seen the Swiss Alps from cable cars, and the Norwegian fjords, but for spectacular beauty, the Na Pali is second to none. Possibility of color photography is excellent, so bring plenty of film.

Jack Harter, the manager tells me that they even fly in honeymoon couples, leave them for a couple of days along the coast, then rescue them again. You talk about secluded places — this is it!

Drop in at 104 N. Evergreen, Arlington Heights and I'll show you some Poloroid color shots that I took. Or call CL 5-7010 for further information at Wayne Griffin Travel.

VIRGINIA TERRACE

Contrast the solemnity of Holy Communion and confirmation with the thrill of seeing a Kentucky Derby first hand or the excitement of a child attending a birthday party, and one will have an idea of the numerous activities Terrace residents participated in over the weekend.

Ten area youngsters made their First Holy Communions Saturday. Nine were among the 118 in the group at St. Thomas of Villanova Catholic Church in Palatine. These were Mark Anderson, son of the Robert Andersons, 1234 Yale; Clifford Brosius, son of the Ray Brosiuses, 1228 N. Illinois; James Cates, son of the Hal Cateses, 1334 N. Yale; Wendy Micek, daughter of the Ted Miceks, 1325 N. Chicago; Richard McCabe, son of Mrs. Elwood Wilson, 1236 N. Race; Karen Pedersen, daughter of the Paul Pedersens, 1216 N. Chicago; Anthony Roberts, son of the Haldon Robertses, 1256 N. Chicago; Kathleen Roden, daughter of the Bob Rodens, 1212 N. Illinois; and Tom Sikorske, son of the Jim Sikorskes, 1231 N. Race. Receiving his First Communion at St. James Catholic Church was Thomas Bang, son of the Leslie Bangs, 1315 N. Illinois.

THE CHILDREN were feted in a variety of ways after the church services.

Breakfast at Aunt Jemima's was enjoyed by Mark Anderson, his family and his grandparents. A family dinner at the Andersons' in the afternoon was attended by Mark's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Streich of Mount Prospect and Mrs. Ebba Anderson of Schiller Park, and his godparents and children, the William Foellmers of Chicago.

Coming from Chicago to help Jimmy Cates celebrate were his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Splon, and his aunt and two cousins, Mrs. Sorrells and children. Brookfield guests were an uncle and four children, David Splon and family.

Wendy Micek had a Saturday and a Sunday celebration. On Saturday, the family went to the Carousel Restaurant for brunch. On Sunday a dinner was given in her honor. Present were her grandparents, the Joseph Miceks, and aunts, uncles and cousins, Mrs. Josephine Swiderski, the John Gregory family, (Mrs. Gregory is Wendy's godmother, also), and the Herbert Fessler family, all of Chicago. Also present were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kale and Nancy of Arlington Heights (Mr. Kale is Wendy's godfather).

Dining out at Perkins Pancake House was the treat for Rick McCabe. Sharing in his celebration were his mother, brother, John, grandmother, Mrs. John Wilmot, and his great-grandmother, Mrs. Adeline Wynn.

Brunch at Perkins was also enjoyed by Karen Pedersen, her mother, two sisters and brother, grandmother, Mrs. Myrtle Burke of Chicago, and her godmother, Mrs. Geraldine Kuehna, also of Chicago.

THE ENTIRE weekend was special for Tony Roberts because his great-aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. German Zea, came from New York especially to be a part of his special day. Mr. Zea is the Columbian Ambassador to the United Nations. Also here was Tony's great-aunt, Mrs. Amalia De Rueda, also of Columbia. Mrs. De Rueda is beginning a trip around the world.

Kathy Roden, her parents and grandfather, Edward O'Malley, had breakfast at Aunt Jemima's and then visited relatives in Skokie and Lombard.

Tom Sikorske chose a day in Chicago as his treat. He and his family visited the Field Museum, the Aquarium, saw Maxwell Street and Chinatown and had dinner out.

Among 30 relatives attending a party in honor of Tom Bang were his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hanus of Chicago and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hansen of Des Plaines.

THE TERRACE welcomes Robert and Janahn Skalicky and their children, Sherry, 5½, Julie, 4, Mark, 3, and Bobby, 1½, who moved to 1232 N. Illinois on April 24 from Maywood. Bob is employed by the First National Bank of Mount Prospect in Randhurst Center. Bob and Janan list bowling and swimming among their favorite activities.

Two Terrace women were important parts of the Ridge School PTA card party and fashion show last Friday evening. Pat Ross, 1252 N. Mr. and Mrs. John Meske of Mt. Prospect, Illinois, with their two daughters, Jody, 8 and Gail, 13.

"We've had electric heat 3 years-for comfort and economy you couldn't want anything better"... report Mr. and Mrs. John Meske

"In our home, the bedrooms, living room—dining room, bath and kitchen, are all good-sized rooms. Last year, with electric heat, we paid only $175 to heat our 5-room home. And electric heat is so clean. In the three years we've lived here, we haven't had to buy a can of paint or even wash the walls." ☐ What's more, like the Meskes, you'll find electric heat has a lot of other outstanding advantages. For example, it's 100% efficient, no heat is lost up the chimney. Each room has its own individual thermostat. You can set the temperature at 80° in the bathroom, 72° in the living room, 65° in the bedroom, all at the same time. Electric heat rates have been cut 50% since 1958. Get the facts on electric heat. Call your nearest Public Service Company Office for details, today. © C. E. Co.

Knights of Columbus Acquire Meeting Hall

Holy Rosary Council of the Knights of Columbus will celebrate Saturday, May 22, the acquisitions of its first meeting hall

The annual spring dance on that date will also serve as house warming for the council's first club house.

Just last month the eight-year-old Holy Rosary Council took possession of the property at 15 N. Hickory, Arlington Heights, that formerly had been the Colonial Shoppe owned by Joe Schneller, local furniture dealer.

THE K. OF C.'S new home will be air conditioned and completely paneled with a modern kitchen. The quarters will be available for rental.

It was Oct. 20, 1957, that a group of northwest suburban men took "charity, unity, fraternalism and patriotism" as their own purposes in forming Holy Rosary Council 4483 of the Knights of Columbus.

First official activity for the group was a mass and communion at Our Lady of the Wayside Church, Arlington Heights. More than 200 charter members, candidates for membership and guests attended, led by Stepehn Csanadi, the charter grand knight.

IN THE MONTHS following, many continuing and annual functions, both religious and social, were started for members and their families, including a blood bank, the first annual spring dance, the first family picnic and the first annual family corporate communion.

That first fall after their founding, the Holy Rosary Knights formed a bowling league with six teams participating. Each year members have bowled in various district, state and national tournaments.

Beginning Nov. 30, 1958, a memorial mass for deceased members and their families has been held each year in one of the local parishes on Thanksgiving Day.

ANOTHER activity established during the first year was formation of the Sword and Baldric Club, composed of fourth degree members. It was started Sept. 5, 1958, and has sponsored fund raising events each year to raise money for the building fund. A committee for the building fund was set up March 2, 1961.

One of the council's many charitable activities has been a scholarship to St. Viator High School for Boys. Named for the late pastor of St. James Church in Arlington Heights, Msgr. Stier, it derives some of its money from the annual spring dance.

The council also had a part in Arlington Heights' 125th anniversary celebration in 1961. An honor guard of fourth degree members and a float were entered in the parade.

SUCCESSORS to Csanadi as guard knight have been Robert M. Sutton, Edward J. Heller and Robert J. Ulbrich of Rolling Meadows, Anthony J. Brauch of Mount Prospect, Eugene E. Dougherty and Norbert Leja of Arlington Heights. Leja currently is serving as leader.

IT'S A PROUD moment for officers of Holy Rosary Council of the Knights of Columbus as they receive the key to their new meeting hall from the former owner of the building, Joe Schneller, Arlington Heights furniture dealer, center. Taking the key from Schneller is the council's grand knight, Norbert Leja. Al Klein, deputy grand knight, stands at left. Don Nicholson, warden and president of the building corporation, and Ed Cremerius, chancellor, right, also share in the big occasion. The hall is at 15 N. Hickory, Arlington Heights. Finally It's Spring; Village Bustles with Activity

The tulips are in bloom, the forsythia has burst forth with its colorful yellow blossoms, and the first buds on the trees are cautiously opening into tiny leaves. Everywhere the shrubs and bushes, the flowers and trees are springing to life after a winter of barrenness, and it already appears as though the lawn needs to be cut. Busy Arlington residents are hurrying to get their gardens and flower beds planted. Children are active in organizing the countless baseball games in backyards after school, and can hardly contain their delight at being free from the restraint imposed by galoshes and overcoats.

Most of us were reluctant to go outdoors unless it was absolutely necessary during the winter, but with the arrival of spring, the hustle of activity has begun with trips, guests and parties.

Lynette Burmeister, daughter of the Art Burmeisters, 1134 N. Dunton, will celebrate her seventh birthday May 7. April 21, during her spring vacation, Lynette had an early birthday celebration, treating nine girlfriends to a "Mary Poppins" matinee. Sunday morning, the Davis family with Joan, along with other members of the Pastor's Class and their families, brunched in the dining room of the Perkins Pancake House following the church service. Present in addition to the Davis family were the John Vail family, whose son, Gary, was a member of the class; Mrs. Lee Horan and her daughter, Debbie, also a class member; Becky McCubbin and her parents, the Ken McCubbins; and the William Rodely family, whose daughter, Billie, was also a member of the class.

Special Roof, Lights Planned For Tennis Club

A special illumination system, featuring high level fluorescent bulbs placed behind shields, will provide perfect visual conditions at the Barrington Tennis Club, to be built this summer at the northwest corner of Barrington Road and the Northwest Tollway (Route 94).

The lighting system was one of the features described by H. S. (Steve) Morgan, president and manager, and A. S. Alschuler, Jr., designer of the new sports structure.

The main building, measuring 120 x 200 feet, will have a 36 foot high ceiling, which will be painted a light color to provide maximum visibility. The roof will be insulated and decked with metal.

The four playing courts will be surfaced with a special composition made for indoor play and will require no maintenance other than occasional cleaning.

Perimeter baseboard heating will provide year-round comfort for players and spectators.

Other features include an ample lounge with fireplace, a complete Pro Shop, plus locker room and shower facilities.

Architect Alschuler, who is active in amateur tennis organizations in the Chicago and Midwest area, has designed a number of similar tennis clubs.

The Barrington Tennis Club was organized by William T. Ylvisaker, Ridge Road, Barrington. His first collaboraters in the project were Daniel J. Donahue, Oak Knoll Road, Barrington, and Morgan.

Membership in the club is open to all individuals and families in the northwest suburbs. Membership fees range from $24.00 per year for women and juniors to $120 per year for families.

In addition, members will be charged an hourly rate ($1.50 to $2.50) for court time. Further information may be obtained from Morgan, Box 543, Barrington. The telephone is DUnkirk 1-2570.

Four Wins For Falcon Frosh Nine

Forest View's frosh Falcons enjoyed a profitable week with four straight baseball victories.

The young Falcons routed Niles North, Glenbrook North, and Deerfield and registered a tight, 5-3 win over Maine West.

Bob Artemenko was the winner against Niles North Monday as the Falcons pushed their season mark to 7-3. Jim Divito slapped a triple and Tony Lanzarratta a home run.

The Falcons had two six-run innings in a 16-8 rout of Glenbrook North. Mike Otto crashed a home run and double.

Forest View turned nine hits into 12 runs in a 12-4 thumping of Deerfield. Rick Radtke had a double for the only extra base hit by the winners.

A three-run second carried the Falcons to a 5-3 win over Maine West. Artemenko toiled for Forest View and yielded only four hits in seven innings. Knights, Cats-1-18 ital ....

Prospect and Wheeling split on the frosh diamond last week.

The Knights' frosh 'A' squad pulled out a 9-8 victory, but the Wildcats triumphed in 'B' action, 9-7.

Gary Andrews was the winner for Prospect. Robin Melzer, who slammed a home run in the contest, was tagged with the loss.

Carl Kreutzfeil turned in another fine stint in pitching Wheeling to a 9-7 'B' victory. Jon Williams and Glover had triples with Thad Mikols and Steve Geiger contributing doubles.

Mike Handwerker was the losing pitcher.

Casting Winner

Gregg Voight, 1347 N. Dunton Ave., Arlington Heights, captured the first place award last weekend in the Registered American Amateur Casting Tournament at the Des Plaines Sports Show.

Voight was using a Shakespeare rod and reel in competition with over 50 contestants.

Falcon Sophs Post Two Wins

A split was the result as Forest View's sophomore Falcons engaged in four Mid Suburban baseball games within the past week.

The young Falcons got by Glenbrook North, 7-2, and Deerfield, 5-3, but fell to Niles North, 8-7, and Maine West, 5-1.

Ray Livi was the winner against Glenbrook North. Dan Smith contributed a triple in a four-run second.

Henry Juske and Livi worked on the hill for the Falcons in the win over Deerfield. Tom Govedarica had a two-base hit.

Some impressive extra-base hitting wasn't enough for Forest View in a one-run loss to Niles North. Livi was tagged with the setback.

Bill Ford, Frank Calvello, Livi, and Hank Tasche had extra base blows against Niles with Tasche rocking a home run.

Maine West scored four runs in the fifth and a single marker in the sixth for its 5-1 win. Marty Fontana was the loser. Dan Smith wielded the big Falcon bat with a triple and home run.

St. Viator Trackmen Win, Tie

A tie on the varsity level and victory by one-half point in frosh-soph ranks were the results last week as St. Viator's trackmen hooked up in a triangular with St. Joseph and Holy Cross.

The varsity Lions and Holy Cross each posted 53½ points for an unusual tie. St. Joseph was third with 41.

St. Viator collected 54½ points in the frosh-soph action, only one-half point ahead of St. Joseph. Holy Cross was third this time with 39½.

Steve McNamara was a triple winner for the varsity Lions, taking the 100 yard dash (:10.3), 220 yard dash (:23.4), and low hurdles (:22.0).

Paul Larson covered 880 yards in 2:04.6 for another first, and sophomore Tom Ley showed a respectable 4:51 mile. Gary Forston gave St. Viator its other first with a toss of 143-1½ in the discus.

The Lions came up with five firsts in the frosh-soph competition with Bob Cooper and Tom O'Malley double victors. Cooper won the 100 yard dash in :10.8 and 220 in :23.7. O'Malley skimmed over the high hurdles in :19.5 and lows in :23.7.

Lions' Frosh Cop Two From St. Ignatius

A double victory over St. Ignatius highlighted the week of frosh baseball activity for St. Viator High School.

Coach Bob Martineau's Lions posted 10-8 and 6-5 wins over the Wolves but dropped a 17-10 contest to St. Joseph in Chicagoland Prep League play.

Ken Balinski was the winner in the 10-8 game with Dick Loner slapping a home run and Joe Stanley a double and triple.

Balinski also picked up a victory over St. Ignatius the following day as the Lions scored three runs in the final inning. Rick Tully's two-run double in the seventh inning tied the game. He also had a double in the three-run sixth.

Jim Kenny was tagged with the loss against St. Joseph. St. Viator pounded out 10 hits, including home runs by Rod Ayers and Loner and doubles by Tully, Joe Stanley, and John Wendell.

Beware Gyp Schemes, BBB Tells Homeowners

Gyp repair schemes that blossom in the spring not only defraud the homeowner, but cast a shadow of doubt on reliable firms performing an honest service.

To assist the public in identifying those companies which are trustworthy, the Better Business Bureau of Metropolitan Chicago has listed some of the extra services which assist homeowners in their remodeling problems, and which can be expected from firms deserving your patronage.

For example, says A. B. Johnston, BBB vice president, they will prepare plans and specifications before the work is started and explain the exact cost of the job. If financing is desired, they will explain that cost also. They will obtain or assist the homeowners in obtaining the proper building permit.

SUCH FIRMS employ, or contract for, workmen who will complete the job in a workmanlike manner and the company will not only provide supervision during the course of construction but also a guarantee as to its quality upon completion, Johnston notes.

Reputable remodelers will provide a completion date in writing and exert every possible effort to meet that date. They will not ask a homeowner to sign a completion certificate until a job is completed in its entirety.

Unfortunately there are a few firms in the industry more interested in getting your signature on a contract than in performance, Johnston says.

Such firms may also employ devious selling techniques, all of which cannot be recited, but based on complaints to the Better Business Bureau, one or more of the following practices have been employed by salesmen of firms against which the greatest number of complaints have been received.

—Claim to be a factory representative who can make you a special price—then attempt to pressure you into signing a contract now, tonight, because he must get back to the factory, or because the price is going up tomorrow.

—Pose as an inspector from some government agency or use scare tactics by implying your building violates the fire department or other city codes.

—Quote a price without examining your premises or having full details of the extent of the remodeling required.

—Attempt to avoid selling the job at the advertised price or terms, or knock or discredit a competitor whom you might ask to bid on your job.

—Fail to state in the contract the exact nature of work to be done or omit oral promises which induced you to sign the contract. Tell you there is no carrying charge if payments extend over a period of time.

—Promise you a special or reduced price or commissions on jobs sold to other homeowners if you allow your completed job to be used as a model home. The so-called "special price" is the contractor's regular price and the promises of commissions are made to everyone and usually a myth.

The Better Business Bureau of Metropolitan Chicago cannot supply a list of recommended firms but will, upon request, advise inquirers whether there have been complaints against a company and, if so, the manner in which they have been handled. (A15

Traffic Safety Bills Before Legislature

Legislation incorporating all the traffic safety measures he pledged during his campaign last fall are now pending before the Illinois General Assembly, according to Secretary of State Paul Powell.

These include notifying drivers 30 days prior to the expiration date of their driver licenses, reflectorizing license plates, requiring parental consent for driver license applicants up to 21 years of age, requiring that 16 and 17-year-old driver license applicants have successfully passed an approved driver and education course, and safety inspection of used cars prior to sale.

ALSO IN the motor vehicle field, a measure submitted by Powell advancing the deadline for applications for reassignment of license numbers from Oct. 31 to Sept. 30 has been passed by both Houses and Senate and signed into law by Governor Otto Kerner. It becames effective with applications for 1966 licenses.

Museum to Show Film on Senses

These questions and many others relating to the human senses may be answered at the Hinsdale Health Museum. The capacity of human faculties are demonstrated in a 56-minute color film to be shown at 10:30 A.M. and 3:00 P.M. Saturdays and Sundays through May.

In the film, a scientist wears inverting glasses for several months. Since the eye actually records an upside down image, as does the camera, the experiment was designed to re-train the human brain. Viewers will see what happened as the scientist drives a motorcycle and flies an airplane while wearing glasses.

The film explains that man actually "sees" very little light, for TV and radio waves, cosmic rays, and ultra-violet all are light. In the total light spectrum, man sees something comparable to one-thousandth of an inch in the span from eatrh to the farthest star known to man. While showing the workings of human sense organs, the film compares them with wonders occurring in nature. The viewer gains the proper perspective to understand his body and respect nature.

After the film, museum visitors may see and hear Valeda, the talking glass lady. The Hinsdale Health Museum, established and maintained by the Kettering Family Foundation, is devoted to community health education at all age levels.

The museum is open 9 to 5, one to 5 Sundays, with the exception of legal holidays. Admission is free; group registrations may be made by calling FAculty 5-1900.

The judges plan to have a joint meeting to explain the new magistrates the jury trial system used in both districts that operates out of Evanston.

Judge Sullivan said "In these two districts we have a system where immediate jury trial is available and enforced for all jury trials, misdemeanor or traffic.

"We plan to let all our people know how it works so when someone sits in Des Plaines or Arlington Heights and a jury trial is demanded, he will know how to handle it to get into (B10

Women Voters Convention Adopts 5-Point Study Plan

Illinois League of Women Voters members will tackle in the next two years a five-pronged state study and action program.

The five program topics were approved at the last week's state convention in Springfield by delegates that included eight from the northwest suburban area's two leagues of women voters, the leagues in Palatine and Arlington Heights.

Representing the Palatine League at the state meeting were their president, Mrs. Andrew J. Koller; Mrs. Thomas Ahern and Mrs. Harold A. Brown.

Representing the Arlington Heights LWV were its new president, Mrs. Frank Moore of Arlington Heights; Mrs. R. J. Schlott and Mrs. George Sully, also of Arlington Heights, and Mrs. Bruce Bremberg and Mrs. Ralph Waterhouse, both of Mount Prospect.

Placed on the state agenda by delegate vote were studies of welfare services to children, constitutional revision, protection of the individual in his civil rights and liberties, improvement of election laws and continued support of the new Judicial Article.

IN THE WELFARE field, the 396 convention delegates voted to study services for family planning, programs and plans of the new Department of Family Services and facilities available to judges in dealing with juvenile cases. There will be special emphasis on the work of the Illinois Youth Commission.

The league renewed its stand that the best method of revising the state Constitution, written in 1870, is by constitutional convention. Delegates directed additional study of the Revenue Article as well as continued support for annual sessions of the legislature, the short ballot and protection of the judicial article.

Under a topic on protection of the individual in his civil rights and liberties, the league voted a study of equal housing opportunities in Illinois. They also voted continued support of fair empoylment practise legislation and opposition to textbook censorship.

Also reaffirmed were support of improved election laws and procedures and legislation to implement the judicial amendment.

THE DAY BEFORE the convention began league delegates spent a "Day at the Legislature," hearing the calling of a constitutional convention debated in both House and Senate executive committees. The House committee voted to recommend passage of a constitutional convention resolution but the Senate committee split, 10-10, on an identical resolution.

Arlington Heights' State Rep. Eugenia Chapman, a former local league president. was one of seven women representatives sponsoring a House resolution saluting the League of Women Voters.

"Metropolitan Problems and the American Future" was discussed by Dr. Richard C. Wade, University of Chicago historian, at a convention banquet April 29. Dr. Wade pointed out that in 20 years urban areas will double in population.

Two areas of human relations —the city-suburb split and the black-white conflict—"put in jeopardy the whole democratic experiment," Wade said.

"I would like to see mixed city-suburb representative districts," Wade said. "Mixed constituencies would reduce tension. If city and suburbs do not cooperate, there will be a tendency to solve problems in Washington, and this will harden and solidify the differences.

WADE SAID the lack of equal housing opportunity was denying to city Negroes the ladder by which ethnic minority groups had lifted thesmelves into the American mainstream.

"In the past," said Wade, "barriers to minority groups fell after one or two generations, but Negroes are denied access to this kind of ladder. Even when Negroes do everything society asks them to do, they are denied the normal symbols of American success. The pressures we now know will seem small in 5 to 10 years unless they are given this motivation." (B 10

Winner Over Paralysis Named 'Patient of Year'

Will power and months of painful therapy to overcome a condition have won for Mrs. Myrtle Ornberg, 570 Seegers Road, Des Plaines the "patient of the year" award at Holy Family Hospital.

The 45-year old widow and mother of three sons suffered a cardiac arrest for almost five minutes during major surgery to correct a spinal condition. Emergency treatment in the operating room saved her life.

Intravenous injections, cardiac stimulants, oxygen administered under pressure and closed chest massage were applied. Mrs. Ornberg narrowly survived the operation and crucial recovery room period.

TWO MONTHS and 16 days after her hospital admission, Mrs. Ornberg was released.

Recovery from the near fatal cardiac arrest and serious surgical procedure was followed by many painful physical therapy treatments. Her will power to endure almost constant pain during this period has been rewarded with almost complete recovery — although doctors earlier predicted she would waste away to a "vegetable" state.

Mrs. Ornberg won the "patient of the year" honor as a result of voting among the 500 members of the Holy Family medical and nursing staff.

A year and a half prior to her operation, she had herself been a member of the hospital's physical therapy staff.

She now has returned to her former job, volunteering her services in the Holy Family Hospital physical therapy department two days a week until she is strong enough to resume full employment. (B10

Pleads for End to Traffic Congestion

An appeal for solution of Des Plaines' traffic congestion problems was made to its city council Monday night by Bob Rosenquist, representing the industrial committee of the Des Plaines Chamber of Commerce.

Rosenquist, a past president of the Northwest Industrial Council and an official of Nuclear-Chicago Corp. of Des Plaines, noted that industry each year incurs thousands of dollars expenditures and lost production hours because of late arrival of employes. Traffic congestion, he said, was the major cause.

Further industrial and residential expansion will only compound the problems until the situation is solved, he added.

LISTED AS some of the most critical intersections by Rosenquist were the following: Mount Prospect Road and Northwest Highway, Mount Prospect and Golf Roads, Mount Prospect Road and Touhy and Mount Prospect and Higgins Roads.

The chamber spokesman submitted several proposals to help ease the traffic problems. (B10

Wildcat Sophs Win Two Games

Wheeling's sophomore Wildcats bumped Deerfield and Glenbrook North but fell to Maine West by one run in recent Mid-Suburban Conference baseball action.

The Wildcats rocked Deerfield 10-0 with Larry Jenkins the winner. Gary Lemke slammed out two doubles as the leader on offense.

Greg Fedyski was the winner in the 'Cats' 6-3 win over Glenbrook North. Jon Hittman had two doubles.

Maine West scored a single run in the seventh inning to shade Wheeling 3-2. Fedyski was the loser. Rex Peterson and Tom Traversone had doubles for the Wildcats. (Sp

Mrs. Koller Named To State LWV Post

Northwest suburban area delegates to the state League of Women Voters convention came back from Springfield Friday night with honors.

Mrs. Andrew J. Koller, president of the Palatine league, was elected secretary of the state league during balloting Thursday, after being nominated from the floor.

The Arlington Heights league on Wednesday received one of five surprise awards for membership growth.

And Mrs. John Mullen of Barrington, who has served five years on the state board as legislative chairman and revenue study chairman, was re-elected a state director.

THE MEMBERSHIP award, given for the largest percentage of new member growth by a league under 100 members — 70 per cent in their case, was accepted by Mrs. Frank Moore, Arlington Heights league president. Mrs. Moore grinned as she told the assembled delegates that the Arlington Heights league would not be eligible in that award category next year, for its membership was over 100 now.

The Arlington Heights league has grown from 63 members in January, 1964, to 110 this month. In January, 1965, when the statistics for the award were taken, the local League had 89 members.

Mrs. Koller, who has lived in the Palatine-Inverness area for more than 12 years, will relinquish the Palatine presidency at the LWV's annual meeting tonight (Thursday).

A founding member of the Palatine LWV, she has served on that league board since 1958 as vice president and treasurer and before becoming president 3½ years ago. She has been her league's representative on the Cook County LWV Council and has been Palatine LWV observer to their township board.

HER NAME WAS place in nomination on the convention floor by Mrs. Bruce Bremberg of Mount Prospect, one of the five Arlington Heights league delegates, after it was announced that the woman originally nominated for secretary would be moving out of the state in June.

Area league delegates also boosted Mrs. Koller's candidacy with buttons and campaign leaflets listing the Palatine president's many years of league experience. (B10

BIG PLANS FOR expansion of The Bank of Arlington Heights, offering drive-in customers two additional window facilities, were announced at a luncheon at Beverly Lanes Restaurant Saturday, with W. C. Wolf, bank president, doing the pointing. Among the interested persons attending the affair were the Rev. Samuel N. Keyes, rector of St. Simon's Episcopal church; Bob Calvin, vice president of John Plain & Co., and Bob Walters, manager of Baird & Warner office in Arlington Heights.

Bank Starts New Addition

Ground was broken Saturday for a $50,000 addition to The Bank of Arlington Heights, Arlington Market shopping center.

The addition will add two "badly needed" drive-in windows, more space for the installment loan section, working areas for employes, an employe lunchroom and storage space, according to W. C. Wolf, president.

The bank's plans were announced at a luncheon for about 50 persons, preceding groundbreaking ceremonies.

THE ADDITION is scheduled for completion in 90 days, Wolf said. It will be at the northwest end of the present structure and will utilize the same materials—red brick and white limestone.

It will add 2,100 square feet to the existing 5,100 square-foot building.

"We had reached our capacity in the number of poeple we were serving at our two drive-in windows," Wolf commented, "This added capacity at the windows should help us serve people inside the bank, too."

WOLF SAID the addition will not alter the building's facade but will considerably affect its side profile.

The bank occupied its present quarters after it was chartered in January 1960. It has grown to 12,600 accounts and has assets currently at $13.4 million.

It ranks 3,350th among the nation's 14,000 commercial banks in asset size, having jumped over 500 banks in the past year to join the exclusive group of 3,500 banks with assets of over $10 million. (A

'Urgent' High School Alterations Proposed

Four "urgent" revisions will be made at Arlington High School within the next six months.

The repairs probably will be approved by the school board at their next meeting and actual repairs made during the summer vacation.

The four corrections are part of the potential $207,750 list of improvements which will be required to bring Arlington High into compliance with the new state life safety code for schools.

The urgent repairs will cost $5,150.

THESE INCLUDE relocation of the operation pressure control on two of the school boilers at a cost of $100. The control is now separated from the boilers by valves which can take higher pressures than the boilers.

Another boiler-room improvement is the ventilation of a gas meter to the outside at a cost of $250.

A folding gate at the west driveway isolates an emergency door stairway from the middle first floor corridor. Relocation of the gate so that the stairway will drop outside of the locked court area will cost $300.

The most expensive improvement is the provision for exit doors direct to the outside from basement study halls 042 and 044. The rooms, located at the west side of the building, are relatively isolated in the event of fires or other emergencis. Now used as study halls, the rooms, located in the old section of the schools, once were used as the school library and before that as the school cafeteria.

WITH LEGISLATION pending in Springfield to revise the life safety code and perhaps void it for schools constructed in the past 10 years, the required engineering survey for Prospect High School has been halted.

A verbal agreement to the postponement of the survey has been received from the office of the Cook County Superintendent of Schools according to H. L. Slichenmyer, superintentendent of Arlington High School District 214.

The most expensive items to be added to all of the District 214 high schools — with only Arlington High School more than 10 years old — will be the addition of smoke or fire detectors in all storage, boiler and attic areas with a centralized alarm system.

Another major cost would be the enclosing of all inside stairways and the installation of fire doors. (A

The delivery of sand will continue next Saturday and, if necessary, the following Saturday will be devoted to filling orders.

THE JAYCEES will deliver as much as a truck load to any home or business establishment or as little as a wheelbarrow. The barrow cost is $1. Those interested in costs for larger deliveries should contact Ron Larson or Randy Thomas at CL 5-6100, Extension 201.

All orders may be placed with Mrs. Amelia DeMarco at the same number. Orders also may be placed directly with Jaycee sand deliverymen as the regular orders are being filled. (A

Illinois Route 53 Gets Face-Lifting

State Reveals Highway Plans

By LEE SECHLER
Staff Writter

Route 53 is a complex section of Illinois highway whose development is controlled by two different district highway department offices.

It is also complex because from North Avenue in the south to the Lake County on the north it exists in different stages.

These stages run from idea in the southern portion to under construction in the north in the Palatine area — with completed sections of the expressway in Rolling Meadows.

Route 53 — when developed in the future — will exist under several different route numbers and bear little, if any, resemblance to the existing highway known as Route 53.

FROM THE Northwest Tollway south the road becomes the child of District 2 — the Elgin office of the highway department. Another district office—District 10 — controls the development operations of Route 53 north of the tollway.

While it would not be entirely correct to say that Route 53 is paved with aspirin, it has caused some headaches in the past, is causing some now, and most likely will cause some more in the future.

Route 53 will be a limited access highway, explain officials at the Elgin office. This, transformed to everyday wording, means expressway.

OFFICIALS at the Elgin office were quick to point out that they could speak only for that portion of Route 53 south of the tollway.

Using a Chicago Tribune map, the officials explained that the routing of the highway would be the same as I-90 from the tollway south to the interchange and curve between Addison and Itasca where I-90 bends to the southeast to meet up with its completed portion in Elmhurst.

The routing of the new highway south from this curve and interchange to I-80 is being studied by the Elgin office.

"Spirited" hearings, to use the district engineer's terms, were held last December.

ROUTING plans were presented to the Elgin office officials by Addison and Lombard village officials.

James H. Dinkheller, who is in charge of the Elgin office, said the plans submitted by the two communities were getting the same study as the highway department's original suggested alignment of that section of the highway.

"We hope to have the studies completed by mid - 1965," Dinkheller explained. A report from the Elgin office will be sent to the central office and the final alignment will be determined by Francis S. Lorenz and apparently by Gov. Otto Kerner.

I-90, explained Dinkheller, must be completed by 1972. Therefore, that section of the expressway from the point between Addison and Itasca where I-90 turns north toward the tollway is in the design stage.

MONEY FOR purchase of right-of-way for that section of the expressway have been established in the highway department's 1965 budget.

Chicago Area Transportation study (CATS) indicated in a 1962 report that the best location for the I-90 system from the tollway to Congress Expressway would be along the current routing of Route 53.

It is entirely possible that Route 53 from about Lake Street to the tollway will exist in some form other than it is now by 1972.

The type of local traffic roads installed where I-90 wipes out existing Route 53 will depend on the amount of that traffic, Elgin engineers explain.

Route 53 exists as a multi-lane expressway through Rolling Meadows from the tollway north to the race track in Arlington Heights now.

TRAFFIC ON Northwest highway, Wilke Road and Chicago Avenue has been effected by the construction work now in progress at or near those locations.

A price tag of between $1.5 and $2 million has been placed on the bridge which will span both the Northwestern Railroad tracks and Northwest Highway.

Does a need for this road exist, is the question raised by village officials and residents along the pathway of the expressway from North Avenue to Lake County line.

Apparently it does, or will, exist in the near future.

"Pave we must" has become the by-word of the highway department. (A15

Hospital Appoints Nursing Director

A new director of nursing has been named by Northwest Community Hospital, Arlington Heights.

She is Miss Elizabeth Wesseling, R.N., now serving as assistant director of nursing at University of Illinois Research and Education Hospital, Chicago.

The announcement of the new appointment was made this week by Alan B. Campbell, administrator of Northwest Community.

ELIZABETH WESSELING, R.N.

Miss Wesseling will begin her duties on June 1.

The hospital has searched for a new nursing director for almost a year. The post has been vacant since the resignation last July of Mrs. Martha B. Loss, R.N., of Palatine. Mrs. Loss resigned for personal reasons after serving as nursing director since before the opening of the hospital in 1959.

MISS WESSELING immigrated to the United States in 1950 from The Netherlands where she was born and raised. She completed her initial nursing training at Ziekenhuis School of Nursing, Heerenveen, Holland.

Now a U.S. citizen, Miss Wesseling holds a B.S. degree nursing from Loyola University. She received a master of education degree with a major in counselling from Loyola in February, 1964.

An active member of the American Nurses Association, Miss Wesseling has written several articles on nursing. Her most recent article, "The Adolescent Facing Amputation," appeared in the January issue of The American Journal of Nursing. (B10

HINTS TO HOMEOWNERS

by Richard H. DeLano, Associate Farm Advisor

ALERT HOMEOWNERS DIAL DAILY 392-3060

Apparently certain plants became as eager for spring as the average gardener. In fact, you may have noticed that many trees and shrubs exhibit full bloom even before leaves appear.

Magnolias, redbud, forsythia and flowering crabs are but a few of these eager bloomers. So often a garden over planted with these shrubs goes into floral shock for a few weeks in spring and then has little interest in the shrub border for the rest of the season. It's true, of course, that summer color in the garden can be handled by annuals and perennials, but how much more interesting to have some of the unusual summer-flowering shrubs in the landscape.

Potentilla fruitcosa, also called bush cinquefoil, is one of the most attractive of the summer flowering shrubs. Because of its low height and bright yellow flowers, it's an excellent foreground plant. Its two to three-foot size also makes it useful as an informal summer hedge.

EVEN THOUGH the potentilla is a native of North America, it is unfortunately seldom used. In landscaping, however, it has strong points to recommend it. Consider its low manageable height, its resistance to drought and excessive moisture, and its lack of susceptibility to insects or disease. In addition, the potentilla is of unquestioned hardiness in the Chicago area and produces a generous number of yellow flowers from June to early September.

Another summer flowering shrub is the bottlebrush buckeye. It differs from potentilla by being taller, somewhat coarser and more adapted to heavy damp soils. It will also tolerate partial shade. Although it grows but three to ten feet high, it spreads to double that in width.

THE FLOWERS, which are an outstanding feature of this shrub, slightly resemble a lilac. However, the individual florets are much larger and filament-like stamens that project from each floret give the flower cluster a feathery appearance. The flower clusters are prominently held well above the leafy area, thus giving the shrub a dramatic prominence in the landscape.

When the shrub is in a satisfactory location, it spreads by sending out roots which send up new shoots that become new plants. Thus, a single plant may slowly spread to make an attractive clump. However, because of the rangy habit, its use is restricted to specimen plantings. It does not make a good hedge.

When selecting flowering shurbs for your yard, don't plant exclusively with the spring bloomers. Reserve space for the excellent, lesser known summer blooming shrubs, too. (15BB

Parents Target of Music Racketeers

By WILLIAM G. CLARK
Attorney General

There are cetrtain types of fraud operators who prey upon parents who are anxious to develop the talents of their children. These operators have a crafty understanding of the natural anxiety of every parent to see that their children have every opportunity to develop their talents, whatever they may be.

I have selected from the files of our Bureau of Consumer Fraud a typical case concerning music lessons.

The company involved in this case distributed free theatre passes to children attending a community school. The children were required to write in their names and addresses on the passes for the drawing of free prizes. After the theatre party, the parents of children who attended were notified that in each instance their child had won a prize of six free accordion lessons.

SHORTLY AFTER, a representative of the company called at the home, arranged for a "teacher" to come to the home to give the lessons, gave assurances that there would be no charge of any kind and offered to furnish, free of charge, the instrument for the child's use. After three lessons, the parents were informed by the teacher that the child showed exceptional talent. A music test was suggested. At the next lesson the teacher was accompanied by a representative of the company who would give the test.

This test was never given until the father, the person who would pay the bill eventually was present. Then, the same test exactly, was given always both to the child and to the mother. This test consisted of playing a record of varying tones arranged in simple form, after which the mother and child were requested to fill in the tone sounds in the blank spaces on a test paper.

Invariably, the child was give a grade of 91 and the mother a grade of 65, evidencing the child's superior music talents.

THE DELIGHTED and surprised parents were then informed that the child was so superior that he or she was automatically entitled to a four-year scholarship of weekly lessons, again without cost.

It was arranged that during this meeting another agent of the firm would call at the home on the pretext of having to consult the first salesman about another matter. The conversation would inevitably turn to the rare musical talent of the child.

The next step was to measure the child's hands for the right size instrument, and it always turned out that the salesman who had just called happened to have just the right size instrument in his car outside. Of course, if the four-year scholarship were accepted, an instrument would be required.

AT THIS POINT, the salesman would produce a purchase contract and urge the parents to sign up for an instrument. If the family asked for the scholarship certificate, the salesmen would promise to send it along, explaining that children passed the test so rarely that they did not carry the certificates with them.

If the parents hesitated, the sales pitch was stepped up accompanied by implied threats that the valuable scholarship would be lost unless it were submitted to members of the board of directors of the music company that very day.

A number of parents who took the bait and signed up for the instrument later found that they had agreed to pay $1,012.80 for an accordion they could have purchased for $289 at any reputable music store. The bait in this instance was the four years of free music lessons, backed by a scholarship certificate that was never furnished.

THE FOREGOING is an example of the something-for-nothing bait and high pressure salesmanship tactics used by fraud operators in selling musical instruments to parents. But these tactics are not used for selling music instruments alone. They are used to sign up dancing lessons, ballet instruction, singing lessons and many types of special courses in art or general education.

Here the signs of fraudulent operations consisted of something-for-nothing bait, rudimentary tests to ascertain talent, glowing promises of great ability and high pressure salesmanship. When parents are confronted with such performances, the wisest course is to make inquiry of the local music stores and the Better Business Bureau or Chamber of Commerce before signing any contract of any kind. Teachers, Too, Look for Greener Pastures

Turnover Range: 6 to 30 Per Cent

By BEN BURNS
Staff Writer

Marriage, motherhood and greener pastures cause a good portion of the teacher turnover in area elementary school districts.

Husband transfers and other jobs also sap the teaching forces of Northwest suburban elementary schools.

However, the greener pastures aren't necessarily financial, according to Arthur Bruning, personnel director of Elgin District U46, who said most Chicago area elementary districts have fairly competitive salary schedules.

"Sometimes the young girls just don't find adequate opportunity to meet young men and go where the grass is greener," said Bruning, who directs the hiring of teachers for the giant district, which includes Hanover, Streamwood, Bartlett and Elgin areas.

"There is little migration between the schools in the immediate Chicago circle," Bruning noted. "There is a significant shift from areas outside the Chicago area to the Chicago suburbs," he said.

TURNOVER RATES range from 30 per cent in Mount Prospect's District 57 to about six per cent in Wood Dale District 7. Most districts range between 10 and 20 per cent turnover, predominantly among the young unsettled teachers.

District 57 Supt. L. R. Murphy, who is leaving the system at the end of this year to head an elementary district in Long Grove, said last year's 30 per cent figure was heavier than is common for the 216 teacher district.

"We like to keep our staff, but sometimes they feel they can better themselves by moving," said Murphy, who preferred not to comment on Mount Prospect Education Association reports that the teacher exodus from the district would reach new heights this year because of unrest over lower salary schedules and poor teacher morale due to a lack of support from the school board.

CLARENCE McSWANE, District 7 superintendent, could give little reason for the stability of his district, which lost three of 45 teachers last year. "We are careful in hiring and most of our teachers live in the area," McSwane said.

Itasca District 10 has a turnover of 18 to 20 per cent, which falls in line with the average district in the suburban area. Supt. Arnold Rusche cited the usual reasons for loss of teachers. "The main reason would be woman teachers becoming married, transferring because of vocation of husband, maternity and occasionally full-time graduate work," Rusche said.

About 25 different reasons for leaving were cited by teachers in Arlington Heights District 25, where the turnover is about 15 per cent, according to Robert Campbell, assistant superintendent. "Marriage, maternity and returning to school led the list," Campbell said.

Wheeling District 21 Supt. Kenneth Gill said his area's turnover rate is also about 15 per cent. "We have 25 right now who are leaving," he said.

GILL WAS ABLE to provide a breakdown of the reasons cited by teachers leaving his district this year. They include other jobs, seven; husband transfers, five; marriage, four; pregnancy, four; quitting teaching, five.

In Elk Grove's District 59, Supt. Roger Bardwell listed similar reasons for teachers leaving. There will be 28 teachers out of 275 not returning, which indicates a turnover rate of 10 per cent, Bardwell said.

The reasons break down to pregnancy, six; husband moving, six; other jobs, five; leave of absence for study, four; marriage, three, quitting teaching, three; travel and rest, one.

Seven other District 59 teachers were not offered contracts. Two of these retired, Bardwell said. During the past school year Elk Grove registered six teacher losses, including six pregnancies and four for other reasons. (A15

SUMMER NEWS

Last weekend's sudden, happy switch to summer weather is a reminder that most local clubs are nearing the end of the 1964-65 season, and this column the end of its regular weekly appearance. During the summer we'll keep you posted, too, of course, but probably via a single column each month and tentatively planned for the first week of June, July and August. All publicity chairman are urged to get summer dance news in as early as possible so that once-a-month columns can be planned to carry the maximum amount of information.

SLOWPOKES

Mount Prospectors and friends dance tomorrow night in Euclid School, Mount Prospect, to the calls of Gene Tidwell who'll suqare 'em up at 8:30. Everyone's invited. In addition to fine dancing, you'll get a run-down on the club's Spring Round-Up that was held last Friday night. Slowpokes news - of - the -week went into the mail Friday before the dance in order to beat this reporter's deadline (so that I could beat MY deadline); consequently almost everybody but your reporter knows how the big event prospered! Based on Slowpokes' past performances and considering the wonderful weather, we'll guess that it was a whompin', stompin' success.

Palatine Squares' Saturday night dance is one of the places to get all the information about Illinois' first state square dance convention. A convention badge will identify the information-please guy or gal. Til Crittenden, phone 359-1735, is also an ever-ready source of convention communiques. Seems as though everybody in the world plans to attend our state's first super-wingding, coming up May 28, 29 and 30 in Chicago's Conrad Hilton. If you haven't made arrangements yet, better hurry.

The "singingest caller," Max Forsythe of Milwaukee, had 41 squares begging for more at the Palatiners' annual Spring Dance last week. He obliged with an extra 15 minutes' worth to make the evening a completely happy event. Club officials and dance committees extend big 'thank you's" to all 41 squares. (A15

Slate Meeting to Plan Baccalaureate

A meeting has been scheduled for Tuesday, May 18, to begin plans for the 1966 baccalaureate services at Wheeling, Prospect, Arlington and Forest View High Schools.

A committee composed of area clergymen and high school administrators will confer on the program which is to be sponsored by the area churches.

The June, 1965, graduation will be the last at which the baccalaureate will be sponsored by Arlington High School District 214 school board. The board had originally voted last October to drop baccalaureate for this year. The action was taken on legal advice that such religious services might be open to court action in light of the recent U.S. Supreme Court school-religion decisions.

When the area clergymen indicated they could not prepare baccalaureate programs for the schools in time for the 1965 graduation, the school board agreed to continue sponsorship for another year.

THE AREA clergymen met in March to begin plans for the baccalaureate. At that time a committee of eight was agreed upon, with members to be selected from "various church traditions." Two members were to be selected from Arlington Heights and Mount Prospect, with one member from each of the communities of Elk Grove, Prospect Heights, Wheeling-Buffalo Grove and Rolling Meadows.

The committee members have now been selected. They are Rev. Samuel N. Keyes of St. Simon's Episcopal Church and Rev. Roland Koch of the Congregational Church of Arlington Heights, both from Arlington Heights; Rev. John DiGangi of South Church-Community Baptist and Rev. Donald Fenski of St. Raymond's Catholic Church, both of Mount Prospect; Rev. Richard S. Ferris of Prince of Peace Methodist Church, Elk Grove Village; Rev. Albert W. Weidlich of Grace Lutheran Church, Prospect Heights; Rev. George M. Ekstrom of Community Presbyterian Church, Wheeling; and Rev. William H. Herman of the Community Church of Rolling Meadows.

The principals of the four District 214 high schools will act as consultants and cooperate in the baccalaureate planning.

The meeting, held April 28 at 8 p.m. in the multipurpose room of Wilson School, featured both vocal and instrumental selections.

The program included fifth grade singers from Wilson School under the direction of Miss Irwin, and primary singers from Patton School under the direction of Miss Papineau. WHERE YOU SAVE TODAY — TO ENJOY A BETTER TOMORROW

Mr. and Mrs. C. Wade Backey, South Busse Road, returned Friday from a vacation in Hawaii and California. They planed from Chicago to Honolulu, via Los Angeles, on Palm Sunday, where they visited with Major Betty Jane Lynch of the Army Nurse Corps stationed at Tripler Army Medical Center there. Major Lynch extended the hospitality of her apartment in the Queen Emma Towers on Nuuana Avenue near downtown Honolulu, which provided the Backeys with delightful central location from which to set off on their various sightseeing trips around Oahu.

One one of their excursions, they saw the building of the native village which will be used in the filming of the forthcoming motion picture, "Hawaii." A trip to the Big Island (Hawaii), including an overnight stay at the famous Volcano House on the rim of the Kilauea Crater, was a high spot of the vacation, as it is one of the few remaining sites in the world where one can still view active volcanoes. The Kona Coast of the Big Island, they say, is their favorite spot and is the place they would like to return to. . ."someday."

Thursday evening the Henry Hansens, West Golf Road, had dinner guests John Eisenbeis of Chicago, Karen Beuschel of Mount Prospect and Mrs. Erwin Schrater, Mrs. Hansen's niece who moved Saturday from West Algonquin Road to their new home in Warrenville. Saturday, after helping the Schroeters move, Mrs. Hansen prepared dinner for 10 at her home and loaded it in the car and took it to Warrenville for the Schroeters' first dinner party in their new home.

On Thursday, Mrs. Elise Himmelberg and Mrs. Julia Gorgius of Chicago were taken to the train by Loraine Gorgius, South Busse Road, and Agnes Avildsen of Chicago. They left for New York, where they went aboard the ship, Hanseatic on Friday for the first part of their trip to Germany, Denmark and Austria.

Sunday the Gorgiuses picked up a cousin, Mrs. Jack McNamara from Newport Beach, Calif., at O'Hare. Mrs. McNamara came from Raytown, Mo., where she attended the wedding on Saturday of her son, Jack.

MRS. MARY Kijak of Chicago is spending the week with her daughter and family the Edward Hughes, Noyes Avenue. Sunday dinner guests were Lillian's brother and family, the Fred Kijaks of Villa Park.

Anniversary greetings go to Mr. and Mrs. William Cameron Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Ed Wuchterl, Mr. and Mrs. Don Larson and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Giesler.

COLONIAL HEIGHTS

New officers of the Colonial Heights Homeowners Assn. are: Dennis Kay, South Busse Road, president; Copely Burkett, Myrtel Drive, vice president; Douglas Stockham, Myrtle Drive, treasurer, and sergeant-at-arms is William Balonas, Martha Lane. Recording and corresponding secretary positions are still open.

The Walter Fredericks family, Estates Drive, attended the christening of their nephew, Ronnie, son of Ron and Fran Fredericks of Orland Park. After the christening they were dinner guests in the Ron Frederick home.

Francine Carcerano, 1721 Kim Ave., was confirmed at St. Raymond Church in Mount Prospect on April 25. Her parents gave her a party attended by friends and relatives in the afternoon.

Sharon and Charlene, twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Kolder, 1710 Kim, were also confirmed at St. Raymond's. After the confirmation a party was held at the Kolder home.

LAKE BRIARWOOD

Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. Edward Holfeld, Briarwood Drive, East, attended the Club in Des Plaines.

April 25 the Richard Carnells, Briarwood Drive, East, had as houseguests from Cleveland, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Yarrow, who were in Chicago for a welding convention.

ELK RIDGE VILLA

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Groch, 1204 Fern Drive, took Richard, Jeffery, David and Mrs. Groch's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John LaBellarte of Chicago, to Los Angeles, where they stayed at Walker's Caravan in Los Angeles. The boys enjoyed a day at Disneyland and later they toured Los Angeles and Hollywood. They left Thursday and returned home on Sunday.

High School Schedules To Remain Unchanged

The four high schools of Arlington High School District 214 will continue with the 1964-65 starting schedules next year.

This means that classes will start at 7:50 a.m. at Forest View and Arlington High Schools and 8:40 a.m. at Wheeling and Prospect High Schools.

IN PREVIOUS years, the early and late starting times have been alternated between schools.

This year the large number of bus routes required at Forest View High School makes a shift of schedule impractical. A change in schedule would increase the transportation cost of the school district, Supt. H. L. Slichenmyer explained.

Regular classes will end at 2:40 p.m. at Forest View and Arlington High Schools. Buses for the after-school activity period will leave these two schools at 3:30 p.m., the same time that regular homebound buses will leave Prospect and Wheeling High Schools. The after-school activity period buses will leave Prospect and Wheeling at 4:20 p.m.

THIS SCHEDULE will require a maximum of 63 buses, an increase of nine in the number of buses used for 1964-65. The number of extra buses to be used for charter or shuttle runs and for stand-by purposes in case of bus breakdown will be determined at a later date.

The actual number of buses used for regular bus routes at the four schools are 52 at Forest View, 10 at Arlington, 17 at Prospect and 30 at Wheeling. There are four activity period buses used at Arlington and Prospect, 10 at Wheeling and 12 at Forest View. (ACM-E

Planning, Money Prescribed as Cure

by TOM EDWARDS
Staff Writer

(This is the first of two articles on the second annual national environmental health conference sponsored by the American Medical Association, entitled this year, "Population, Environment and Health.")

"Traditionally and historically, civilizations have risen and fallen through a series of eras . . . emergence, bountifulness, complacency, apathy and decadence."

Which period is the United States in? That was a question posed at the second Congress on Environmental Health Problems sponsored by the American Medical Association last week in Chicago.

It was posed by Norman Tucker, head of the metropolitan planning training at the Taft Sanitary Engineering Center in Cincinnati, Ohio.

He indicated that American civilization has been on the downgrade, and he emphasized the role of "urban planning" to restore and maintain a healthy and bountiful society.

Many would probably say this country's civilization is now in the "bountiful" period, Tucker said.

But some "may more realistically" say the American civilization is in the "complacent" or "apathetic" cycle, he continued.

"THEIR PROOF would be that . . . less than one-half of the communities of the United States with populations of 2,500 or more have sanitary solid waste disposal . . . that over 5,000,000 of our homes are classified as slums, and another 20,000,000 as substandard, and each year another million of these slide down into the slum category, that many of our governmental autonomies are existing on 19th century charters and laws governing our environment in these 20th century times. . .

"These and many more facts concerning our environment might cause many of us to re-evaluate the present cycle of our American civilization . . . unfortunately toward the era of decadence."

Tucker said the "only two aspirins that will prove effective" against this degenerative sickness "are spelled 'planning' and 'money.'" But the water to wash down these tonics is often "unfit for human consumption" because of pollution, and planning takes action rather than apathy.

Raymond L. White, director of environmental medicine for the AMA, voiced an equivalent opinion:

Man "may be choking himself on the environment he has created," he declared.

WE ARE NOT keeping up with the problems we are creating, White continued. "We go on taking up one problem at a time while the problems go on growing in concert. For example, air pollution control and municipal planning are often considered separately, when in fact the two should be closely allied."

Wilbur E. Flannery, president of the Pennsylvania Medical Society, took physicians to task in his address for a lack of participation in "civic improvement groups."

"I note that frequently lawyers, merchants, bankers, industrialists, and other people of the community are mentioned as active participants," Flannery said, "but seldom are doctors of medicine mentioned as such. Surely in many communities there are physicians who as citizens are interested in civic improvement and city planning.

"While physicians are usually fortunate enough to have their living and social experiences in the better part of the community with better schools, better churches, better clubs and recreational areas, it should not be forgotten that in one way or another all of us are affected economically, socially, and ethically by the blighted areas in our communities."

TWENTY "CASE histories of urban planning for environmental health" were presented by Tucker. Each of the communities "x-rayed" themselves by means of an "Environmental Health Planning Guide" prepared by the U.S. Public Health Service.

The guide covers water supply services, sewerage, refuse collection, air pollution, housing programs, health agency operations, sanitation, radiological health, and planning.

"We believe that sufficient evidence has been gathered and proven by these 20 histories to indicate that there is a universal Urban Syndrome (a variety of symptoms indicating disease)," Tucker said.

The analyses "revealed a striking resemblance" regardless of physical location in the United States, "of the symptoms of developing" deterioration.

EFFECTIVE preventive measures against decay are generally absent, although "wherever even the slightest preventive application was employed, excellent results were envisioned."

In almost every case the community waited until it became sick before it embarked on remedial measures, Tucker pointed out, and these measures were usually too limited by manpower and budget to be adequate.

"Our case histories proved conclusively that there was an awareness of the developing condition of decadence; there was an awareness of the need for greater environmental health activity . . . but past competition for the available monies had placed the priority of spending on more esthetic, more tasteful and better understood problems.

"Local politicians found it was easier to obtain votes for re-elections by budgeting for new schools, new hospitals, road-paving and other popular programs than for controversial, sanitary landfill sites, sewer extensions, air pollution control programs, housing condemnations, and similar environmental issues."

BUT THE STUDIES also revealed, Tucker said, that "slowly and surely the public is embarking upon a renascent attitude toward man and his environment. We are emerging into an Urban Renaissance in those areas where new values and new understanding about the environment is being experienced."

There is "one basic factor" underlying this renaissance where it is occurring, he stated, and that is "citizen participation."

Further, the extent to which this renaissance had progressed was "directly proportional to this citizen participation."

"Citizen energy in any community is the most potent singular power or force," he concluded. (A-15

WILD TRILLIUMS—In another week the wild trilliums in area woods will be in bloom, along with a bevy of other spring wood flowers. The trillium is the showiest of the spring wild flowers in this area—to its own disadvantage. For unthinking people are lured to pick bouquets of it, although the plucked plant will probably be hopelessly wilted before they get back to their car. Scenes such as above, one quite common here, are now rare. Yet this patch of trilliums still exists in a little frequented spot in a local forest preserve.

Diane Kopp, 8846 Forestview Ave., Skokie, has been selected as the 1965 Golden Jubilee Scholarship winner of PTA District 21.

Diane is completing her senior year at Evanston High School and plans to attend the University of Michigan, majoring in teacher education. She hopes eventually to teach first, second or third grade.

Bonnie Fox, also of Skokie and a senior at Evanston High School, was selected first alternate and Betty Jo Fiedler of Park Ridge, a student at Maine South High School, was named second alternate.

THERE WERE 45 applications received from seniors planning to enter the teaching profession, according to Mrs. Arnold LoMar, district director.

The 1965 scholarship selection committee included the following local educators and PTA leaders: E. S. Castor, superintendent, District 15, Palatine; Mrs. Mary Csanadi, principal, Kimball Hill School, Palatine; Philip Worland, principal, Fark School, Arlington Heights; Sol Minkoff, principal, Eugene Field School, Wheeling; Mrs. Marjorie Adee, principal, Fairview School, Hoffman Estates; Mrs. Dorothy Moller, principal. Twinbrook School, Hoffman Estates, and Roger Bardwell, superintendent, School District 59, Elk Grove Village. Others were Mrs. Marvin Morse, president, Schaumburg Area Council of PTAs; Mrs. Robert Oakley, president, Northwest Suburban Council of PTAs, and Mrs. Lewis Gregg, president Arlington Heights Council of PTAs.

MRS. THOMAS URAGAMI, leadership training coordinator for District 21 and Mrs. Will Iisbow, scholarship coordinator for District 21, also were on the committee.

The Golden Jubilee Scholarship program, established by the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers in 1950 to commemorate its 50th anniversary, is financed by voluntary contributions from PTAs, councils and interested citizens. One $250 scholarship is awarded annually in each of the 36 geographical districts of the Illinois Congress. If the winner meets the qualifications of the state PTA, the scholarship is renewable for an additional three years.

The recipient agrees in advance to teach in a public elementary or secondary school in Illinois one semester for each annual scholarship award. This is to be accomplished within five years after completion of his teacher education.

THE COMMITTEE also recommended the renewal of the scholarship for 1965-66 for Gayle Bauman of Des Plaines, the 1962 winner, who is attending Illinois State Normal University; Susan Williams of Arlington Heights, who is attending the University of Illinois at Champaign - Urbana as the 1963 recipient, and last year's winner, Susan Johnson of Evanston, who is at the University of Rochester, Rochester, N. Y.

An Ordinance

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE PRESIDENT AND BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THE VILLAGE OF ARLINGTON HEIGHTS:

SECTION ONE: Water consumed from the Village water system, which is metered, shall be paid for at the following rates:

For the first 50,000 gallons, $.55 per thousand gallons;

For all water over 50,000 gallons, $.50 per thousand gallons.

The above quantities shall be computed with reference to a quarterly period. This charge shall include all sewer service charges for users billed on a quarterly basis.

SECTION TWO: During construction work or in other instances where Village water is used, but unmetered as permitted by the provisions of this Code, the users thereof shall pay the sum of Thirty Dollars ($30) to the Village Collector prior to such use.

All quantities of water used for which rates and methods of measurement are not otherwise specifically provided shall be estimated by the Director of Public Works and an assessment made with respect thereto at the rate of $.70 per thousand gallons or fraction thereof with a minimum charge of not less than Four Dollars ($4.00) per quarter. Wherever practicable, a mteer shall be used as a basis for such estimate.

SECTION THREE: Unless otherwise specifically provided, there shall be a minimum charge to each customer of the Village water system in the amoung of Four Dollars ($4.00) per quarter or fraction thereof. This minimum charge shall be for water and sewer service.

Where the customer requests that water be temporarily shut off, but the meter is not removed, the customer shall pay the minimum charge hereinabove provided.

SECTION FOUR: When the Village shall be unable to read the water meter or the water meter fails to register properly, a charge of Ten Dollars ($10) per quarter for water and sewer service shall be made to each customer. Subsequent bills to the customer shall be adjusted when proper reading is possible and such payments in the amount of Ten Dollars ($10) per quarter as have been made shall be applied as a credit to the actual reading of the meters on subsequent bills.

If the Village shall be unable to read the meter for three consecutive quarters by virtue of being unable to enter the premises for such purposes, the Village may, at its option, install a Read-O-Matic device at the customer's expense.

SECTION FIVE: For all services rendered outside the corporate limits of the Village, the rates herein provided shall be increased in the amount of ten per cent (10%). Nothing herein provided shall, however, require the furnishing of water and sewer service to any persons outside the corporate limits of the Village of Arlington Heights.

SECTION SIX: The Village Board may contract for sewer service independently of water service. For all sewer service without water service, a charge of Two and 50/100 Dollars ($2.50) per quarter shall be made in the absence of a contract specifying a different rate.

SECTION SEVEN: That all consumers in that portion of the Village of Arlington Heights commonly known as Arlington Heights Gardens Subdivision, which territory was annexed to the Village of Arlington Heights on July 6, 1964, who use water supplied by a water system owned or rented by the Village of Arlington Heights, shall pay the following rates and charges where meters can be permanently set:

A minimum charge of $10.25 per month is hereby established for all users of water and sewer service.

In addition to the minimum charge hereinabove set forth, for all water, $.32 per 1,000 gallons.

No separate sewer charge.

In case any meter fails to register properly, the Collector shall make an estimate of the water used during the period of such failure based upon the average quantity registered by such meter during the preceding like periods. No allowance shall be made for leakage.

All charges shall be due and payable monthly. If such charges are not paid within ten days after the date when the same are due, there shall be added thereto as penalty and collected with the amount due, ten per cent (10%) of the amount so due. If the entire amount so due, including the said penalty, are not paid within twenty days after same are due, the Collector shall at once order the water shut off and the meter taken out of the premises

Notice

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN to the residents, legal voters and property owners of the ROSELLE FIRE PROTECTION DISTRICT NO. 1 and the HOFFMAN ESTATES FIRE PROTECTION DISTRICT NO. 1 and to all other persons interested that a Petition has been filed in the Circuit Court of Cook County, County Department, County Division, by certain persons representing themselves to be legal voters constituting more than one per cent (1%) of the legal voters residing within the following described area:

The West One-half (W½) of Fractional Section Four (4); and all of Fractional Section Five (5); and all of Fractional Section Six (6); all of Fractional Section Seven (7); all of Section Eight (8); the West One-half (W½) of Section Nine (9); the West One-half (W½) and the Southwest One-quarter (SW¼) of the Northeast One-quarter (NE¼) of Section Sixteen (16); all of Section Seventeen (17); all of Fractional Section Eighteen (18); the North One-half (N½) of Fractional Section Nineteen (19); the North One-half (N½) of Section Twenty (20); and the Northwest One-quarter (NW¼) of Section Twenty-one (21), all in Township 41 North, Range 10 East of the Third Principal Meridian, in Cook County, Illinois.

which Petition prays that the question of whether said territory shall be transferred from the ROSELLE FIRE PROTECTION DISTRICT NO. 1 to the HOFFMAN ESTATES FIRE PROTECTION DISTRICT NO. 1, and whether the voters of said territory shall assume a proportionate share of the bonded indebtedness, if any, of the HOFFMAN ESTATES FIRE PROTECTION DISTRICT NO. 1, be submitted to the voters of said territory in accordance with Section 16 of "AN ACT IN RELATION To Fire Protection Districts" approved July 8, 1927, as amended (Illinois Revised Statutes 1963, Chapter 127½, Section 37).

The Petition was filed April 28, 1965, and docketed as Case Number 65 Co 556.

The Petition in substance alleges that the petitioners are more than one per cent of the legal voters residing within said territory sought to be transferred, and that there are a total of two hundred fifty-four (254) legal voters residing in said territory; that said territory is presently included in the ROSELLE FIRE PROTECTION DISTRICT NO. 1, is located upon the borders of said District, is contiguous to HOFFMAN ESTATES FIRE PROTECTION DISTRICT NO. 1, and if disconnected from the ROSELLE FIRE PROTECTION DISTRICT NO. 1 would not cause the territory remaining in said District to be non-contiguous; that the territory proposed to be transferred would receive equal or greater benefits by reason of said transfer, and that the transfer would not cause a serious injury to ROSELLE FIRE PROTECTION DISTRICT NO. 1. Said Petition further alleges that there is no bonded indebtedness of the ROSELLE FIRE PROTECTION DISTRICT NO. 1, and that the HOFFMAN ESTATES FIRE PROTECTION DISTRICT NO. 1 is a Fire Protection District heretofore organized by proceedings in the County Court of Cook County.

Notice is further given that a Hearing on said Petition has been set for 2:00 P.M. on the 21st day of May, A.D. 1965, in the Court Room usually occupied by the Presiding Judge, County Department, County Division, of the Circuit Court, which is in the County Building, Washington and Clark Streets, Chicago, Illinois. Junior College Policies Discussed by Registrars

By HELENE BRISTOL
Staff Writer

Public and private junior colleges are following vastly different admission policies.

This was the consensus of college admission officers and registrars meeting in convention in Chicago last week.

Private junior colleges are following the trend of private four-year schools — becoming more restrictive scholastically with the increasing number of applicants for admission.

Public junior colleges, generally because of state laws, follow a policy of admitting all qualified students. The word "qualified" usually means students 20 years of age or less who hold high school graduation diplomas or who are able to pass a high-school completion examination.

Such qualification restrictions usually do not extend to night schools operated by the junior colleges.

Most junior colleges reserve the right to counsel students through testing and interviews, placing students with lower grades or general ability in non-college bound courses. At some schools, students are allowed to enter college transfer classes, but must make grades of C or better to remain in the course.

SOME SCHOOLS, such as the new Miami-Dade Junior College, Florida, offer special guidance courses which students must take if they do not demonstrate the ability for a four-year college program. In this course, students are "steered" into technical or vocational programs according to W. H. Charlton, registrar.

There was a firm feeling expressed at the "information exchange" that technical courses were not "low level" and were not to be confused with vocational programs. About one-fourth of the registrars attending the meeting reported their schools had special one-year vocational-occupational programs. These programs had some college electives, but were mostly of a practical nature. This kept the college transfer program at a high scholarship level, the admission officers declared.

There was a stress that college transfer programs — courses which duplicate the first two years of a four-year college — must be kept at a high scholastic level if colleges were to be expected to accept graduats as junior students.

Some schools take students who are not "strong enough for admission to the liberal arts program" when they enter junior college, placing them in a year of general academic studies. If they geta 2.5 (C plus) average, they are then allowed to go into the liberal arts program.

BECAUSE OF increasing enrollment, many of the junior colleges reported they followed only a partial "open door" policy. This permitted all high-school graduates from their area to enter the junior college, but restricted registration of students from outside the boundaries of the junior college district. Such restrictions usually were based on grade averages or placement in high-school graduating classes.

The admission officers generally agreed that guidance of students into the proper school programs and careers was one of the most important functions of a junior college. This was stressed by Charlton who called "good guidance" the most vital function of a junior college besides good instruction.

The admission officers reported that many schools had remedial programs for students. These usually were in areas of English or other major academic studies. Such courses did not carry college transfer credit but did earn credits toward graduation in the community junior college — usually because this was the only way the school could receive state support for the class.

All of the junior college officials from both private and public schools stressed the need to work with state four-year colleges and universities to coordinate programs. They revealed that in almost every state there wasa great deal of difference in the third-year entrance requirements among state schools, requiring courses to be tailored to the individual university.

JUNIOR COLLEGE admission officers from California, Florida, Texas and North Carolina reported that in these states there is an effort to create junior colleges throughout the state to act as the first two years of state universities. In Florida two new senior colleges are being built, starting course offerings at the junior level. This concept is designed to fit into the spreading junior-olledge growth in the state.

In Illinois, proposed legislation in the state legislature for the Illinois Master Plan of Higher Education would give impetus to the junior college movement as the way to solve the crisis of increasing college admissions. (A-15

In 'Best Mom' Contest

Kids Flock for Free Paddle Balls

"The kids want the free paddle balls, but don't care who pays for the dinner," stated Ed Landwehr of Landwehr TV, one of the 28 downtown Arlington Heights merchants helping promote the "Best Mom in Town" contest.

"Our committee has been analyzing results thus far, and finds scads of kids under 12 are coming in with the completed entries; they then ask for their free paddle balls. When we ask them where they are going to take their parents for that free dinner, in case their entry wins, all they do is look at us, and ask, 'What dinner?' "

"But we're happy to have focused the halo on the mothers in town, and will be having two of them as our guests for dinner," Landwehr continued.

GRAND PRIZES in the contest is for one winner to be declared in each of two age groups, 8 and under, and 9 through 11. Winner and his or her parents will then receive a free dinner at any of 12 local restaurants, at a time of the parents' choosing.

Sincerity of thought will determine the winners, not penmanship, according to retail merchant John Bowen. Kids can pick up entries at any of the stores displaying the blue and white posters, or listed in the ad in the paper. Entries are to be deposited in any of the stores before closing time Saturday, May 8, with winners to be selected next week.

Each child under 12 turning in an entry will receive a free paddle ball. (A

Thomas Ave. Improvement Is Studied

Possible improvement of Thomas Avenue was the topic of an "exploratory" meeting of Wheeling Township officials and members of the Arlington Heights Board of Local Improvements last Thursday.

Purpose of the session, according to Town Clerk Mrs. Dorothy Hauff, was for town officials to hear an explanation of problems and legal requirements of a special assessment program. Boli members have had considerable experience in special assessments, she said, while the township has not conducted such programs in the past.

Additional joint meetings are expected after each group has collected more information about the project, she said. Thomas Avenue runs in and out of the village in several places. In some spots, the road is maintained by the township on the north and the village on the south. (A

Webber Paint Marks 40th Anniversary

The oldest paint store in Arlington Heights will celebrate an anniversary Saturday.

On that date it will be 40 years since Nick Webber, founder of Webber Paint Co., started his paint business at 5 S. Dunton.

Webber operated the firm until his death, and then it was run by his widow and her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Orval Baldwin.

IN 1937 THE business moved from its original spot to the present location, 214 N. Dunton. About 10 years later it was bought by John Kehe, who operated the store until he sold it to the present owner, Edward (Bud) Mills, about seven years ago.

While the business has changed hands twice, the building still is owned by the founder's daughter-in-law Mrs. Daisy Jones, a resident of McHenry.

Mills has as his partner Art Hansen, who worked for the firm while it still was owned by Kehe.

AFTER TAKING control of Webber Paint, Mills studied interior decorating for two years. He noted how trends have changed since he's been in the paint business.

A decade or so ago dark colors were in vogue. Then the trend changed to medium shades and later to the off-whites currently favored. There is a recent trend toward using dark colors again, Mills said, but mostly as accents.

"Darker colors are harder to mix and harder to take care of," he commented.

ANOTHER development is the color mixing machines, which makes it possible to have a great variety of shades.

"These machines make possible a wider color selection and also more accuracy in the colors," Mills said.

Webber Paint carries paints and allied products from such long established companies as O'Brien, Glidden, National Chemical (Luminal brand), Jewel Paint and Varnish, Cabot's and National Lead (Dutch Boy brand).

THE STORE ALSO has a wide selection of wallpaper, including machine printed, hand printed and such fancy papers as flocked, murals and grasscloth.

During its anniversary the firm will feature special prices, giveaways and gifts for the children. There also will be free coffee and refreshments.

Mills is on the board of directors of the Paint and Wallpaper Association of Greater Chicago.

Best Patient, Employe Honored by Hospital

Recognition was given this week to the patient and the employee of the year at Northwest Community Hospital, Arlington Heights.

Selected as the "best" patient of 1964 was Mrs. Elsa A. Drexler, 224 E. Chicago Ave., Palatine.

Elected as the top employee was Mrs. Clara M. Swanson, 4277 Wilson, Rolling Meadows. Mrs. Swanson is a central service aide, acting as supervisor or assistant supervisor of the hospital area which prepares all sterilized instruments and patient supplies.

THE TWO WOMEN will be honored at a special recognition luncheon of the Chicago Hospital Council on Wednesday, May 12. They will be competing with other patients and employees from 88 Chicago area hospitals for selection as the Chicago Metropolitan area hospital employee and patient of the year.

They were honored at a recognition tea at Northwest Community on Monday, May 3. Attending were almost 100 employees of the hospital. The hospital cafeteria was decorated for the event with tables swathed in pink net with large pink roses used at decorations and candle holders.

Mrs. Drexler was cited for her faith in recovery, appreciation for any service or help, and her cooperation with the medical and hospital staff. This attitude came in spite of serious complications to azdominal surgery including the spontaneous opening of the incision, blood clots in the lung, kidney shutdown with uremic poisoning, congestive heart failure and esophageal bleeding.

THE HOSPITAL described Mrs. Drexler as a woman who "proved nothing is impossible" through "her indomitable will to win and her faith in God."

In the award citation, the hospital noted that she has returned frequently to visit and cheer other patients and has resumed activities in church work and community activities.

Mrs. Swanson was an original employee of Northwest Community Hospital when it opened in December, 1959. She was trained in the work of central supply and has remained in the position which is unknown to patients and forgotten by many of the hospital employees.

According to Robert W. Beals, hospital personnel director who headed the local contest committee, Mrs. Swanson "delights in the exacting work of central supply." He stressed that she realizes the supplies and instruments from the department will be used in treating or diagnosing some person who needs help.

SHE WAS CITED for her "concern" for better patient care achieved through "conscientious work" in central supply. Beals also noted that Mrs. Swanson realizes that economy achieved through careful control is an eventual saving to the patient and the hospital.

Among other factors listed in the selection of Mrs. Swanson was the fact that she has never taken a day off for illness and has frequently omitted "breaks" or mealtimes to complete her duties. The great amount of time given in overtime because of lack of help was also mentioned in the citation.

Beals expressed hope that the public would learn about hospital employees who "in no way may receive public acclaim or recognition but are still happy to do the humble tasks that make it possible to give superior care to patients."

"We are sure that this community would feel even more secure in their dependence upon the hospital if it could but know that there are those like Mrs. Swanson who take pride in giving their best, year in and year out," Beals concluded. (B10

20. CONTINUE to conduct village affairs openly, to provide residents with facts on all matters of civic concern and devote a portion of each board meeting to hear from citizens on any subject. In this highly important area of communications we propose the following:

(a) Periodic meetings with other boards and commissions and park and school board representatives.

(b) An annual report to the citizens of Arlington Heights.

(c) Planning participation with other communities of the area and the Northwest Municipal Conference.

(d) Encourage ACTION, Arlington Heights Progress, the Chamber of Commerce, the Community Council and all other civic, service and homeowners' groups to continue their valuable contributions to our community.

(e) Conduct periodic tours of the village for newcomers, homeowners' and civic groups.

(f) Cooperate with the Chamber of Commerce in the preparation of a Directory of Business and Service Establishments located in Arlington Heights.

TO OUR old friends and colleagues Bud Beacham, Bill Moore and Norval Stephens we bid a reluctant farewell. Gentlemen, you take with you the thanks of a grateful community for your significant contribution to the civic progress of Arlington Heights. REV. ROBERT H. HARPER

APPEARANCES DECEIVING

One of my acquaintances from boyhood was a tall and strong man who must have stood something over six feet. Reared on a farm in northern Louisiana, he was well-prepared to meet all the demands of riding a circuit, when he was admitted into the Louisiana Conference of the Methodist Church, before the days of improved and paved roads and automobiles and airplanes had not been heard of and certainly not heard roaring overhead.

One day in the lower reaches of Bayou Darbonne, near Farmerville, his plan for the day, riding horseback, was to cross the Darbonne swamp in the time of high water. Riding along the dirt road through the swamp, he soon came to an ominous stretch of dark water that loomed ahead as far as he could see. But he had no apprehension because wagon tracks he had been following led into the edge of the water. At one point he could have imagined that his horse was swimming. At last land appeared ahead and he rode upon it with relief. But he must have thought it strange that there were no wagon tracks.

As he rode on, two things engaged his attention — another stretch of water ahead and a man coming through the swamp in a flat boat. My friend hailed him and asked if he could take him on through the flooded swamp. The boatman looked quizzically at him and asked, "Where did you come from?" Our friend indicated the spot where the wagon tracks had ended at the water's edge. "You don't need me", the man said, "you have already come through water twenty feet deep." Then the horseman realized that he had not seen any tracks on the ground where he was.

Eastwood Events

The William Cormier home 707 N. Hickory, was bustling with activity this weekend, as April 30 was Cathy's ninth birthday and on May 1 Mary Grace made her First Communion at St. James Church. The family celebrated the two occasions Saturday afternoon. The other Cormier children, Mark, Peter, Julie, Billy and Susan, helped parents, Bill and Ruth, serve a ham luncheon after the Communion service. Grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Ted Cormier of North Belmont and aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Leeming of Hoffman Estates, were guests at the party.

Also making her First Communion was Nancy Thorton. Her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thorton came from Rockford to spend two days at their son's new home at 303 Beverly Lane. Following service Saturday, all the Thortons, including Nancy's brother, Lee, and sister, Jackie, dined at the Milk Pail.

Michael Bartolone, 408 N. Hickory, made his First Communion Saturday and Sunday his parents, Steve and Dolores gave a dinner for 35 people, including Michael's brothers and sisters, Steven, Billy, Susan and Julie, and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Waldmueller of Chicago.

THE TANS being sported by Bill and Doris Stueber and their children, Kurt and Karen, are souvenirs of their delightful vacation in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., where they stayed for 10 days. Bill and Kurt enjoyed drift fishing and Kurt proudly caught a barracuda and a dolphin. The family also visited Parrot Jungle. On Easter, they attended a sunrise service on the beach and then a hotel family party.

Although the Steubers are home at 414 Beverly Lane, they really haven't had time to catch their breath, as April 29 was Doris' birthday. She and a friend who also claims an April birthday celebrated by dining in the Pump Room at the Ambassador East Hotel in Chicago.

On Sunday, Doris and Karen attended the Mother-Daughter Tea at Our Saviour Lutheran Church. guest was Julie Audette of 710 E. St. James.

John and Sue Gleeson spent an enjoyable weekend in Springfield, helping John's mother, Mrs. Kathryn Gleeson, celebrate her 86th birthday. As the lilacs were in full bloom, a large bouquet of lilacs is now rendering a lovely fragrance to the Gleeson home, 412 N. Hickory.

Sunday was a special day for 13-year-old Betsy Drake, 411 Beverly Lane. She was confirmed by the Rev. Hughes Morris at the First Methodist Church. Following the service, five of Betsy's close friends met in her home for a party. Guests at supper were Mr. and Mrs. Edward Fritz, 301 N. Douglas.

The next day was Bill's turn to celebrate. He was 15, Bill, a freshman at Arlington High, has recently become a member of the school's baseball team, so he spent most of his birthday free time playing baseball with the team.

SATURDAY night the Philip Willmarth home, 815 E. Frederick, was the scene of a neighborhood goodbye party for next door neighbors, Ken and Vel Jarchow, who with their children, Jerry, Randy, Karen and John, moved to Jackson, Mich. Neighbors were the John St. Germaines, George Lallishs, Jerry Brodericks, Elmer Turners, Donald Moravecs, Charles Kirchners, Barton Loves, Charles Williamses, Arthur Davises and the Ronald Philippos.

With the moving of the Jarchow family, Eastwood now offers a welcome to Mr. and Mrs. Berent Faulds who now live at 811 E. Frederick. They moved from an apartment in Northfield Berent works for Carson's in the Loop.

Of special interest is the fact that Berent's sister, Jeaneen Kirchner and her family live across the street at 904 E. Frederick.

Last week Joseph and Vi Corcoron, 507 N. Hickory, attended the 13th annual dinner for the Friends of the Assumption Church at the Merchant's and Manufacturer's Club in the Merchandise Mart. Highlights were speeches by Len O'Connor and Floyd Kalber, Jan Scobey's Happy Sounds of Music and singing by Ray Evans.

Sheryl Meyer, 307 N. Hickory, won't soon forget her eighth birthday party, which she celebrated Saturday. After eating a clown decorated ice cream cake, Sheryl and h6er guests, sisters, Pam and Kristi, Patty Thut, Debbie and Deneen Houser, Susie Loewenstein, Susie Cassidy, Mary Jo Jochims and Terri Prellberg, drove with Sheri's mother, Pat, her grandmother, Mrs. Ralph Hoepfner, and aunt, Miss Sandy Hoepfner, to the Goodman Theatre in Chicago to see the presentation of "The Frog Princess and the Witch." At the theatre the girls ate popcorn and candy that Pat had thoughtfully brought in plastic bags.

ON SUNDAY, Sheri's birthday was celebrated with a family dinner. grandparents the Hoepfners and aunt Sandy drove up from Peoria to spend the weekend. Sheri's other grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Meyer of Arlington Heights were also present to celebrate what was really a double birthday party, as Becky will be 3 May 18. The sisters enjoyed blowing out the double set of candles on the cake.

Incidentally, Aunt Sandy, who now teaches second grade in Peoria, will be a second grade teacher in this area next fall.

Also 8 last week was Terri Prellberg, 738 N. Hickory. As a special treat, Terri's friend, Sheri Meyer stayed overnight at the Prellberg home. A birthday dinner with grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Prellberg of North Dunton, helped the birthday girl celebrate.

April 21 was Chuck Jochim's birthday. Chuckie lives at 415 N. Hickory. As Chuckie celebrated, his older sister, Mary Jo, had the measles.

Saturday afternoon found Donna Lessick, 415 Lincoln Lane celebrating her sixth birthday at a party for her sister, Dale Ann, Nancy Klussmann, Peggy Fruehling, Dorothy Rogers, Lisa and Sara Rasmussen and Bob and John Drake.

On Sunday, the Lessicks had a family celebration with grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Cunningham of Chicago, and aunts and uncles.

New neighbors at 501 Lincoln Lane are Aaron and Betty Rasmussen and their children, Sara, 9, Scott, 7, Lisa, 5, and Tina, 2. They moved here two weeks ago from Rockford.

Aaron works at Weyerhauser in Chicago. (A

KICKIN' IT AROUND

LAST WINTER ORGANIZED BASEBALL took a major step in attempting to control the outflow of millions of dollars in bonus money to untried talent.

Under the new regulations, professional teams will draft rights to negotiate with high school, college, and other amateur players, just as professional football and basketball leagues do. This is designed to end cutthroat competition in bonus payments.

Bonus payments had gotten out of hand as everyone knows. The bonus splurge wasn't all money down the drain although you could balance a list of erstwhile bonus babies who made the grade (Carl Yastrzemski, Jim Maloney, Ray Culp, with names of the busts (Paul Pettit, Von McDaniel, Danny Murphy).

The new arrangement adopted last winter does involve high school graduates and collegians who have completed their sophomore year. We're exploring this arrangement now because it may directly affect two Paddock area boys, Roger Lindstrom of the University of Missouri and Tom Lundgren of Forest View High School.

TOM LUNDGREN

Lindstrom, an Arlington High grad, is a sophomore at Missouri and a highly regarded prospect. He would be eligible for the new draft which says "hands off" to the major leagues until a boy has completed his soph year of college.

Lundgren is a fast-balling left-hander who will graduate in June from Forest View. The scouts have expressed keen interest in the Falcon flash, but Tom may be more interested in college first before he starts thinking of professional ball. Only time will tell.

Baseball may draft in four categories—major leagues, Triple A, Double A, and A. The draftee may elect not to sign with the club which drafts him. In fact, he has six months to make up his mind. If he doesn't sign then, and he may not negotiate with other clubs in this period, his name goes back in the pool for another drawing.

Each of the 20 big league clubs will have a list and you can be sure the No. 1 boys may still collect a sizeable sum, but the amounts will scale down. There is the opinion that bonuses will not skyrocket again and more boys will be persuaded to stay in college.

"The new draft is good from the viewpoint that as college coaches we're not likely to lose as many players before they finish college as we have in the past," says Lee Eilbracht of the University of Illinois.

"The purpose of the draft is to eliminate the big bonus payments. If it works out that way we should be able to persuade our college players that a college education is worth at least $25,000 and that if they take anything less to sign they're losing by it."

There can be problems though since the draft includes players coming out of high school. Boys may not realize that if they accept an expenses-paid trip to a major league city for a tryout they have lost their amateur status for all time in the eyes of the NCAA.

You have to admit that a high school boy's head could be turned easily being drafted by a major league club. Without thinking, he might jump at a chance to go from his home to New York, for example, for a tryout with the Yankees. If he accepts expenses to do so, he's had it as far as the colleges are concerned. Then if the Major League club doesn't sign him, his baseball career may be finished then and there.

Actually, the trule has always been there but without a draft of this type there wasn't so much danger of it being violated. That's why the parents of Rick Reichardt (the Wisconsin stickout who attracted an amazing bonus in the $200,000 vicinity from the Los Angeles Angels) paid all of his expenses last year when he visited various clubs. They wanted to be sure if he decided not to sign, that he'd retain his eligibility for his final year of bootball and basketball at Wisconsin.

Some youngsters in high school feel they can take the bonus money, get started in baseball, and still attend college during the off season. They admit it will take time, but they're confident they can get a degree.

It's more difficult than it sounds. Once a boy signs a contract he can be tired up most of the year with baseball and rarely get a chance to attend college. Seasons can run until September and then there are the winter instructional leagues. Spring training rolls around in March.

At least under this new setup a boy can have two years in toward a college degree before he signs.

The ideal situation would be a draft rule in major league baseball like that of pro football and basketball. One that would bar teams from signing boys before their classes graduated.

"That would be ideal, of course," Illinois' Eilbracht said, "but I don't see them adopting such a policy in the foreseeable future."

The appointments of Ken Carter and Bruce Samoore to the coaching staffs of District 214 schools were announced last week.

Carter, who has worked in the physical education department at Central school in Mount Prospect for five years, will serve as head cross country coach and assistant track coach at Wheeling. He will teach Industrial Arts.

Samoore has been at Grant High School since 1957. He will replace Russ Attis as varsity cross country and track coach at Arlington High School. Attis will become athletic director in the fall.

Samoore is an English teacher.

Linksmen at Mt. Prospect

Entries From 15 Schools To Vie on Par 70 Layout

by MICHAEL HESS

The final fairway stretches 230 yards across a creek, doglegs around willows on the right, and runs 111 more yards to a trap-protected green.

That's just the last 18 challenging holes on a Mount Prospect course which hosts the 1965 district golf meet starting tomorrow at 8:30 a.m.

Exactly 100 linksmen from 15 schools are scheduled to battle each other and the MP Country Club par of 70. The winning team and two lowest individual scorers will advance to state action at Champaign.

Favorites for the team title are few. Arlington, Barrington, Forest View, and Prospect squads are rated as front runners for first place honors.

CLOSE BEHIND those leaders will probably be Maine West, second in 1964 district play; Cary Grove, carrying some top individuals who brought the Trojans in fourth in '64; and perhaps Elgin-Larkin.

Other schools set to see action are Wheeling, St. Viator, Palatine, Dundee, Lake Park, Fenton, and Elgin.

Individuals who have medalist possibilities are many. Ralph Gierens of St. Edwards (Elgin), Steve Sweazey and Tim Baker of Cary Grove, Dave Moe of Elgin-Larkin, Bob Armour of Arlington, and Dave Huntley of Prospect seem to be tops.

Among the pre-meet picks, Arlington is paced by Armour who receives strong backing from Darryl Burkett, Jon Keys and Rick Price. Armour's best round this season is a 74 while Burkett and Keys have carded 78's.

AS A TEAM THE Cardinals show a 3-1 mark in duals and they took second place in an invitational at Quincy which featured some of Illinois' best golf entries. Rog Baer, Dave Carlson, and Jim Saflarski round out Coach Phil Stack's club which placed fifth one year ago.

Barrington had the third best score in last year's district. The Bronchos totaled 326 in '64 and many from that team have returned. Rather than individual standouts coach Bob Madding's outfit features the balanced scoring of Bob and Paul Deleware, Rick Watson, Jim Potter, and Mark Helikson.

In much the same situation is headman Al Kintzle's group from Forest View. The Falcons carry six low scorers but one doesn't appear much better than the rest. Their even shooting has carried FV to a 4-2-1 dual meet record.

Bringing in the low rounds for Forest View have been Ward Sear, Al Piehl, Doug Locke, and Jim Junkunc. Of that quintet Piehl holds the FV school record of 74 for a full 18 holes. Locke, who used 81 strokes in the '64 district, owns a 76 this year and Sear a 77.

COMPLETING the Falcons' field will be Bill Schindler, Bob O'Keefe, and either sophomore Tim Byrne or senior Bob Glass. "We could be among the leaders if we have a good day," commented Coach Kintzle.

According to Prospect links director Warren Collier it will take more than just a good day to place the defending district champion Knights near the top. Stated Collier, "Our play has been much too inconsistent for us to finish among the leaders."

The inconsistency Collier mentions has caused his defending titlists to drop two of five meets this season and finish a dismal eighth in the Champaign invitational. Last year Prospect wound up with a 305, 10 strokes better than anyone else to take the district crown.

This year the Knights have been dominated by Huntley, who was the medalist in '64 when he had a round of 72. A 77 is Huntley's low '65 round though he has had a 35 and 36 over nine holes.

Bill Becker, Jim Nettles, Dave Lovgren, and Doug Lytle comprise the remainder of Prospect's team. Lovgren and

Action Begins Monday

Baseball Tourney to Open With Districts

by KEN KNOX

Somewhere in a mass of 447 high school baseball teams locked in diamond combat next week, one team will have begun the journey toward the 1965 Illinois high school baseball championship.

The 447 schools will—on Monday—begin the elimination tournaments that will lead to the state baseball throne in early June. They will begin with 112 district tourneys, with one loss all it takes to knock out any team. Springfield Griffin is the defending titlist, having beaten Niles West in the final last year.

Paddock area nines will put their ambitions on the line in three district gatherings: at Palatine, at Forest View in Arlington, and at Highland Park. In each case, there will be an elimination game on Monday, one on Tuesday, and the district finals on Wednesday. All games are to start at 4:00 p.m.

Most of the local interest may center on the Palatine district, where the host Pirates will tangle with St. Viator's Lions and Prospect's Knights will meet Arlington's Cardinals.

PALATINE and St. Viator, in the opener on Monday, are teams with a lot of similarities. Palatine, as of Monday, had won three of 10 games and the Lions had won four. Both have lost a lot of close games, a symptom of weak hitting and good pitching. Palatine, at the plate, relies mostly on center fielder Terry Mulligan, hitting well in excess of .400. Third baseman Ken Johnson has shown a lot of punch in recent games.

On the mound Palatine has big, strong junior Barry Yurtis and senior Rick Haggard, a control specialist. Both can be very tough. St. Viator has four boys who have looked good: sophomores Jerry Donohue and Bob Stevens, junior John Loughman, and senior Tom Collins. Breaks may decide the game.

Arlington, paired with Prospect on Tuesday, may have the most class in the tourney. The Cardinals playing in the well-balanced West Suburban Conference, have been coming on strong lately, mixing improved hitting with unexpectedly good pitching. The Cards have won seven out of 10 this year, three in a row through Monday. Five of those wins were on shutouts, with left-handed John Friedl involved in four. He's supported by juniors Jim Bressler and Jim Jorgensen, and sophomore Steve Allen. Arlington's key hitters, who started out below par, are the Frase brothers, Mike and Mark; first baseman Jerry Fink; and third baseman Rich Hoppe, who had four hits against Hinsdale Monday.

PROSPECT, with three wins and five losses, has been depending almost entirely on pitching. The team has won three times on shutouts, but has lost by scores of 1-0, 1-0, and 3-1, and tied 0-0. Best for the Knights is Greg Kowal, who's had only one bad game. Behind him: Bill Weir and Mike Salata. The problem is the hitting, with only first baseman J. D. Thorne and third baseman Tom Lundstedt provding much offense. Look for a Friedl-Kowal duel, with the difference perhaps Arlington's awakening offense.

Linking up in the Monday game at Forest View will be the two DuPage County entries, Lake Park and Fenton. The Lancers, with a 4-1 record through last week, have been improving and could be a threat in the district. Some excellent, and somewhat surprising, pitching has been coming from two

Cinder Meet At Arlington

Preps Seeking Berths In State Track Finals

by BOB FRISK

They'll be passing out "tickets" to the state track and field meet Saturday at Arlington High School, but only a select group of schoolboy athletes will receive them.

It's district time in high school track and field in Illinois.

Twenty-five schools will send youngsters to the competition on Arlington's new rubber-asphalt track with the festivities getting under way at 11:30 a.m. with the preliminaries.

Those "tickets" to the state meet will be given to any entry finishing first or second in each of fourteen events. In addition, other competitors who do not place first or second but who meet certain pre-determined standards of time, height or distance will also be advanced to the state finals.

The Illinois track and field meet will be staged at Memorial Stadium in Champaign on Friday and Saturday, May 14-15.

AS IS THE case with any outdoor track meet, the weatherman can "make or break" the entire proceedings Saturday. Because of the lightning-fast Arlington track a large contingent could be advanced to the state finals if the weatherman cooperates.

The preliminaries at 11:30 a.m. will kick off the Arlington District. Semi-finals are set for 12:05 p.m. with the finals at 1:35 p.m. Admission will be $1.00 for adults and 50 cents for children.

Paddock area units in the Arlington District are the hosts, Forest View, St. Viator, Elgin Larkin, Elgin, Lake Park, Prospect, Conant, Palatine and Wheeling.

OTHERS ARE Barrington, Dundee, Cary Grove, Crystal Lake, Maine West, St. Edward, Grant, Grayslake, Ela-Vernon, McHenry, Mundelein, Round Lake, Wauconda, Marian of Woodstock, and Woodstock Community.

A noticeable absentee is Maine East, winner of the district competition on the Prospect track last spring. The Blue Demons and newcomer Maine South, featuring the great Larry Kelly, were sent to the Evanston (Twp.) District.

The absence of Maine South leaves the Arlington District without two of the individual champs in the 1964 Prospect headliner. Doug Macomber ruled the pole vault and Kelly, of course, won the 880 yard run. They're both at Maine South.

JOHN BRUNNER of Arlington won the district mile at Prospect as a junior with a record-setting 4:29.8 and will be in action Saturday but the favorite's tag will probably be given to Palatine's Gordon Dreyfus.

Dreyfus authored a 4:20.4 in the rain-swept Palatine Relays and has enjoyed a fine senior year after earlier bouts with injuries. Brunner's best is 4:20.8, achieved last year in the state meet where he placed sixth.

John Greco of Maine West is another standout in the distance events and will be a factor wherever he's placed Saturday, the 880 yard run or mile.

To Qualify . . .

100 Yard Dash	:10.2
220 Yard Dash	:22.7
440 Yard Dash	:51.5
880 Yard Run	2:00.0
Mile Run	4:35.0
High Hurdles	:15.4
Low Hurdles	:20.5
880 Yard Relay	1:33.0
Mile Relay	3:32.0
Shot Put	52-0
Discus Throw	150-0
Pole Vault	12-8
Broad Jump	21-9
High Jump	6-0

GEORGE KOCH of McHenry, second in the state 100 yard dash as a junior, tied for the century crown in the district at Prospect last year and ruled the low hurdles. But Koch has been bothered with a pulled muscle and is a definite question-mark for Saturday's District.

Koch will be the boy to watch in the 100 yard dash if he's healthy although Prospect's George Morris ripped off an :09.9 last Saturday in the Hinsdale Relays. Scott Clark of Mundelein was fifth in the 100 and third in the 220 at Prospect in '64 and could be a factor Saturday.

John Erotas of Elgin Larkin is another highly regarded sprinter with Erotas owning a :22.3 outdoors this year in the 220 yard dash.

PROSPECT'S George Morris and Palatine's soph Bill Bahnfleth have the best recorded 440 clockings heading into the district with identical :50.2s although Maine West has a good boy in Rich Bokor, second last year with a :51.7, who ran :50.8 last week for a school record.

Prospect's Jim Renner can't be overlooked in the quarter-mile field. Renner, who has been running anchor on the Knights' strong mile relay team, has a :50.7 this season.

The 880 is wide-open with Kelly gone as are both hurdle events although you have to like McHenry's Koch in the lows if he competes. Prospect's Ray Kick was sixth in the highs as a junior with a :15.8.

Boys to watch in the field events Saturday based on past performances this spring are Arlington's Chuck Lloyd and Barrington's Mark Timon in the high jump; Palatine's Harv Fanning, Prospect's Larry Fisher and Rick McMahon, and Arlington's Scott Somers in the pole vault; Mundelein's Chuck Burgoon and Palatine's Craig Erkfitz in the shot put; Arlington's Bob Hoban, Dundee's Terry Atkins, and Maine West's Tom Smith in the discus; and Ela-Vernon's Bob Baumgartner and Arlington's Somers in the broad jump.

The two relays should be crowd-pleasers. Maine West turned in a 1:31.5 in the half-mile event last week and looms as the favorite there. Maine West (3:23.8), Palatine (3:24.2), and Prospect (3:25.8) have crack mile relay quartets.

Wheeling Beats Conant on Links

Wheeling gained its first varsity golf win in the school's history Tuesday by topping Conant 177 to 191 in a nine hole match.

Leading the Wildcats was the 41 turned in by Al Eisenstein. Trailing him for the winners was Dave Quirsfeld with a 43, Jerry Fontecchio with a 45, and the 48 of Bob Boenig.

For the Cougars, Jeff Larson paved the way with a 44. With 47's Dennis Dorsey and Craig Browack were next low on the losers. Cal Miller rounded out the top four for Conant with a 51.

On the frosh-soph level Wheeling also picked up a win, 201 to 207.

Among the Wildcats the best score was a 47 carded by Bob Selan. That was trailed by Ken Holliday's 48 and the 53's of Tom Robinson and Dennis Klocke.

Taking low honors in the lower action was Conant's John Reedy. He finished with a 46. Three strokes back was Neil Mersmann at 50. Then came Jim Janicek with 54 and Rick Robottom with a 57.

Illinois Open At Skokie CC

Golf professionals and low-handicap amateurs will play the 16th annual Illinois Open Championship over Skokie Country Club in Glencoe Monday and Tuesday, May 10 and 11.

This will mark the first men's championship over the 6790 yard Skokie layout since 20-year-old Gene Sarazen came there from the Highland Country Club in Pittsburgh, and won his first U. S. Open beating Bob Jones and John L. Black by one stroke.

Entries are limited to professionals who are members of the Illinois Section, PGA, and amateurs who have Chicago District Golf Association handicaps of six or under.

Thinclad Falcons Defeated Twice

The thinclads of Forest View suffered through two defeats during the past week. Glenbrook North beat them 83-35 and Niles East beat them 63-55.

In the Glenbrook action the Falcons only gained three firsts in the 14 events. They went to Pat Dunnigan in the 220 yard dash (23.3), Bob Lieder in the 440 yard dash (54.4), and Jerry Potter in the 880 yard run (2:03.-9).

Dunnigan did better against Niles as did the entire FV team. Pat got three top honors and the team finished ahead in four other events.

Dunnigan took the 100 yard dash (10.4), the low hurdles (20.7), and the 220 yard dash (23.0) plus a second in the broad jump. Potter got another first with his mile win (4:40.8).

The other honors went to the FV mile relay team, Scott MacDonald in the broad jump (19 feet-1½ inches), and Trausch in the 440 (53.8).

For the frosh-soph Falcons the week held a loss and a win. Against Glenbrook only the mile relay team (3:53), Spencer Dreischarf in the discus (106 feet-5½ inches), and Greg Lundin in the pole vault (9 feet) took home wins as FV was defeated.

Against Niles the F-S Forest View entry gained a 70-48 victory. Fred Berg and Gary Crain led the younger Falcons to their win.

Berg took the high and low hurdles while Crain won the 100 and 220 yard dashes. Other firsts went to Jim Hofman in the high jump, Bob Savage in the 440 and the 880 and mile relay teams.

As a result of the week's action Forest View's varsity was left with a 3-3 record in dual action while the frosh-soph squad owned the same mark.

Holy Cross Falls to St. Viator

St. Viator's varsity tennis Lions wrapped up their sixth straight victory Tuesday afternoon with a tight 3-2 victory over Holy Cross.

The win gave Pete Dunderdale's crew a 5-1 mark in Chicagoland Prep League play with three key matches ahead.

St. Viator was scheduled to meet St. Joseph yesterday (Wednesday). They travel to St. Ignatius today (Thursday) in the league headliner and meet a host DeLaSalle team Saturday.

Dave Harris (8-6, 6-4) and John Schinka (6-8, 6-4, 6-2) playing in first and second singles, posted wins for the Lions Tuesday.

St. Viator picked up its other point from the second doubles team of Mike Massey and Paul Demmert. They whipped Tom Kaspers and Jim Dogestino of Holy Cross, 6-1, 6-1.

District Baseball

tall hurlers: sophomore Tim Rand and senior Rick Bellgardt. The big bat has been provided by big Greg Johnson, on all-conference catcher who checks in at 255 pounds.

Lake Park beat Fenton earlier this year, but the Bisons could be rugged if they get proper service out of Jim Siemers. The sparkling basketball and baseball operator has been hampered by a sore left arm, so his effect has been minimal this year. Fenton has a flock of veterans on its team, but has to have a front line pitcher to work with them.

THE HEADLINE contest of the Forest View district figures to be the Tuesday meeting between the Falcons and the class of the Mid-Suburban League, Maine West. Forest View has won five and lost three in the MSL, and Maine West has yet to lose. It was Maine West that raked Forest View's vaunted Tom Lundgren for 12 hits and nine runs, so the return match should be a good one.

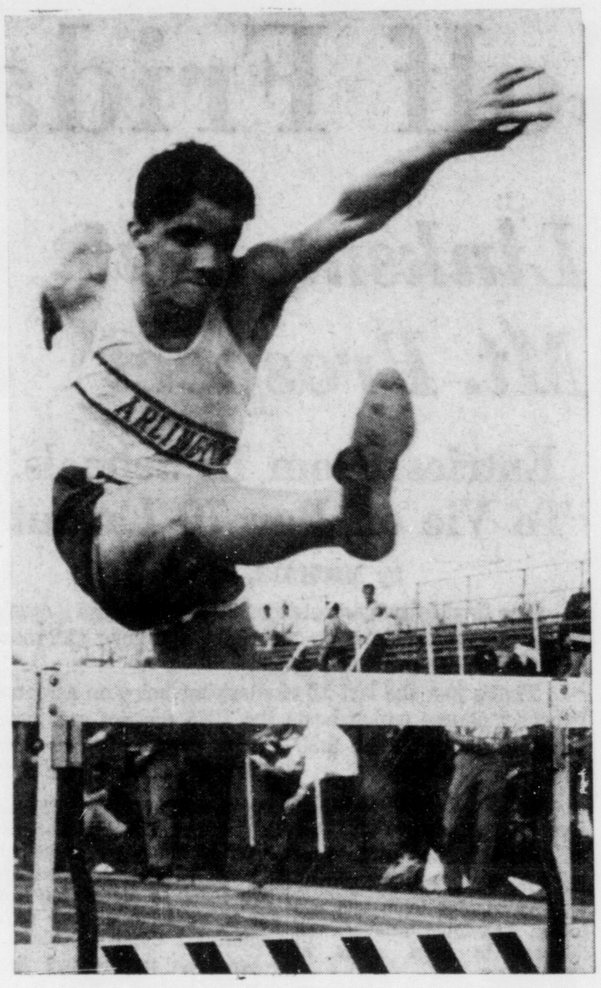
Lundgren is one of the best high school hurlers around, with three shutouts — including a no-hitter — to his credit, and an earned run average of about a run a game. The problem is that after Lundgren, the pitching is sporadic. Hitting is also a concern for the Falcons. The best has come from center fielder Mike Holstrum and catcher Rudy Perez, neither of whom has great power. A taste for revenge will be the biggest thing going for Forest View in this game.

At Highland Park Wheeling is to meet the host school on Monday. Highland Park, playing at a .500 clip in the tough Suburban League, figures to take it. Wheeling, in its first year of play, is 1-8 for the season. The Wildcats, which lost to Maine by only 3-2, have an excellent pitcher in Skip Grandt and two good ones in Jim Pavelle and Mark Newmann.

The best hitting has come from Newman, Ken Traversone and Tom Manderscheid. But the team, made up of all sophomores and juniors, has suffered from lack of experience in hitting and fielding.

The district winners, 112 of them, will advance to 23 regional tournaments on May 17. The Palatine and Highland Park district victors will go on to Arlington, and the Forest View winner will go to Maine West's regional.

After that, there will be seven sectional tournaments, with the winners — and the Chicago public champion —to meet for the top at Peoria.



JIM WELTON of Arlington High School skims over the hurdle as the leadoff man for the Cardinals in the low hurdle shuttle relay Saturday at the Hinsdale Relays. Welton and his Cardinal teammates failed to place in the event won by Champaign in record time.

In Triangular Track

Deerfield Defeats Both Prospect, FV

In any triangular meet there has to be a second and third and those roles went last Thursday to Prospect and Forest View.

Traveling to Deerfield for three way track action the Knights picked up 59 points, the Falcons gained 27, and both trailed the host's 62 point total.

For second place Prospect, three individuals and the mile relay team picked up firsts. Ray Kick captured the high hurdles in 15.5 and Gary York won the 880 yard run in 2:02.2. The winning mile relay time was 3:33.2.

George Morris gained the last first for the Knights. His 51.4 clocking in the 440 put him across the finish line in front. He also took second in the 100 yard dash in 10.3.

Top spots in the FV camp came in the broad jump and mile run. Jerry Potter won the mile in 4:39. Pat Dunnigan's leap put him first in the broad jump and he also took thirds in the 100, the 220, and the low hurdles.

On the frosh-soph level Forest View climbed past Prospect into second but Deerfield still won. The Warriors' lower level squad had 52 points, FV had 51, and the Knights 45.

Pacing the Falcons were Fred Berg and Gary Crain. Berg won the high hurdles and low hurdles while Crain took the 100 and 220 yard dashes. Another first went to the mile relay quintet.

For the younger Knights there were five firsts and one school record. Mike Balzano established the new mark with a discus throw of 122 feet, 4½ inches. Leroy Rateike in the broad jump, Steve Holmes in the 880, Bruce Boult in the pole vault, and Al Shers in the shot put all also won.

Knight Soph in 2nd No-Hitter

Dave Kingman turned in his second no-hit, no-run performance of the year to pace Prospect's sophomore diamond aggregation to two more wins during the past week.

The stellar showing by Kingman came against Glenbrook South. The Knights won that contest 4-0. Jim Robinson had three hits to pace the Prospect attack. Don Whitlock, Clyde Whitcomb, and Kingman had two apiece.

Linksmen Stay Unbeaten at FV

Remaining undefeated in Mid-Suburban League golf action, Forest View's varsity and frosh-soph linksmen both picked up their third straight victories on Tuesday.

The victim beaten by FV was Niles North and the varsity totals were 318 for the Falcons, 329 for the Vikings. Pacing the win was Bill Schindler's 78. That was trailed by the 79's of Doug Locke and Jim Junkunc and Al Piehl's 81.

That result made the over-all varsity record now 5-2-1.

For the younger Falcons the triumph came 367-375. Dale Voller led the way by carding an 86. At 92 was Frank Wasylwski while Doug Turner played the round in 95 strokes. Tim Byrne completed the win with a 96.

With the NN results coach Al Kintzle saw his over-all F-S record moved up to seven wins against just one loss.

Lions Win Two League Golf Meets

St. Viator's varsity golfers scored two victories in three Chicagoland Prep League outings last week, falling by three strokes to St. Joseph of Westchester.

The Lions got by St. Patrick by two strokes, 168-170, and walloped Holy Cross by fifteen, 166-181.

St. Viator swept the frosh-soph competition with victories over St. Pat's (188-195), Holy Cross (191-203), and St. Joseph (191-214).

Hawley toured Rob Roy in a nifty 39 in the victory over Holy Cross. Phee and Crotty bagged 42s and Ed Odmark had a 43.

Odmark's 40 was the pacesetter in the loss to St. Joseph, 163-166. Hawley had a 41 this time and Phee and Crotty followed with 42 and 43 respectively.

St. Viator Sophs Split Four Games

Six was the magic number in four St. Viator sophomore baseball games last week.

Coach Larry Nomellini's Lions won by 6-4 counts and suffered 6-1 and 6-2 set-backs in Chicagoland Prep League play.

St. Viator tripped St. Ignatius 6-1 and St. Joseph 6-4 for its two victories.

Tom Epperly slammed two home runs to lead the Lions past St. Ignatius. Ed Erbach was the winning pitcher, yielding eight hits over seven frames.

St. Viator scored five runs in the fifth inning with doubles by Bill Miller and Bill Wasilewski the long blows and nipped St. Joseph by two runs Saturday.

Miller picked up the mound decision.

St. Ignatius scored single runs in the second, third, and fourth and added a trio in the fifth for a 6-2 victory over St. Viator. Bob Lehnert rapped a triple for the losers and Wasilewski contributed a double.

Holy Cross scored a 6-1 victory with three runs in the fifth to break a 1-1 deadlock. Miller was the loser. Paul Rocca had a double for the Lions and scored their only run.

Cards Register Another 5-0 Win

Arlington's varsity tennis Cardinals, a 3-2 victim against Hinsdale last week, remained only one point behind the Red Devils in West Suburban action with a 5-0 victory over Downers Grove Tuesday afternoon.

Coach Tom Pitchford's outfit swept each match in straight sets as it posted its fourth 5-0 win in five conference outings this season.

Jeff Peek took care of the Trojans' Al Jankowski in first singles 6-0, 6-0 and Bob Von Boeckmann whipped Tom Mallin in the No. 2 position, 6-3, 6-0. Greg Inman recorded a 6-1, 6-3 win over Nick Covert.

In doubles Harley Gates and Jim Kunberger scored a 6-2, 6-2 win over Dave Groves and Jim Calhoun in No. 1 play. Brian Burke and Dave Milligan won 6-1, 6-0 in second doubles.

Arlington's frosh-sophs also triumphed, 5-0, losing only one game in the five matches.

Arlington will journey to Glenbard West today (Thursday) and battle Riverside-Brookfield next Tuesday afternoon on the R-B courts. The Cards go to New Trier Wednesday, May 12, in a rugged tuneup for the state meet.

Hinsdale Edges Cards in Tennis

Hinsdale has the advantage but the conference championship hasn't been decided yet.

Arlington's varsity tennis team dropped a 3-2 decision to Hinsdale last week in a key West Suburban Conference meeting but still hasn't yielded the league crown it won last spring.

The conference title is determined on a point basis with both the dual meet season and conference meet included. The Cards still have time to catch up.

Arlington's two victories on a varsity level against Hinsdale came in singles play.

Jeff Peek needed three sets but finally disposed of the Red Devils' highly regarded sophomore John Kayser 6-8, 6-3, 6-2 in first singles.

Bob Von Boeckmann won his No. 2 singles match from John Brooks 6-1, 6-8, 7-5.

Hinsdale's John Phillips toppled Arlington's Greg Inman in third singles 6-4, 1-6, 8-6.

Hinsdale took both doubles tests but needed three sets in the No. 1 action. Bob Hughes and Jack Tracy dumped Arlington's Harley Gates and Jim Kunberger in first doubles 6-0, 5-7, 6-4.

In second doubles the Red Devil entry of Lawton and Holzworth topped the Cards' Dave Milligan and Brian Burke 6-3, 6-4.

Hinsdale also posted a 3-2 frosh-soph victory with the Cards once again showing their only points in first and second singles.

Bill Von Boeckmann whipped Hinsdale's Jim Stoecker 7-5, 6-2 in first singles, and John Jarecki got by John Imrie 6-4, 6-1.

Cards Fall In League Golf Match

Powerful LaGrange proved to be a rude host Tuesday afternoon as it edged Arlington by two strokes in a varsity golf match.

The Lions scored a 317-319 decision in the action over the LaGrange Country Club layout.

LaGrange also won the frosh-soph meet, 176-231.

Darryl Burkett was low for an Arlington varsity team that suffered its first West Suburban setback. The Card senior had rounds of 38-38 for a 76.

Also figuring in the Arlington total were an 80 by Jon Keys, 81 by Roger Baer, and 82 by Bob Armour. Keys went out in 42 but came back in 38. Armour had a 39 first nine, and Baer backed a 44 with a nifty 37.

Freshman Al Curtis was low for the Cardinal frosh-sophs with a 47 over nine holes.

St. Raymond's Opens Season

John Flowers of Jake's Pizza and Harry Browne of Meeske's paced their teams to the top of the standings on the opening night of play in the St. Raymond's Holy Name Society golf league.

Low shooters for the night were Flowers with a 41, Burns and McAuliff with 42s, and Schneider and Juergensen with 43s.

Becker each have 80's to their credit while Nettles owns an 81.

FOR PALATINE, St. Viator, and Wheeling any hopes for a high finish seem rather dim but each squad will carry some first rate competitors.

Coach Jack Berry's Wildcats will be in their first district get-together. Pacing the Wheeling pack will be Al Eisenstein and Bob Boenig. Each has played 18 holes in 84 strokes this year and Eisenstein has a 40 for nine holes.

Other linksmen from Wheeling will be Dave Quirsfeld. Steve Poulis, and Dick and Jerry Fontecchio.

Pat Hawley, Pat Phee, and Ed Odmark have been the low men for St. Viator's team. Odmark has had the best nine hole mark, a 36. A 37 was posted by Phee recently while Hawley's best effort is a 39.

ALSO ENTERING tomorrow's play for Coach Father Patrick Durkin's Lions will be Bill and Chuck Crotty and Bill Holmes. St. Viator has split four dual meet decisions thus far this year.

At Palatine, golf director Tom Swarsen pins his hopes on Ted Wachs, Rich Ziehm, Phil Edworks and Bill Mellin. Edwards is a top returnee from a Pirate team which finished eighth in last season's district. Edwards had an 83 at that time.

Mellin might be a sleeper for Palatine. He's been shooting in the low 40's for nine, 80's for 18, and Swarsen thinks he has considerable potential. The rest of the Pirates squad tomorrow will be Jeff Carnal, Bill Hein, and Fred Postle.

Once action gets underway tomorrow only the four lowest scores from each school will determine the winner. The winner will be decided after noon at that 18th hole.

Joy-Di Captures Lead at Rob Roy

Joy-Di started the 1965 Rob Roy Tuesday season on the right foot by jumping off to a one-half point lead with a 6½-½ point victory over Gunnell's Restaurant. Wally Strack, shooting in the 1 slot, paced the victors with a 41-2-39, good for two points.

Webber Paint kept within striking distance, only one-half point back, by thumping Howard Metals 6 to 1. John Westerberg was the big gun in this match by clubbing through the front nine in real mid-season form with a 39-2-37.

The 1964 champion, C. P. Floor & Tile squad, gave strong indication that they will be in the thick of things again this year by tying for second place with their 6 to 1 win over Stone Perforating. The No. 1 and 2 men of the C. P. team, Clare Peterson and Ray Statz, shot 36-2-34 and 39-5-34 respectively. That 36 for Clare was the low gross score for the evening and the net 34 enabled Ray to tie his teammate for league low net.

Hap Procunier, playing No. 3 for Borchardt's Restaurant, started the season in fine style by bagging a 42-7-35.

An innovation this year is the prize of a new golf ball for closest to the flag on the short No. 4 hole. Bob Peterson, No. 2 man for Rankin Radio & TV, walked off with a new ball the first sight.

The birdies for the night were shot by: M. Spinello No. 6; C. Kelly No. 8; D. Frantell No. 7; J. Westerberg No. 8; C. Peterson No. 3, No. 8; W. Erven No. 1, No. 5; H. Procunier No. 18.

Wildcats' Nine Ties

Only darkness kept Wheeling's baseball entry from a victory over Mundelein on Tuesday evening. As it was the game ended in a 4-4 tie.

Skip Grandt began on the mound for the Wildcats and yielded one unearned run in the second. Rich Haddock made his first mound appearance of the year in the third and ran into trouble.

Haddock began by giving two free passes and then two hits and three more Mundelein runs crossed the plate. Mark Newman relieved Haddock and got the first man he faced to hit into a double play ending the inning.

Wheeling came back in the fourth with three runs. Haddock's single drove in two of the markers and the tally was 4-3 when the fifth began. In that frame Jim Whittington drove in the tying run.

After the tie came the Wildcats had runners on second and third and no one out. At that point the ump decided it was too dark to play, called the game, and ruled it a 4-4 tie.

Frosh Nine Gets Win at Prospect

Maine racked up three tallies in the first two innings on walks, stolen bases, and just a single hit. Ken Nehmzow pitched well for the Knights, striking out eight, but one run was all Prospect could get.

TOO LATE CAME THE THROW and Prospect's Tom Clow slides safely with the first run in the Knights' 8-0 victory over Wheeling last week. Clow had doubled, moved to third on a sacrifice, and is crossing the plate on teammate J. D. Thorne's fly to center. Waiting for the relay is Wildcats' catcher Bob Krug but the toss in was just too late. (Staff Photo)

Hosts Head 4th Relays

Mundelein High School proved to be a most ungracious host in the fourth annual Mustang Relays held Saturday.

With three firsts, two of them for records, the Mustang trackmen collected 76 points and the championship of the relays. Glenbrook South was second with 54 points, and last year's titlist — Wauconda — was seventh with 28.

Of the Paddock area schools, only Forest View scored significantly. The Falcons, with a rec ord four mile relay as their only first, finished fifth among 18 schools with 32 points. Wheeling had six points and Conant—which fielded only a small team for the meet—was blanked.

All the competition was on a relay basis, with even the field events rated cumulatively. Of four new records that showed up, three were in the field events.

Mundelein won the shot put with a three-man total of 155-5 and the pole vault with a total effort of 38 feet. Marian Central's threesome ruled the high jump with a record achievement of 17-6.

The Forest View quartet of Jerry Potter, Brian MacIntosh, Craig Brown and Ted Lambert ran four miles in 19:17.5, more than 31 seconds under the meet record and almost two minutes under the Forest View record. The same four runners placed second in the two mile relay with a time of 8:48.0.

Potter teamed up with Steve Leider, Tom Trasch and Pat Dunnigan for third in the mile relay at 3:34.4. With Gary Crain running first, Leider, Trasch and Dunnigan ran the fourth best half-mile at the relays. And the high hurdle shuttle relay team of Jeff Grismer, Scott McDonald, Danny Hopper and Fred Berg added another fourth place for Forest View.

Prospect Sophs Edge Wheeling

Prospect scored two runs in the second inning and added a single marker in the sixth for a 3-1 frosh-soph baseball victory over Wheeling last week.

Cardinal Nine Gains First Place Tie in West Suburban Play

They were calling them the "first place Cardinals" around Arlington High School Tuesday.

Arlington's varsity baseball team roared into a tie for the top rung in the crazy, mixed-up West Suburban Conference baseball race Monday afternoon with an impressive 7-0 victory over Hinsdale.

Coach Bob Baker's outfit, handcuffed by Hinsdale's Brian Guptill just four days earlier, rocked the Red Devil right-hander for 10 hits over seven innings, four by third baseman Rich Hoppe, who shook a hitting slump.

With the victory the Cardinals moved into a first place tie with York with a 6-3 record. Downers Grove and York were tied for third with 5-4 standards prior to league action yesterday (Wednesday).

ARLINGTON was scheduled to journey to Glenbard West yesterday. Baker's crew will host York Friday afternoon at 4:15 p.m. at Recreation Park and hook up in the district tourney next week.

That victory over Hinsdale Monday was sweet revenge after a 3-0 loss to the Red Devils last Thursday afternoon.

Hinsdale's Guptill baffled the Cardinals with only one hit, a clean single by soph Dave Lockwood, in that 3-0 affair, but he was no mystery Monday.

HOPPE LED the way with four safeties, including a first inning home run, and sophomore Steve Allen turned in another fine stint on the mound. Allen worked six innings on a yield of only seven scattered hits and Dick Miller finished up.

Hoppe's line drive homer to left field with Mike Frase on base rocketed Arlington into a 2-0 first inning lead Monday, and the locals added four more in an explosive fourth.

Singles by Hoppe, Mark Frase, Howie Winkelhake, and Allen figured in the uprising with errors, a balk, and passed ball also helping out. Arlington added one more marker in the seventh on a double by Mike Frase and Hoppe's soft hit to right field.

HOPPE, WHO hiked his season average in league play to .250 with those four safeties, didn't get a ball out of the infield against Guptill the first time and committed three errors in the field. He bounced back impressively.

Arlington took a pair from Riverside - Brookfield Saturday with Jim Jorgensen and John Friedl picking up the hill decisions.

Jorgensen, like Allen Monday, was in his first start, and he responded with a four-hitter as the Cardinals won, 2-1. He fanned seven and walked four.

FRIEDL, THE senior left-hander, needed some relief help from Allen in the final inning but still chalked up a 1-0 win at R-B. For the season Friedl shows an 0.96 earned run average for 29 innings. Allen has an 0.41 mark for 17.

Arlington almost was the victim of a perfect game Saturday in the opener at Riverside, but the Cards escaped that and gained a 2-1 victory.

Trailing 1-0 in the seventh without a single base runner, Arlington finally came to life. Gary Bozee pinched hit and rapped a hard grounder to short that took a bad hop, going for the Cards' first safety. Tom Gack ran for Bozee and was sacrificed to second by Jerry Fink.

In the second game Arlington scored the only run in the fourth innings on a single by Mike Frase, two stolen bases, and single by Mark Frase.

Friedl encountered some trouble in the sixth when an error opened the door for the Bulldogs, but a pitch out and perfect throw by Frase caught the runner at first. Two more singles followed but the hosts couldn't score.

RIVERSIDE had the tying run on in the seventh but Allen got out of the jam. Winkelhake knocked down a hard liner for a force at second in a key maneuver.

In other games last week Arlington belted Maine East, 9-2, with Friedl getting the win. The Cards made their move in the third inning with a single run and added eight more in the next three frames.

Hoppe singled in the first run and Gack stole home with the second. Jorgensen's pop fly single to right field brought in two markers in the fifth, and four hits, including a double by Mike Frase, led to five runs in the sixth.

RICH HOPPE

On Thursday afternoon Hinsdale's Guptill was in command as the Devils posted a 3-0 victory. Lockwood had Arlington's only hit, a clean single, and the Cards had scoring chances but couldn't capitalize.

An error brought in two Hinsdale runs in the first and they added one more in the third.

Peek Heads Singles Play

Arlington Rolls to District Net Crown

A clean sweep — for the second straight year.

That was the story of Arlington High School's impressive victory Saturday in the district tennis competition.

The varsity Cardinals, a perennial power in prep net circles and defending state champion, qualified two singles players and two doubles teams — the best you could do — en route to the district crown.

Last year Arlington also swept the top two qualifying spots in both singles and doubles at the district action.

JEFF PEEK, A senior, and Billy Von Boeckmann, a freshman, played some sharp tennis in advancing to the singles finale. Peek whipped his teammate 6-4, 6-3 for the district crown.

As expected, the Arlington doubles team of Bob Inman and Bob VonBoeckmann waltzed to a district title. The state runners-up in 1964 toppled teammates Jim Kunberger and Harley Gates 8-6, 6-0 in the concluding action.

Peek, top-seeded in singles, advanced with wins over Kent Wiback of Lake Park (6-1, 6-0), Richards of Maine West (6-2, 6-3), and Franz Peterson of Palatine (6-1, 6-1).

VON BOECKMANN, the talented frosh who was the fifth seed in singles, opened with a 6-0, 6-0 win over Paul Colianni of Prospect. He then disposed of second seeded Johnny Widzisz of Lake Park 6-2, 6-4 and fourth seeded Doyle of Maine West 6-2, 6-3.

In doubles play Inman and Von Boeckmann opened with a 6-1, 6-2 conquest of Martin and Belzer of Maine West. They backed that with a 6-1, 6-0 win over John Borgmeier and John Kjos of Palatine and 6-1, 6-1 semi-final triumph over Scudder Smith and Cy Herrmann of Lake Park.

Gates and Kunberger took care of Palatine's George Smith and Andy Burtis in their first match 6-2, 6-3 and Lake Park's Bob Arimura and Bob Reimer 6-0, 6-1 in the second round. They reached the title bout against Inman and Von Boeckmann with a 6-1, 6-0 win over Maine West's French and Stewart.

THE ADVANCEMENTS to the semi-finals of Lake Park's Smith and Herrmann in doubles and Palatine's Franz Peterson in singles gave Paddock area schools their best showings outside of Arlington's domination.

Smith and Herrman got by St. Viator's Bill Gordon and John Allare in an opening doubles match 6-4, 6-1 and then whipped Forest View's Jim Buckholz and Tom Kukla 6-2, 6-1 in reaching the semi's.

Peterson, unbeaten in singles play heading into the district, stretched his string with wins over Bryan Kiehl of Prospect (6-0, 6-1) and Monson of Barrington (6-2, 6-4) before falling to Peek.

PALATINE'S LEN Skoglund won a first round singles match from Michols of Maine East 6-2, 6-4 but lost to Maine West's Doyle 6-4, 6-2.

Lake Park's Widzisz didn't have any trouble in his opening tussle, knocking down St. Viator's Dave Harris 6-1, 6-0, but he had more trouble with Arlington's Von Boeckmann and was ousted in straight sets.

Prospect's Colianni had won his first match against Forest View's Rog Schult 6-1, 6-4 but was stopped 6-0, 6-0 by Von Boeckmann.

In doubles play Lake Park's Arimura and Reimer showed two wins before they were eliminated. They toppled Wheeling's Karl Meisenheimer and Bruce Irwin 6-0, 6-1 and St. Viator's Bob Moore and Norm Zeller 6-0, 6-2 but lost to Arlington's Gates and Kunberger.

Forest View's Buckholz and Kukla also showed a first round win, stopping Prospect's Chuck Hengels and Doug Heitzmann 10-8, 6-3. Hengels and Heitzmann had whipped Barrington's Kuhlman and Corrigan 2-6, 6-2, 7-5.

Arlington's Peek and Von Boeckmann and the two doubles teams will compete in the state finals in Champaign on Friday and Saturday, May 14-15.

Poor Course Hurts

Forest View Gains Golf Victory, Tie

Forest View's links squad had two opponents during the past week: other teams and a poor course. One they beat and one they tied.

Playing at Mount Prospect Country Club the golfing Falcons bested Deerfield 153 to 168. At the St. Andrews course however unkept greens and fairways brought a 185-185 tie with West Chicago.

Against Deerfield the FV team was paced by Doug Locke's 37. Not far behind was Al Piehl with a 38 and the 39's of Ward Sear and Jim Junkunc. That result gave Forest View a 1-1 conference record.

When the WC match approach FV coach Al Kintzle looked for something different than he found. "We expected St. Andrews to be a good golf course," stated the links director, "but we found it to be in worse shape than any we've played on in the last three years."

Continued Kintzle, "The greens were nearly bare, the fairways were rough and lumpy, and our play there was not typical of what we're capable of."

Sear topped the Falcons' entry with a 44 on the miserable course. Piehl carded a 45, Bill Schindler at 47, and Bob O'Keefe a 49 to bring about the tie. The overall varsity record is now 4-2-1.

On the frosh-soph level Forest View beat Deerfield 182 to 187 and West Chicago 197 to 209.

Leading the winners against Deerfield was Dale Voller with a 44. He was followed by Frank Wasilywski at 45, Brian Wolff at 46, and the 47's of Tim Byrne and Doug Turner.

Voller and Wasilywski tied for the lead at St. Andrews as each holed out with 48's. Byrne followed with a 50 and Turner a 51. The triumphs left the younger Falcons with an overall mark of six and one.

Lions Score 57-52 Win In Track

St. Viator's trackmen battled St. Joseph on three levels Monday and emerged with one win.

Coach Tom Hansen's varsity Lions pulled out a 57-52 victory. The sophs fell 57-52 and the frosh dropped a 70-39 decision.

Steve McNamara won the 100 and 220 yard dashes on a varsity level. He turned in clockings of :10.3 and :23.3.

Paul Larson added a first in the 880 yard run with a 2:10.8 and the Forston brothers ruled the weight events. Senior Gary won the discus at 132-3 and sophomore Dennis headed the shot put at 42-½.

St. Viator also won the mile relay in 3:48.7 with a team of John MacDonald, Helmer, Spears, and Larson.

Bob Cooper won both dashes for the Lion sophs in their five-point loss. Other St. Viator winners were Jim Corrigan in the 440 yard dash, Tom McAvoy in the shot put, Mike Ostermann in the discus, Mike Orlen in the high jump, and the mile relay team.

Fred Booth (880 yard run) and Dan Klingberg (discus) were the only frosh winners for St. Viator.

Travels Bring Two Losses, Three Wins For Falcons' Nine

Travels with Forest View is a down and up story which ends happily but is very long.

During the past week the Falcons diamond aggregation packed up and pounded the roads to five different foreign fields. Their journey began poorly with two losses: 8-1 at Deerfield and 9-8 at Maine West.

Then the trail improved and FV managed to draw the tale to a good conclusion with triumphs at Glenbrook North, 3-0; at Foreman, 9-7; and at Niles North, 3-1. There's much more to be told than just scores however.

In the Deerfield defeat Steve Jacobsen opened on the Forest View mound but lasted only until the second inning. In that frame the Warriors jumped on tall Steve for eight runs on seven hits, two errors and a walk. Bill King relieved and tossed a four hitter the rest of the way.

ON OFFENSE the Falcons gained only four hits but two were in the sixth and resulted in the lone FV tally. Mike Holstrom gained first on an error with one out. He stole second and went to third on Mike Lebben's bunt single.

The run came in when Jack MacRae also bunted safely. That was the Forest View score and it established the final 8-1 totals. Then there was the short jaunt to Maine West's field, where Tom Lundgren hurled for the Falcons.

Lundgren gave up an unearned tally in the first on a bobbled grounder, two stolen bases, and a single. That was the only scoring until the fifth when FV took a brief 3-1 advantage. Rudy Perez started the rally by walking and Gary Maxwell also walked putting runners on first and second. Doug Clemens drove both men home with a double and crossed the plate himself on Lundgren's single behind first.

MAINE CAME right back in its half of the inning. Two singles and Carlson's homer to deep center evened the score. After Forest View was held in the sixth MW burst way out in front.

A walk, two singles and an error scored one run for the Warriors. Then Neese's triple cleared the sacks. The final Maine marker followed when Neese ran home on a double. The score then was 9-3 but FV hadn't quit.

In the top of the seventh Jim Rennhack led-off with a single. He counted after Clemen's single. Clemen's counted on Lundgren's double and Lundgren counted as the next two batters, Bill Brown and MacRae reached base on errors. Rick Henderson brought them home with another double.

THE NEXT three FV batters made outs to halt the scoring burst and Forest View was stopped one run short and went under 9-8. The story got brighter on the next day, last Friday, after a ride to Glenbrook North.

On the GN grounds Henderson took to the hill and threw a masterful one-hitter. The only bingle off him came after there was one out in the sixth. That blow was a single to center but it did no damage.

Meanwhile, Henderson's teammates gave him enough support to gain a victory.

CLEMENS AND Henderson each singled to start the sixth. When Holstrom also singled Clemens scored and Henderson took third. He crossed the plate on Rennhack's squeeze bunt.

In the seventh Maxwell walked and, though the following three batters went down on strikes, he moved around on a passed ball, a steal of third, and another passed ball. The Falcons had their three runs and Henderson his win.

For the victory Henderson fanned four and walked three. It was his second triumph of the season.

ON SATURDAY, when horses were running for the roses, Forest View was running down to Foreman High School in Chicago. When the FV nine ran home again they had a 9-7 decision in the non-conference action.

Some lusty swinging of bats gave hurler Bill King the support he needed and he went all the way for the Falcons. King yielded seven runs on seven hits to the Foreman foes. He walked four and whiffed three in his initial personal victory of the year.

Backing up King with some slugging was nearly the entire Forest View line-up. Leading the way were MacRae, with two hits, two RBI's, one run scored, one walk and one stolen base, and Holstrom, with two hits, two walks, and two runs scored.

ONCE MORE taking a trip to meet league competition, the Falcons went on Monday to Niles North. There Lundgren again assumed the mound chores and turned in his typically brilliant performance.

The hard throwing FV lefty allowed only one run and three hits. He sent 12 down on strikes and walked just one. Niles' marker, which came in the fourth, was unearned and Lundgren's ERA slipped back under 1.00 per game.

Forest View's runs crossed during fourth and sixth inning outbursts.

BOB ERLANDER opened the fourth with a single. He stole second as Holstrom walked. Then Rudy Perez smacked a grounder to short which was muffed and Erlander went home. Mac Rae sent the second runner, Holstrom, to the plate with a single in back of first.

In the sixth Holstrom's single, Rennhack's walk, and an error brought in the third FV run, the last of the game, and the last of the past week's travels.

Their journeys have left the Falcons with an over-all record of 8-4-2 and a Mid-Suburban League mark of 5-3-2. They currently rest in third place among M-SL entries.

Forest View and coach Hal Sprehe must travel once more, tomorrow, when a contest is scheduled at Glenbrook South. Next week however, FV will be hosting district action so the home field will be used once again.

THE BEST EVER! That was the 14-8 pole vault by Morton West's Ed Halik Saturday in the Hinsdale Relays. Halik's effort, captured in this exclusive photo by Paddock Sports Editor Bob Frisk, was the top mark ever recorded in the history of schoolboy track in Illinois. Halik stopped at 14-8 after clearing the bar on his first attempt.

Locals Land Three Firsts

Halik's 14-8 Vault Highlight in Relays

Oak Park won the team title with ease and the record book received a good working over, but the biggest headline of the afternoon Saturday at the 15th running of the Hinsdale Relays belonged to Ed Halik of Morton West.

Halik, who literally vaulted into national prominence as a junior with a national indoor mark of 14-2, cleared 14-8 at Hinsdale for the top mark in history by an Illinois schoolboy.

Halik stopped at his record-setting 14-8 and didn't attempt any other height.

Halik's achievement highlighted a meet filled with spectacular cinder performances by the preps who finally got a break from the weatherman. Seven meet records were set.

Paddock area entries Palatine, Prospect, and Arlington showed well and combined for 58 points. The Pirates, as expected, led the way with 27 and a sixth place slot in the team rankings. Prospect scored 17 for ninth and Arlington 14 for tenth.

PALATINE contributed two firsts, both by relay teams, and Arlington one.

The Pirates won the mile medley relay in 3:34.9, two seconds shy of the meet record, with a team of Bill Bahnfleth, Jim Lowery, John Blanchard, and Gordon Dreyfus.

Palatine also headed the frosh-soph 880-yard relay with a record-setting 1:33.6. Wayne Render, John Ekeberg, Brian McCartney, and Bahnfleth teamed up for this swift clocking which wiped out the previous record by over one second.

Arlington's only first was a surprise. Senior Charley Lloyd, whose best previous effort in the high jump had been 5-10, cleared 6-2 Saturday to take home the first place award.

The Paddock entries showed three seconds in the competition among 16 schools.

ARLINGTON'S John Brunner trailed Proviso West's Bruce Bowman in the mile run with Bowman clocked in a record-breaking 4:18. Bowman shot into an early lead and never trailed in his effortless victory. Brunner was a distant second at 4:28.2.

Palatine's Dreyfus, who has a 4:20.4 outdoors this year, was used only in the relays Saturday and didn't enter the mile run.

Arlington picked up one other second with discus man Bob Hoban. Hoban, who qualified for the state finals last spring, moved into state-wide prominence with a fine 161-8 toss at Hinsdale, his career best.

PROSPECT'S HIGHLY touted mile relay team hit its season best of 3:25.8 in nailing down runnerup honors in Saturday's final event. Proviso West took the mile relay with a 3:25.2 with the Knights nipping Glenbard West for second.

Palatine's mile quartet, favored at Hinsdale after a 3:24.2 in the rain at the Palatine Relays, encountered some problems at the baton exchanges — problems that would have been avoided with better placement of individuals by the officials — and didn't place.

Also scoring for Joe Johnson's Palatine outfit were the two-mile relay team with a third and Craig Erkfitz with a fifth in the shot put (51-3 3/8). Harv Fanning cleared 13 feet but went out at 13-6 in the rugged pole vault alignment.

ARLINGTON scored its other point with Scott Somers' fifth in the broad jump. Somers set a school record of 12-6 in the pole vault but didn't place.

Prospect landed two spots in the 100 yard dash thanks to George Morris and Jim Renner. Morris churned to a nifty :09.9 for a fourth and Renner was fifth. The Knights were third in the mile medley relay.

Maine, Deerfield, Glenbrook Triumph Over Wildcat Nine

A jinks, bad breaks, inexperience, poor play — call it what you will, Wheeling has it!

The Wildcats' diamond crew is playing generally sound baseball this season, but critical-moment breakdowns continually hurt their efforts. The result? Defeat!

In recent action Coach Steve Chernicky's nine has dropped four straight and fallen to last place in Mid-Suburban League standings with a 1-8 mark. Lapses, both physical and mental, have brought those losses.

During the past week Wheeling has gone down 3-2. to Maine West; 8-0, at Prospect; 7-4, at Deerfield; and 7-1, before Glenbrook north. Typical of the misfortune hampering the Wildcats was their struggle with MW.

MAINE IS the undefeated league leader but Wheeling's Skip Grandt seemed unimpressed. He and the Warriors' Stoney Jackson hooked in a hurling duel which saw Grandt's teammates draw first blood.

With two away in the opening frame the Wildcats' Mark Newman walked on four straight wide ones. Ken Traversone followed by smacking a bounder to third which was muffed putting two runners on base.

Then Jim Whittington drove an RBI single to center putting the Wildcats up 1-0. That margin lasted until the Maine third when an error, a balk, and a single evened the count at one apiece.

OVER THE NEXT two innings Bob Krug and Tom Manderscheid got hits for Wheeling and Grandt yielded one single to the Warriors but no runs tallied. The tie was broken in the sixth.

Wildcats' centerfielder Rich Haddock reached first on an error to start the inning. He went to third when Jackson picked up a bunt from Krug and threw it into center field. Krug held at first credited with a hit.

When Grandt helped his own cause by lining safely to right, Haddock crossed the plate to give Wheeling another lead. There were two on, no outs, and a timely hit would have broken the game open. That was not to be.

MIKE MAYER, Jim Pavelle, and Manderscheid all failed, Krug and Grandt were left stranded, and the game went on. There wasn't another runner until Maine's final chance came in the bottom of the seventh.

With one away Jackson reached base by running over first sacker Whittington, knocking the ball from his hand. He stole second and third as the next batter went down swinging. Then Newman's error allowed Jackson to score and put a man on first.

That runner, Chuck Curre stole second. He registered the winning run as Jim Gyssler blooped one just out of reach to right. MW had its win, the Wildcats their loss.

IN DEFEAT Grandt fanned five, walked none. All runs charged to him were unearned. Three crucial errors caused his downfall.

After the 8-0 shutout at Prospect (story elsewhere in section) Chernicky's squad traveled to Deerfield last Friday where Grandt once again took the mound. He lasted until the sixth.

At that time the score was even at 1-1. Doubles by Whittington and Greg Closson gave Wheeling its run in the first while another two-bagger and a single had tied it for Deerfield in the third.

GRANDT BEGAN the sixth by getting his eighth K of the contest. When an error let one runner get on however, the junior lefty was in a hole and just couldn't escape. A walk, a single, and a double put the opposition up 3-1 before he got the second out on another strike out.

That was followed by a single, a homer, and two more singles. The score was 7-1. Newman replaced Grandt on the hill and gained the last out. A Wildcats' rally fell three runs short in the seventh.

Whittington reached on an error and was forced by Krug. Closson popped to second. Then Haddock singled sending Krug to third. Mayer brought them both home with his long double to left and scored himself moments later on a bad pick-off throw by Deerfield's catcher.

When Manderscheid skied to short for the final out Wheeling had its seventh loss. Chernicky and crew tried it again though, on Monday against Glenbrook North. There also, mistakes caused defeat.

WITH NEWMAN pitching in the first a GN double, a walk, a single, and a fielding error scored three runs. In the Spartans' fourth a single, two more errors, and two more singles knocked out Newman, brought Pavelle to the hill, and accounted for four more runs.

As a result of those efforts the Wildcats were behind 7-0 entering the sixth. Only singles by Manderscheid, Newman, and Traversone had bothered Glenbrook hurler Scott Krause to that juncture. Then Wheeling got its only marker.

Manderscheid walked, Pavelle, who pitched 3-1/3 innings of hitless ball to finish up, singled to center and Newman stepped to the plate. He grounded to short, forcing Pavelle at second, but the relay throw to first went wild and Manderscheid scored. That was that.

The winless week left Wheeling with a record of one triumph and eight setbacks. Today the Wildcats meet Glenbrook South, tomorrow they bat the Niles North, and Monday begins state tournament competition.

Win League Dual

Card Golfers 2nd at Quincy

Arlington's varsity golfers, a definite contender in the district golf meet which gets under way tomorrow (Friday), showed their strength last week with a dual win over York and impressive second place finish in the rugged Quincy Invitational.

Coach Phil Stack's Cardinals slipped by York by five strokes, 324-329, at Golden Acres and then placed second in the 13-team Quincy meet with a fine 411 total for its low five men.

Jon Keys came in with a blistering 34 second nine and carded a 78 in leading Arlington to its five-stroke win over York in West Suburban action. Keys went out in a so-so 44 but was red-hot over his final nine.

York won the frosh-soph meet 368-412 with Al Curtis low for the Cardinals with a 99. Dave Fondrie had a 101.

BLOOMINGTON'S defending state champions fired a 393 to take the Quincy Invitational with Arlington and Belleville in a tie for second at 411. The Cards won a five-man playoff for the second place trophy.

Other scores in the Quincy Invitational were Quincy (414), Lincoln (415), Champaign (417), Jacksonville (443), Granite City (445), Springfield (453), Alton (454), Springfield Feitshans (477), Springfield Lanphier (477) and Taylorville (482).

Burkett and Armour were low for Stack's Cardinals with 78s and they tied for fourth in the individual rankings with a Lincoln golfer. Armour won the playoff for the fourth place trophy.

Jim Saflarski came in with a fine 82 and Jon Keys (86) and Rick Price (87) also figured in the Arlington total. Stack took five men, and they all came through with creditable rounds.

Hogan Gains Scholarship

Mike Hogan, a guard on St. Viator's varsity basketball team during the 1964-65 season, has been awarded a basketball scholarship to Lake Forest College, St. Viator coach Larry Nomellini announced this week.

Hogan scored 210 points for the Lions, hitting a shade under .400 from the field and .649 from the free throw line.

Dick Triptow, who formerly coached at St. Patrick High School in Chicago, is the head coach at Lake Forest.

Salata Hurls Knights Past Wildcats 8-0

By MICHAEL HESS

Junk from Missouri won it; California based mistakes lost it. When Prospect trounced Wheeling 8-0 last Thursday, hurling performances by two out-of-staters decided the outcome.

Mike Salata, from "show me" territory, threw the Knights' shutout by employing mainly "junk" offerings. His assorted curves, sliders, and screwballs, delivered with pin-point control, came in speeds ranging from slow to slower.

Jim Pavelle, the west coast product, got all but the final out from the Wildcats' mound. He brought his own downfall, however, as his walks and a balk led to every run collected by the opposition. Trouble for him began early.

After Salata stopped Wheeling in the first, Tom Clow led off Prospect's half with a double to left. A sacrifice bunt and J. D. Thorne's sacrifice fly followed, Clow tallied, and the score was 1-0.

THAT RUN WAS the first registered by the Knights after a string of 25 scoreless frames. The seven other markers which came later were as many as the winners had managed in six previous battles.

Following a scoreless second, Rich Haddock opened Wheeling's third by reaching first on Bill Phillips' error at short. After Mark Newman flied out, Tom Manderscheid's single, the second of three hits off Salata, sent Haddock to third.

Next batter, Ken Traversone, bounced to Phillips who grabbed the ball and fired home. Haddock was nipped at the plate and that was as close to scoring as the Wildcats got.

PROSPECT WIDENED its margin with a four-spot outburst in the bottom of the third. Pavelle walked Rick Lott and Salata to start the rally. Then, with Clow up, Wheeling's hurler committed a balk which was signaled after he whipped the ball toward the batter.

With the ump shouting "Balk! Balk!" in his ear Clow swung, dribbled one toward second, and started running. No one played Clow's roller however, and since balk is a delayed dead ball call, he reached first safely and was permitted to stay.

With the sacks filled, John Alexander looped Pavelle's first pitch to left. It fell in, two Knights crossed the plate, and Alexander took second on the throw to home. Thorne sent two more across on a liner which landed just fair down the right field line.

Prospect collected four runs on just two hits and was up at that point 5-0.

OVER THE LAST four rounds Salata's array of twisting pitches kept all but one Wheeling runner off the bases. The lone man to reach was Newman who singled to left in the fifth but didn't advance.

Meanwhile, Pavelle's lack of control kept him in trouble. In the fourth Lott walked, was sacrificed to second, and scored on an error. In the sixth an error and two more walks put three on with two away. Pavelle left and Skip Grandt took the hill.

Bob Weber, batting for Thorne, dropped a seeing-eye single just out of everyone's reach behind short. Two more came in but Grandt whiffed Bill Arnold to end the scoring.

FINAL STATISTICS showed that "junkman" Salata had, in what was his initial Prospect appearance, walked just one while striking out six and firing one wild pitch. Pavelle fanned four, gave six hits and those, combined with five walks and the balk, led to defeat.

JUNKMAN MIKE SALATA uses everything he's got, including his tongue, to break off another curve for Prospect in an 8-0 shutout over wheeling. In his first appearance on the Knights' mound Salata allowed only three hits, fanned six, and walked one. Only one runner reached third on his slow, slower, and slowest deliveries. Perhaps that tongue does help after all. (Staff Photo by Don Vickery)

JUST DOGS

By Dave Terrill

What's the difference?

Along with a number of other things, your editor acts as a merit badge counselor for the Boy Scouts. Just recently a young man asked to be passed on one merit badge and as it had to do with pets, the subject of dogs came up. In the course of conversation he referred to his dog as a pedigreed and thorough-bred animal.

This reference to a dog is not correct and, needless to say, even many adults don't know the meaning of pedigree, thorough-bred, standard-bred and pure-bred. In the first place, all animals have a pedigree; even humans have one. It is nothing more, or less, than the family tree—mother, father and so on. A plain old dog has a pedigree, even if he is a 57-variety type.

The words thorough-bred and standard-bred really take a beating. In the place place, the terms are as applied to horses, not dogs. A thorough-bred race horse is one that races on the flat with a jockey as his rider. A standard-bred horse is either a trotter or a pacer, pulling a sulky with a driver. And, last but not least, a pure-bred is the term for a dog whose strain or "pedigree" is a pure line of a known breed of dog. For example a pure-bred Beagle, German Shepherd, Poodle, or you name it.

So remember, refer to your dog as a pure-bred if he is one. There is one boy scout who now knows the difference and won't forget what the terms mean.

Retires

There are many people who retire from work and it is often passed unnoticed except for his family and the company he worked for. Such was not the case when Harry Miller retired from the Gaines Dog Research Center in New York City.

Dog owners throughout the country owe a lot to this quiet and unassuming man who in the background did so much for the care and welfare of dogs, as well as promoting better relations between those who own dogs and those who do not.

Those who write about dogs have not let Harry's retirement go without notice. From all over the country, letters came in to his office wishing him well and the fact that he will be missed. Dog editors will long remember the help that he gave whenever he was asked to advise on a subject about dogs.

Dog Education

The German Shephard Dog Training Club wishes to extend an invitation to members of other Chicagoland dog training clubs to come and enjoy the educational program on May 13, at 8 p.m., in Lombard. The "clinic" will be held on the club grounds located on Route 53 and Madison Street.

The program for the evening will be a "Problem Dog Clinic" with director of training Erv Lange, who is also president of the Midwest Training Assoc., directing the affair. Special guest will be Glen Nesbitt, Vice president of the Midwest Training Assoc. The program will be held outdoors, so dress for the occasion, while discussions and refreshments will be served in the clubhouse.

Handlers are to bring their dogs, and it is open to all breeds, as this is an excellent opportunity to correct errors for coming shows. There will be a nominal charge to cover expenses, which will be well worth it if you can cure that hound of refusing to go over a jump when he is told to do, just for an example.

Reversals Help, Then Hurt

Prospect Nine Gains Loss, Win, and Loss

About face!! Prospect's diamond entry heard and obeyed, twice in one week.

Good pitch-no hit was the Knights' trademark through their first six contests. Typical of that string was the 10 inning, 1-0 loss to Glenbrook South last Wednesday.

Then came reversal number one. Hot at the plate, not so steady on the mound, Prospect pounded Wheeling 8-0 and edged past Niles North 7-6 last Thursday and Friday.

On Monday the Knights turned around again. They swung impotent bats and saw their hurling disintegrate in a 16-4 massacre at the hands of Maine West. That was their worst defeat of the year.

THOSE RESULTS left Prospect with an over-all record of 3-5-1 and a Mid-Suburban League mark of 3-4-1 which was good enough for fifth place, exactly where Coach Chuck Aldrich's crew had been before the week started.

In the Glenbrook shutout Greg Kowal performed brilliantly on the Knights' hill. Going the distance he walked none, yielded just five hits, and struck out 12. His teammates however, produced 18 K's, only one hit, and extended their scoreless inning streak to 25 straight.

Kowal took the setback after a hit batter and bloop double sent runners to second and third in the tenth. Spartans' twirler Paul Croft then put down a successful squeeze bunt to bring in the deciding run.

WHEN PROSPECT bats finally began sounding off the next day they helped pick up a win from Wheeling (story elsewhere in section) and then accounted for a close triumph over Niles.

After an unearned run went across in the Knights' first against NN, Tom Lundstedt opened their second with a slicing triple to right. He scored moments later when Bill Phillips lined safely to center. Phillips stole second and came around on Tom Clow's single.

The Knights led 3-0 as J. D. Thorne reached base on an error to start the third. After a fielder's choice and a flyout, Lundstedt sliced another one to right and that time got a home run. Though Phillips followed with another single the round closed without further scoring.

BILL WEIR was on the mound for Prospect and he held the Niles nine to one hit until the fourth. Then a double and a single set the count at 5-1. Final tallies for the Knights came one at a time in the fifth and sixth.

Bill Arnold's leg single, a stolen base, a throwing miscue, and Lundstedt's sacrifice fly for his third RBI brought in one marker. A walk, another error, and substitute Marty Ryan's single gave Prospect its seven run total in the sixth.

At that point Niles arose and nearly tied the score.

Weir was tiring visibly a the last inning began. He walked the lead-off man in that frame. A single over first and a just fair double to left followed. When Phillips made an error at short one run tallied and the bases were filled.

A TRIPLE by the next batter cleaned the bases, made the score 7-5, and brought Kowal to the mound in place of Weir. Showing continued mastery over opponent hitters the big right-hander set down three in a row. Only a throwing error let in the final NN run making the closing totals 7-6.

When the struggle with Maine opened on Monday even Kowal had his troubles. He, Weir, and Craig Thomas were hammered for 19 hits including 17 singles and two home runs. A hit batter, four walks, three stolen bases, and two Prospect errors also aided the MW cause.

The Knights four runs came in the fourth and seventh innings. Already behind 7-0 in the fourth, Prospect gained one tally when Arnold walked after two were out and Rick Lott and Clow followed with singles.

In the seventh, behind 16-1, Clow reached first on an error, to start the rally. Sub catcher Rick Froemling singled, and Kowal, shifted to right field from the hill, was safe at first on another error. One run scored.

AFTER THORNE fanned, Lundstedt slapped out a double bringing in the final markers and setting the final score. Clow, Lundstedt, and Arnold each had two hits in the game for Prospect.

In future action the Knights host Glenbrook North tomorrow and then open district baseball play on Monday.

St. Viator Wins Triangular Meet

St. Viator collected four firsts and nine seconds last week in rolling to an impressive victory over St. Joseph and Immaculate Conception in a triangular track and field meet.

Coach Tom Hansen's rapidly improving Lions registered 59 points on a varsity level for an 11-point bulge over runnerup St. Joseph. Immaculate Conception was third with 33.

Steve McNamara was a double winner for St. Viator with a :10.3 clocking in the 100 yard dash and :22.1 in the low hurdles.

Other varsity winners for the Lions were Dennis Forston in the shot put (47-2½) and Gary Forston in the discus throw (145-4½).

BILL ROSER posted two seconds for St. Viator. He finished behind McNamara in the low hurdles and also was second over the highs.

Gary Forston was second behind his brother in the shot put and John Helmer followed Gary in the discus. Dennis O'Donnell was third in both events and was second in the high jump. Paul Larson was runnerup in the 880 yard run, and Ed Brown in the broad jump.

St. Viator also placed second in both relays.

The Lions picked up five firsts in the frosh-soph meet and finished second behind St. Joseph. The Chargers won with 58½ points. St. Viator had 48½ and Immaculate Conception 41.

Dave Friedrichs raced to a victory in the 100 yard dash with an :11.2 clocking. Other Lion victors were Bill Balas in the 440 yard dash (:56.9), Tom O'Malley in the low hurdles (:23.6), Tom McAvoy in the shot put (37-½), and the 880-yard relay team of O'Malley, Tom Merges, Bellino, and Friedrichs.

Wheeling Sophs Get First 5-0 Net Win

A "first" was registered by Wheeling's net team last week. The frosh-soph Wildcats shutout Glenbrook North 5-0 for the initial tennis whitewash triumph in school history.

Not as fortunate however, were Ted Ecker's varsity courtmen, who fell before GN and Niles North by identical 5-0 tallies. The lower level Wheeling entry also went down 5-0 in front of NN.

In the triumph over Glenbrook, Jim Cuca, Tom Kreis, and Scott Decker all swept their frosh-soph singles matches for Wheeling. Cuca won 6-1, 8-6; Kreis prevailed 6-2, 7-5; and Decker gained 6-3, 6-0 victories.

To complete the shutout Fred Patton and Dave Liu teamed in first doubles action and came out on top 2-6, 6-0, 14-12. Dan DenBeste and Walt Krier took second doubles 6-4, 5-7, 8-6. That finished the whitewash and left coach Terry Greer's younger Wildcats with a 2-8 record.

In other action during the week there was nothing but defeat.

The varsity record is now 0-10.

When the frosh-sophs faced Niles, Kreis, Cuca, and Patton ended behind 6-3, 6-3; 6-2, 6-2; and 6-0, 6-0 respectively in singles. Decker and DenBeste lost in doubles 6-2, 6-3, as did Liu and Krier 6-2, 6-1.

St. Viator Whips Touted St. Mel in Key Tennis Match

St. Viator's varsity tennis Lions moved into first place in the Chicagoland Prep League race last week with an impressive 3-2 victory over previously unbeaten St. Mel.

Coach Pete Dunderdale's rugged outfit took two singles matches and one doubles test in handing St. Mel its first loss after three straight Chicagoland wins.

Dave Harris, playing in the No. 2 slot, and John Schinka, working in No. 3, picked up the singles victories against St. Mel.

Harris disposed of Stan Barnes 9-11, 6-1, 6-1 and Schinka toppled Mike Felke 6-4, 6-2.

Norm Zeller and Bob Moore teamed up for a 6-4, 6-4 win in second doubles.

In other action St. Viator had little trouble getting by St. George, 5-0, with one forfeit win tossed in.

Schinka, senior captain, was termed by head man Dunderdale as "especially effective" in his match. John whipped Dave Hager 6-1, 6-0 in second singles.

Harris posted a 6-3, 6-4 win in first singles and Bill Gordon won his No. 3 match 6-4, 6-3.

In the only doubles match played Zeller and Moore won 4-6, 6-3, 6-3.

St. Viator rolled past Carmel of Mundelein Monday evening in a non-conference match.

Freshman John Allare, Schinka, and Gordon won in straight sets in singles play. Zeller and Moore teamed up for one doubles win and Mike Massey and Paul Demmert worked in the victorious second slot.

"Allare and seniors Massey and Demmert looked particularly impressive in this one," Dunderdale reported.

Sophs Have 2-4 Record

Arlington's sophomore baseball team showed a 2-4 mark heading into action this week.

The improving Cardinals got by Downers Grove in a thriller, 16-15, and blanked Riverside-Brookfield, 7-0, for their only two victories.

Glenbard West (7-2), York (11-5), Maine East (4-0), and Riverside (2-1) have whipped Arlington.

A strong relief stint by Jim Swanezy saved the decision Saturday as the Cards won, 7-0. Swanezy came in for starter Kevin Harvell with the bases loaded in the second and got out of the jam.

Bob Hecht deserved a better fate in the 2-1 loss to Riverside.

Arlington fell behind 3-0 in the first inning against Downers Grove but rallied to pull out a 16-15 victory in a game featured by four Cardinal home runs.

Complete details on the frosh-soph games were unavailable.

Knights, Cougars Split in Track

Prospect's Knights and Conant's Cougars traded clobberings in an outdoor dual track meet Tuesday. Prospect ruled the varsity half of the outing 111-7, and Conant dominated the frosh-soph 95-22.

George Morris was a double winner for the Knights on the varsity level, copping both the 100 yard dash and the 440. Prospect's 880 and mile relay teams also ran to victory.

Conant's only first came from Ron Smith, who won the 220. Smith was also third in the 100, just behind Morris and Jim Renner.

The other Prospect winners were Ray Kick in high hurdles and Craig Peterson in low, Gary York in the 880, Dennis Breen in the mile, Pete Smith in the shot put, Tom Knutson in the discus, Dave Kelsey in the broad jump, Tom Hogarty in the high jump and Larry Fisher in the pole vault.

It was the other way around on the frosh-soph level, where Prospect's only winner was Bruce McQuilken in the pole vault. Double winners for Conant were Dick Knight in the high and low hurdles; John Ellithorpe in the 220 and the broad jump; and Ernie Drummond in the discus and high jump. Conant's 880 and mile relay teams won; Dom Furio won the 100; Sam Culpepper the 440; Dave Troy the 880; Larry Robertson the mile; and Duane Smeryage the shot put.

Defeat to Prospect Net Crew

A 3-2 defeat was dealt Prospect's tennis team on Monday. The loss came in a meet with Niles West.

For the Knights' court entry action began poorly as Paul Johnson lost 5-7, 5-7 and Glen Morton sank 3-6, 1-6 in first and second singles play. Then Bryan Kiehl won in third singles 6-1, 6-1.

Going into doubles action Prospect had to sweep both matches to win the meet. Craig Wolf and Tom Bryant began well with a 6-4, 6-4 win in first doubles and the meet was even.

Then Knights Chuck Hengels and Doug Heitzman dropped a three set, 6-4, 0-6, 5-7 decision in second doubles and the day was lost. That defeat left Prospect, coached by Chuck Sandine, with an overall record which showed four wins and seven losses.

On the frosh-soph level there was a different outcome as the younger Knights gained their seventh win in 11 meets for coach Hank Szymanski. Final totals were Prospect 4 - Niles West 1.

Jeff Long began for the younger Knights with a 9-7, 6-4 win in singles which was followed by Neil Wells' 6-2, 6-4 triumph. When Jim Pomplum took his match 6-1, 6-2 the Knights had it wrapped up.

Adding frosting to that victory was the 8-6, 4-6, 9-7 second doubles decision taken by Jerry Stocking and Pete Krembs. Lone loss for the winners went to Dick Stoehr and Rod Jean in first doubles, 2-6, 5-7.

St. Viator's Golfers Win

Only three strokes separated St. Viator's top four men Monday in a 175-191 varsity golf victory over St. George of Evanston.

Pat Hawley paved the way for the Lions over the Glencoe layout with a 42 for nine. Bill Crotty and Ed Odmark had 44s and Pat Phee a 45.

St. Viator won the frosh-soph meet, 184-215.

Falcons'-Wildcats' Links Match to FV

Jim Junkunc's round of 82 led the linksmen of Forest View past Wheeling's golfers last Thursday. Final totals were FV 338-the Wildcats 359.

In the 18-hole meet played over the Mount Prospect Country Club course, the 82 of Junkunc was only one stroke ahead of teammate Jon Sear at 83. Also close to the lead for the Falcons was Bob O'Keefe with an 84.

An 89 by Joul Byrne was the other tally for Forest View and coach Al Kintzle.

On the Wheeling side, Al Eisenstein's 86 led the way. Bob Boenig was next on the Wildcats squad with 90. At 91 and 92, finishing out the scoring for the losers, were Jerry and Dick Fontecchio.

In the frosh-soph nine hole match FV also pulled out a victory, 187 to 199.

Pacing the winners was Tim Byrne who carded a 43. He was trained by the 47's of Doug Turner and Brian Wolff and the 50 of Frank Wasylwski.

Card Frosh Win One, Lose Pair

Pitching and defense weren't anything to shout about last week for Arlington's frosh 'A' baseball Cardinals.

The young Cards featured some lusty hitting and an explosive offense, but they still dropped two of three West Suburban Conference outings.

Coach Art Brownell's club nipped Maine East 11-10 in a free-swinging affair but droped 12-7 and 22-8 decisions to Riverside.

Arlington came up with two runs in the seventh inning to get by Maine East. Gary Price was the winning pitcher and Keith Culberson and Dick Price contributed doubles in a 12-hit attack.

An appeal play in the seventh inning proved vital for Arlington. A Maine East player failed to touch home plate, and the Cardinal appeal held up.

Saturday was a day to forget for Arlington's plebes. Riverside compiled 14 hits in the first game for a 12-7 victory and 12 in the second for a 22-8 win.

John Vetter was the starter and loser for Arlington in the lidlifter.

In the second game the score was tied 4-4 after four innings, but R-B pushed across 18 runs in a wild fifth inning. "Errors in the outfield really hurt in this one," Brownell explained.

Gary Price was the loser for the Cards. Doug Chaps had two doubles.

Tuesday Loop Opens Season

T8he sunken acres of Mount Prospect Country Club Park 2nd, 4th, and 6th holes drained surprisingly fast last week, enabling the Tuesday division to inaugurate the Silver Anniversary season of the Mount Prospect Twilight Golf League season as scheduled.

The start of the Monday night division had to be postponed for a week because of high water.

Despite fairways that were shaggy and still soggy in many places, three teams of the Tuesday division came through with decisive victories, unusual for so early in the season:

Morton Pontiac grabbed the first night lead by scoring 8½ points against Moler's Barber Shop. Busse-Biermann Hardware took eight points from Licht's Paint Store and second place in the standings, while Wille Lumber & Fuel scored a 7-3 victory over Kersting's Garden Center, good enough for third place in the standing.

Not nearly so decisive were the results of the other three contests. Thunderbird Bowl had a hard time getting rolling but managed to eke out a 6½-3½ victory over Mount Prospect Electric Construction Co. Carter Music Shop squeaked by Keefer's Pharmacy, 5½-4½, and Kirchoff Insurance finished in a dead heat with Kruse's Tavern and Restaurant.

Most contestants were rather erratic after the long winter layoff and the going was slow. The lowest score posted was a 40 turned in by Hal Jauch, "C" player for the "loaded" Carter Music Shop five, "loaded" meaning that Carter's has "A" caliber players filling the team's first three positions.

There were no birdies reported.

Team standings April 27:

Morton Pontiac	8½
Busse-Biermann Hardware	8
Wille Lumber & Fuel	7
Thunderbird Bowl	6½
Carter Music Shop	5½
Kirchhoff Insurance	5
Kruse's Tavern and Rest.	5
Keefer's Pharmacy	4½
Mt. Pros. Elec. Constr. Co.	3½
Kersting Garden Center	3
Licht's Paint Store	2
Moler's Barber Shop	1½

Tight Race Seen in Friday Night League

With an enlarged league to 14 teams, the 1965 season should prove to be a hectic affair for the Mount Prospect Twilight Golf League at the Mount Prospect Country Club as the first night's play produced a tie for first place and only two points separating the top five teams.

Uneasily perched at the top of the ladder are Captain Joe Wylie's FBK Realtors who almost shut out Don Campbell's Kruse' Five 9 to 1 and Captain Dick Wood and his Keefer's Pharamacists who sank Captain Ray Felitto's Williams-Gray Co. with a 9 to 3 win.

Only one point back is Captain Dick Piehl and his Mount Prospect State Bankers who posted an 8 to 4 win over Captain Fred Clark's Pete Henderson Standard Servicemen. This puts them in second place by only half a point over Jim Scott's Meeske's Super Marketeers who made their opening bid with a 7.5 to 4.5 win over the Bainbridge Apartment five of Captain Dudley Hartman.

ALTERNATE Ken Sophie got the FBK Realtors off to their fast start with a 1 up win over Kruse — Captain Don Campbell. Realtor Herman Falldin followed suit with his 4 and 3 win over Carl Campbell. Bob Carrol then posted a 3 and 2 win over Jordan Italia and Jim Murphy made it a perfect night for the Realtors with his 2 and 1 win over Bob Arko.

Not to be outdone, Captain Dick Wood and his Keefers Pharmacists put themselves into season-long contention by turning in the best team effort of the night's play despite early season aches and pains and a golf course not yet manicured to peak season form.

Captain Wood had his hands full with the Williams - Gray head man Ray Felitto who posted a two over par gross 37 that included a 25 foot putt for a bird on the par four 285 yard ninth hole. But Wood was equal to the occasion with birds of his own—40 foot putt on the par five 485 yard first hole and another on the 328 yard par four third. But it was all in vain as Felitto's bird on the ninth settled the match at a half.

DON BERTRAND added Keefer points with his 3 and 1 win over Ed Herkert. The best Pharmacists Yngve Bloomquist and Harold Leigerber could do for their cause were halved matches with Dr. Ed Luzwick and Jack Buyers. It remained for Keefer's Val Reising to finish the winning prescription with a 4 and 3 win over Walt Rutkowski.

All of which added up to a 9 to 3 win over the Williams-Gray Co. five and a tie for first place.

The Mount Prospect State Bankers stayed in contention with their 8 to 4 win over the Pete Henderson Standard Service Quintet. Subbing for the absent Banker Captain Dick Piehl, Herb Caht put a 2 up win on the board by downing Len Jennet, substituting for the equally absent Captain Fred Clark. Nick Serino put the Servicemen on the scoreboard with a 3 and 2 win over Big George Miscevich.

Banker John Burck halved his match with Chester Spak but teammates Bob Rinehart and Ken Arnold put the Bankers into the third spot in the standings with 2 up wins over Joe Graffeo and Walter Czeropski.

ONLY ONE half a point back in fourth place, Captain Jim Scott's Meeske's Super Marketeers were hard put, but managed a 7.5 to 4.5 win over Captain Dudley Hartman's Bainbridge Apartment quintet.

Captain Scott didn't have enough shots in the bag this day as Captain Hartman turned in a 2 up win over Meeske's fearless leader. But Ed Berset set the Meeske-men on the winning path with a 1 up win over Holmes McLendon and Mar Veleta kept it even with a halved match with Bert Tilstrom. Al Glover added three points to the Meeske total with his perfect 5 and 4 win over Don Quigley only to have Ed Deringer cut the gap with his 3 and 1 win over Meeske's Bill Mottweiler.

The most spectacular bird of the evening — and the only other one — was the 3 posted by extra - careful Dan Lynch of the Wille Lumbermen who holed a chip shot from 55 feet off the green on the 336 yard par four 11th.

St. Viator Diamond Record Is Deceiving

After a 6-2 victory over St. Mel Monday afternoon Coach Len Sparacino's Lions showed a 4-5-1 season record.

Now that 4-5-1 mark doesn't look like much unless you examine it more closely. The five St. Viator losses have been heartbreakers — by scores of 7-5, 4-2, 2-0, 1-0, and 2-1.

St. Ignatius and Holy Cross are leading the pack in the Chicagoland Prep League diamond chase, and they were involved in battles to the wire with Sparacino's outfit.

The pace-setting Wolves, 8-1 in league play as of Monday, shaded the Lions twice 4-2 and 2-1. Holy Cross owns a 1-0 win over St. Viator and a 3-2 loss.

That 1-0 victory was a game they'll remember for a long time at St. Viator. It was one of the finest high school contests ever played in the Chicagoland league.

ST. VIATOR'S fine sophomore right hander Jerry Donohue yielded only three hits in 10 innings and struck out 19 — and lost! Hily Cross scored the only marker in the tenth when an error opened the door.

The winner's Steinmetz was equally brilliant with 19 strikeouts and also a yield of only three safeties. Bill Kaveney, Charley Heinrich, and Ron Bakalar had the Lion hits but none blossomed into a run.

Losing 1-0 in ten innings was bad enough, but St. Viator also dropped a 2-1 cliff-hanger to St. Ignatius in eight stanzas the following day.

BOB STEVENS, another talented St. Viator soph, toiled this time and turned in a fine stint. He fanned 11 and allowed five hits.

St. Ignatius scored single runs in the first and eighth. The Lions counted in the third.

John Loughman had two hits for the Lions, including a triple. Ron Rose, Heinrich, and Tim Walinski collected the other safeties.

Lions Win

St. Viator scored two runs in the first and one in the fourth Tuesday afternoon and posted a 3-1 varsity baseball victory over St. Mel in a game cut short after four and one-half innings by rain.

Sophomore Bob Stevens went the route for Len Sparacino's Lions and allowed four hits. He struck out seven.

The victory was St. Viator's fifth of the season and fourth in Chicagoland Prep League action.

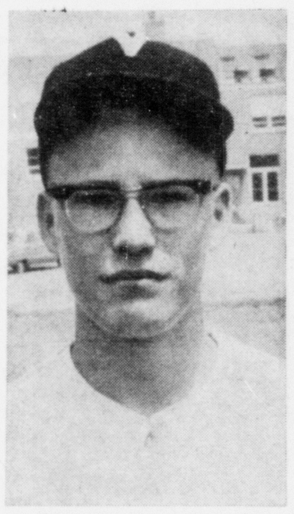
It wasn't all bad news for St. Viator in another busy week. The Lions did rock St. Joseph, 11-7, with an 11-hit attack and also toppled St. Mel, 6-2.

LOUGHMAN was the big man against St. Joseph. He went the route on a yield of seven hits and also slammed out three as the offensive leader. Rose, Tom Epperly, Heinrich, and Dan Collins registered two hits each.

Donohue worked against St. Mel and although he wasn't as sharp as in previous assignments he still got the job done. Jerry fanned seven and allowed four hits.

St. Viator put the game away with a three-run outburst in the first. They added two more in the fourth and a singleton in the seventh.

Rose, Heinrich, Donohue, and Walinski collected two hits each for the winners with Walinski hiking his conference standard to a booming .438. Rose had a healthy .321 mark prior to action Tuesday night with St. Mel.



JERRY DONOHUE

The Lions have a busy week ahead. They're scheduled to travel to St. George today (Thursday) and host St. George tomorrow. A doubleheader is set for DeLaSalle Saturday with the regional opener Monday at Palatine.

Links Play Brings Split for Knights

"Five" was the figure which counted in Prospect's golf action during the past week.

First there was a five stroke defeat at Glenbrook South, 320 to 325, and then came a five stroke triumph over Deerfield, 213 to 218. That left the Knights' dual meet record at three and two.

Playing eighteen holes against Glenbrook, Dave Huntley paced the losers with nines of 41 and 36 giving him a 77 total. Next came Bill Becker at 80, Jim Nettles at 81, and Rick Lynch at 87.

Huntley again led the way when Prospect faced Deerfield. He carded a 51 for nine holes which was two ahead of teammate Dave Lovgren at 53. At 54 and 55 were Nettles and Lytle to round out the victory score.

Following the two meets Knights' coach Warren Collier stated that, "The remaining matches are more important if we are going to win the conference. With that loss to Glenbrook it's going to be tough."

On the frosh-soph level Prospect registered two consecutive wins. The younger Knights beat GS 295 to 309 and Deerfield 165 to 180 to move their record to 4-1.

Harry Wallace had the low rounds for the winning F-S team. He had a 79 in 15 holes against Glenbrook and a 37 in nine when playing Deerfield.

Backing up Wallace in the first meet were Joe Rosanova with a 71, Bob Phelan with a 75, and Tom Bialczak with a 79. Rosanova's 41, Fred Fassnacht's 43 and Phelan's 44 followed against Deerfield.

U.I. Sets Stiffer Admission Policies

Only students ranking in the top quarter of their high school graduation classes will be admitted to the University of Illinois next September without passing an admissions examination.

All other students must demonstrate their ability through an admission test before they will be accepted.

Starting next year — September, 1966 — all students must take an admission test, with entrance to be given on the basis of class rank and admission-test scores.

DR. E. EUGENE OLIVER

THE PREVIOUS policy of admission of all Illinois high school graduates was first altered four years ago, Dr. Oliver stated. At that time students in the lowest quarter had to take entrance examinations. In the past two years, students ranking in the lower half of their graduating classes took the examination.

This is due to the increasing enrollment pressure at state schools, he explains.

Next year, the Urbana campus expects to have an enrollment of 28,000 students. This follows the trend of an increase of several thousand each year which has been the experience at the state university.

He called the problem of growing "bigness" and the feeling of overwhelming distance between teachers and the large student body only second to the increasing pressure to accept more and more students at the freshman level.

"THERE IS NO simple solution," he notes. He felt the junior college growth in Illinois might provide at least a partial answer for the future.

Asked whether the approximate 65 per cent of northwest suburban high school graduates could continue to find places in universities and colleges, Dr. Oliver stressed that those at the top level of class rank would have no great problems. Students who rank in the lower half or three-fourths of their graduating classes would have an increasingly difficult time in getting into colleges, he noted.

Dr. Oliver, who formerly served as principal of Arlington High School, cited the lack of studies in Illinois on how well graduates from various high schools or various types of high schools do in college work. It was impossible to say that graduates from Chicago suburban schools did better than other graduates, he explained, since achievement in college rested apparently on individual abilities rather than high school training.

HE STRESSED that good high school training was essential, but not the major guide to college success.

A study of the relation of college success to the type of high school training was now under way, he explained.

The better job being done in high schools was shown in the fact that U. I. had dropped its remedial freshman rhetoric course as no longer required. Students now have a failure rate of seven per cent in freshman rhetoric, he said — "a very low failure level."

Dr. Oliver suggested that high schools try more programs at the junior and senior levels which would give students greater independence in learning. This would help students to deal with the problem of greater "distance" between teachers and pupils at the college level. They would better recognize when they should seek help, since at college the teacher would not seek them out if they needed help.

Students at college must realize the need to study and work without someone keeping track of them. This could be developed gradually in high schools, Dr. Oliver felt, and would mean greater college success for more students. (A15

Tract on Busse Road Zoned for Apartments

A parcel of 8½ acres on Busse Road south of Algonquin Road in Elk Grove Township was rezoned for apartment construction last Friday by the Cook County Board, following the recommendation of the county zoning board of appeals.

The site on the west side of Busse about 1,740 feet south of Algonquin was rezoned from R-4 single family to R-5 general residence on the application of Roy Lichter, trustee for the property. The site is near the unfinished Tally-Ho apartments.

AT THE HEARING on the petition, the zoning board found Lichter planned to sell the property for $92,500 to attorney Milton H. Solomon, who plans six two-story buildings with a total of 146 units. The plan includes three buildings with 26 apartments, two with 22 and one with 24; 110 single-bedroom and 36 two-bedroom units are outlined.

The project, to cost an estimated $1.4 million, also includes two swimming pools and 185 parking spaces.

The rezoning had been objected to by both Mount Prospect and Arlington Heights, who argued that the land ultimately should be used for manufacturing purposes.

However, the zoners noted that the property — near the Northwest Tollway — is "totally unsuited for single-family residences, and that requiring the owners to wait for manufacturing interests, "in the meantime paying taxes upon land which cannot be put to legitimate and appropriate use, would constitute deprivation of due process."

MOST OF THE area around the rezoned property is vacant, zoned predominatly manufacturing and commercial.

County Commissioner Fred Fulle asked that his vote be recorded as the single objection to the rezoning, as protest against the growth of apartment zoning in unincorporated areas. (ACM-E

Wildcats Post Two Frosh Wins

Wheeling featured some lusty hitting in two frosh baseball triumphs last week but suffered a 4-2 loss to Maine West.

The Wildcats pounded out 14 hits in rolling to a 13-8 win over Deerfield. Jack Fedyski was the winning pitcher with Robin Melzer cracking out three singles.

A five-run second inning carried the 'Cats to a tight 10-8 victory over Glenbrook North. Jay Newman's strong four innings of relief pitching and Tom Russell's three-run homer sparked the win.

Maine West posted a 4-2 win over Wheeling with Melzer absorbing the loss despite a fine two-hitter. Don Danhour paced the loser's attack with three doubles. (SP

Controversial Rezoning Petition Is Withdrawn

A highly criticized petition for rezoning of 50 acres at the northeast corner of Algonquin and Linneman Roads in Elk Grove Township to allow construction of 879 apartment units has been withdrawn.

Notice of the withdrawal was given at the Cook County Board meeting last Friday. Without further explanation, attorney Max M. Fleisher later said simply that he had been asked to withdraw the petition by the applicant, the Exchange National Bank of Chicago, trustee for the property.

Application for rezoning of the site across from United Air Lines from R-4 single family to R-5 general residence was submitted almost a year ago, and hearing was held June 15, 1964. Formal objections were filed by Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect and Des Plaines, as well as Elk Grove School District 59.

THE VILLAGES argued that single family residence was the highest and best use for the property, with Arlington declaring, "The development would be highly detrimental to public health, safety and welfare in that it would unreasonably increase density of use and create traffic hazards, a burden on the schools, and a fire hazard."

alleging the development's water supply would be inadequate, the villages questioned the ability of the Mount Prospect Fire Department to provide sufficient protection in the unincorporated area. In addition, the villages criticized the "maze-like" layout, "alleged to be a single building but not such either architecturally or structurally." (ACM-E

Ground School Is Valuable to Student Pilot

PRE-FLIGHT CHECK of the aircraft becomes a matter of routine before the start of each flight for the student pilot. Roy Levitt, flight instructor, looks on as Larry Cameron checks the oil level on the Piper Cherokee prior to another hour of flight instruction. (Staff Photo)

Suburb Airport Is Jack-of-All Trades

Many people still think of a local airport operator as the Air Age equivalent of the auto service station. True, they both sell gasoline, and a mechanic is on duty who can do something about engine trouble. But there the comparision largely ends.

Private airports operate like a gas station that buys its own stretch of road for all cars to use free of charge, just so it can sell gas to passing motorists.

AN AIRPORT IS, in fact, a public utility like a street. But unlike the Chicago area's three publicly-owned airports, two of which charge landing fees, you can land a plane at any of the six-county area's 33 privately-owned airports free of charge.

The airport operator makes his money by providing a host of services and facilities that is continually increasing and broadening in scope.

At a typical private airfield, Elgin Airport, you can buy a plane, raning from the single-engine "beginner's dream"—the 130-mile-an-hour Piper Cherokee, for $8,500, to the luxurious $60,000 twin-engined Piper Aztec, which will fly you and five friends to New York in less than four hours nonstop—from Elgin to an airfield almost downtown in Manhattan.

Or, you can rent the same plane for a day or for a year, as long as you need one. A third way of taking advantage of the greater convenience of the private plane is to use it as a taxi—a service that operators say is still in its infancy, with unlimited potential for growth in the Chicago suburban area.

DURING THE summer months, for example, Tufts-Edgcumbe, Inc., operators of Elgin Airport, operate as many as seven daily taxi flights to the Boulder Junction area of northern Wisconsin.

As a member of the fast growing National Air Taxi Conference, they can pick up a passenger at any airport and deliver him to any other airport—9,000 of them—in the United States. The Conference recently awarded Tufts-Edgcumbe a safety award for its accident-free taxi record: no injuries or fatalities in over 27 years of operation.

Another mainstay of the local airport operator is its flight instruction service. Under the direction of Art Fisher, of 630 Yale Court, Des Plaines, who is senior examiner for the Federal Aviation Agency in the Chicago area, Tufts-Edgcumbe operates the only flight school in the area to be chosen by several major airlines to train their flight engineers as instrument-rated commercial pilots.

Since Elgin airport also serves as Piper Aircraft distributor, it uses the newest equipment, in peak condition, with the latest radio-navigation aids.

Airplane Controls Become Familiar

By LARRY H. CAMERON
(Third in a Series)

An ambition of many years was finally realized; I had actually flown an airplane.

Although not a very impressive effort, that first hour of instruction flying, neverthless, took on an entirely different meaning to me.

It began as an assignment from my editor to report my experiences in learning to fly. I'd always been aware of the advantages for a suburbanite like me to be able to pilot a plane, but I never dreamed what an exciting experience it would be.

My second flight was scheduled for a week later, and my anticipation made days seem like weeks. Finally, the day arrived and I drove to Elgin Airport to meet my instructor, Roy Levitt of 305 S. George St., Mount Prospect.

THIS WAS THE day I was to begin the other "half" of instruction, known as Ground School.

Roy explained that in addition to my training in physically controlling the airplane, I would be learning many things about navigation, weather, flying regulations, and pre-flight operations at the same time.

For this background information, Tufts-Edgcumbe Inc., operators of Elgin Airport, uses the Sanderson Audio-Visual Ground School Course.

THIS CONSISTS of a manual covering all the different subjects and a series of slide films with recordings which correspond to the subjects in the book. This enabled me to study the text at home and watch the film before or after each flying sesssion.

I quickly discovered that working ground school and flying together made both easier to understand.

Following my introduction to Ground School, Roy and I went out to fly the Cherokee 140 for my second hour of flight instruction.

Everything seemed a bit more familiar than during my first airborne encounter.

AFTER STARTING the plane, I followed Roy's directions and taxied the plane toward the end of the runway.

Steering the plane with my feet didn't seem quite as "unnatural" as before, and I was beginning to take great pride in my minor accomplishment—so much so that I failed to heed Roy's advice about avoiding mud alongside the taxi area.

Much to my dismay and embarassment, I promptly got the plane mired in mud off the edge of the strip! I felt like a real "greenhorn." But with Roy's help, we eventually pulled out of the mud and took to the air.

During these several hours in the air, we practiced the basic maneuvers of the plane in flight.

I FOUND THAT coordination and an ability to divide my attention were most important factors in learning to pilot the airplane. Often I would work on a particular maneuver for a long time with seeming to get anywhere. Then suddenly, it would all come to me at once.

Although sometimes frustrating, there was a great sense of satisfaction in developing each skill.

Many of the experiences in learning to fly are like learning to drive; practice builds coordination and skill. In flying, however, the pilot learns why he controls the plane in a certain way as well as how he makes the maneuver. Flying is, of course, more complicated than driving, but I found that by taking each phase step by step it all seemed less ominous than I'd imagined it to be.

Roy emphasized the importance of developing good safety habits in flying. It didn't take me long to discover I could get in more trouble by overlooking minor, routine things than anything major.

AFTER SEVERAL hours in the air, the earth below became more familiar to me. It was like moving into a strange town; after awhile, landmarks become like familiar street corners. I could sense my directions without too much difficulty.

I learned that all airports have "traffic patterns" which are like invisible highways that every plane must follow when arriving at or departing an airport.

In Ground School, I was learning how to use such aids as radio and charts that would show me how to get from one place to another as well as how and where to land. I found that the pilot has infinitely more information at his fingertips in planning a trip than any motorist does.

Gradually, each phase of flying became easier, more familiar.

After becoming acquainted with basic Federal Aviation Agency regulations and completing a physical examination, I received my Student Pilot's License. The physical exam, required every two years, was thorough but I found that I didn't have to be super-human in order to pass it.

As my logbook showed more and more hours of instruction, Roy introduced me to the final phase of my basic training—take-offs and landings.

I knew the all-important time was fast approaching, the day Roy would step out of the cockpit and tell it, "It's all your's!"

(NEXT WEEK: The solo flight.) (A-15

AFTER A FEW HOURS of instruction, Larry Cameron of Paddock Publications found that although flying seems very complicated at first, it is not nearly as ominous as expected when approached step by step. He noted that coordination and the ability to divide attention were most important factors in learning to fly. (Staff Photo)

Chinese Newcomer Wins Friends

Suburb Takes to 'Oriental Charm'

How Bride Learned U.S. Ways

By PAT ADAM
Staff Writer

When Mildred Fuller made her Welcome Wagon call at 300 N. Walnut, Itasca, about a year ago, little did she realize that it was only the first of many stops that she would make at the two - story white frame house.

Mrs. Fuller was there to extend the community's welcome to newcomers Mr. and Mrs. George McElroy and their four children.

"When I saw Dorothy in her red mandarin-style dress and a red decoration in her black hair, I knew this was someone I wanted to know better," recalled "Mil" Fuller.

FOR DOROTHY McElroy is Chinese, married to an American who, according to her Itasca friends, is as captivated by her Oriental charm now as the day they met in Hongkong some 15 years ago.

This same Oriental charm, now with an American air to it, has endeared Dorothy to many Itasca residents. Her home is a blend of Oriental treasures and western furnishings. Dorothy dresses in the fashion of the Chinese woman with such western world touches as high-heeled pumps and nail polish.

It was "Mil" Fuller who introduced her to the women of First Presbyterian Church. Dorothy scored on her first visit by pinch-hitting for a program at the last minute, though she originally was to have been only a guest.

GEORGE McElroy's job as an aeronautical engineer and troubleshooter for Boeing Aircraft takes the family to all parts of the globe, and Dorothy has pictures of the many places they have been. When the church women were hard - pressed for a program on that first visit, Dorothy in her usual thoughtful way offered to show them pictures of the McElroys' many travels.

After that, many found that, like "Mil" Fuller, they wanted to know Dorothy better. Her background was as fascinating as any tale of fiction.

Dorothy, whose Chinese name is Su Ling Lee, is a descendant of Chinese royalty. She grew up in Peking and studied political science and economics at Futan University in Shanghai with the ambition to become a woman lawyer, something unheard of in China. With the Communist take-over, Dorothy and her family were forced in 1948 to flee Peking, taking little else but the suitcases they could carry with them.

THEY SETTLED in Hongkong and it was there that Dorothy met her future husband. George's father and Dorothy's father had been classmates at Clark University in Massachusetts, and when George was sent to Hongkong on a business assignment, his father instructed him to call on the Lee family. Because her father was in Indonesia at the time, it fell to Dorothy to show George the Oriental courtesies extended to the son of an old friend.

"I don't know how you explain it," Dorothy said, "but we fell in love. Both our families were opposed to our marriage, but here we are, still married and with four wonderful children, and I think we have a good marriage."

Brought up amid plenty of servants, Dorothy was quite unprepared to be an American bride.

"It's funny to remember now, but it wasn't when I was learning. Then there were tears," Dorothy recalled.

AMONG THE 26 ITASCA WOMEN who've been learning the art of Chinese cooking from Dorothy McElroy, center, are Mrs. Mildred Fuller, left, Itasca's Welcome Wagon hostess, and Mrs. Bess Mellor. Dorothy is explaining how to cook vegetables to keep their delicate flavor and crispness. The women also have been learning to dine Chinese fashion, too, complete with chopsticks. (Staff Photo)

GEORGE TAUGHT her how to diaper their first baby and how to iron. Returning to the United States, they lived for a time with George's mother, and Dorothy learned by watching her mother-in-law.

She is determined her four children will not suffer as she did, and they are being trained to perform many household tasks. Bill, 14, the eldest, even cooks and irons. Her other youngsters, Linda, 12; Jim, 9, and Ginger, 7, all have their regular chores, and Dorothy never picks up their rooms. That is the children's responsibility.

Entertaining has become almost second nature to Dorothy now. Her husband's job requires her to be a frequent hostess, even to ambassadors and royalty. An excellent cook, she has been teaching Chinese cookery to a group of Itasca women in recent months.

"I want them to know how to serve a banquet dinner, not just chop suey," she explained.

HER 26 PUPILS come in groups of five or six, a class a day, and they eat their own cooking at a round table, built especially by George so they could dine in Chinese fashion with the food in the center and everyone serving himself.

One of these days the McElroys will be off to another post, with at least a brief stop at the home they maintain in Seattle, where Dorothy's father and stepmother also live. Her Itasca friends wish that time would never come.

"Dorothy has a rare ability," said one friend. "She makes us love one another, even those we otherwise might not care for."

Luncheon-Tour For Homemakers

A luncheon and conducted tour was on the agenda April 27 for members and guests of Palatine Homemaker's Extension Unit. After luncheon at Marina Towers, the tour began at the Design Center at the Towers and then continued on to Marshall Field's 13th floor.

On this floor the group viewed "behind the scenes" activities including procedures for window displays, Christmas displays and testing kithcens.

Cruise Sets Theme For Mothers' Tea

Mothers will be taken on a jet cruise Sunday, May 16, when the Lutheran church women hold their annual mother-daughter tea at the Lutheran Church of the Good Shepherd, Prospect Heights, at 3 p.m.

Previous teas, which took mothers and daughters to circuses, weddings and decades past, will be in sharp contrast to the current theme, "Motherhood Around the World," according to general chairman Mrs. Gus Stavros of Palatine.

SAID MRS. STAVROS, "We'll actually be seeing more than our astronauts as we depart from an international airport for "foreign shores" on our capsule trip. While we like to provide an element of surprise for those attending, we can promise our voyage will be a colorful one as we meet other mothers in native costumes and dress."

Assisting Mrs. Stavros are Mrs. Leonard Anglada and Mrs. William Wright, tickets; Mrs. Gerald Kiffel, refreshments; Mrs. Gilbert Lee, decorations; Mrs. George Felch, program. Men of the church will handle kitchen and serving details.

Mrs. Upham Retires From 'Home Bureau'

After 20 years of presenting lectures and lessons, instructing area women in a wide variety of crafts and hobbies, and acting as tour guide to them in visiting places of interest in Illinois and neighboring states, Mrs. Claradehl Upham, Cook County Home Adviser, is retiring.

Well known to hundreds of women belonging to "Home Bureau," Mrs. Upham now hopes to have more time for her own hobbies and also expects to do some traveling on her own, including a trip to Europe later this year.

Included in the round of parties given for Mrs. Upham were a dinner at Henrici's in Oak Brook which was attended by Cook County Homemakers and Cooperative Extension Personnel, a luncheon at the Palos Country Club and a tea in West Park Field House, Des Plaines.

A RESIDENT of Evergreen Park, Mrs. Upham spent much of her time working with the five Units in the Paddock area, Arlington Heights, Cook County, Elk Grove, Mount Prospect and Palatine.

Also retiring, after 15 years of service, is Mrs. Jessie Coulter, Associate Home Advisor, whose job it was to supervise the work of the many 4 - H groups in the county and to assist Mrs. Upham with the adult program and activities.

Mrs. Coulter was also honored at a surprise dinner at Henrici's before she and her husband left on a freighter cruise in the Caribbean. The Coulters who reside in Lake Zurich, enjoy traveling and are planning to do a lot of it in the years ahead.

Replacing Mrs. Upham will be Mrs. Evelyn Augustin, Assistant Home Advisor. Mrs. Augustin received her Bachelor's and Masters degrees from Syracuse University and just recently moved to Illinois from Michigan State University where she taught fodds and nutrition for six years.

Spring Health Tip

Suburbanites Are Warned To Beware of 'Tick' Bites

Suburbanites heading for the woods this spring could be headed for trouble — if they meet up with the tiny tick, advises the Illinois State Medical Society.

Each year, scores of unwary woods - walkers bitten by ticks contract a terrifying, frequently fatal disease called Spotted Fever. Up to 30 per cent of the victims die from the disease.

Spotted Fever — one of a family of serious ailments called Rickettsial diseases — begins with a severe rash, fever and cough. After the patient lingers in a state of weakness and apathy for some time, he develops delirium, convulsions, stupor and finally lapses into a coma. Death usually results from advanced brain damage and circulatory failure.

EVEN WHEN tick is not a carrier of Spotted Fever, it is dangerous. Its venom is capable of causing another frequently fatal condition called "Tick Paralysis." Starting in the lower extremities, the paralysis slowly works up to the trunk, arms and finally the brain. Children are the most frequent victims.

Hardly bigger than a hangnail, ticks are six-legged when hatched and develop two more legs as they grow to adulthood. There are some ten varieties infesting almost every region in the world. Although the wood and dog ticks common to our area most frequently carry Spotted Fever, other varieties carry a host of Rickettsial diseases ranging from "nine mile fever" in the western United States to South American Spotted Fever in Brazil.

All ticks have one thing in common, however, — they are bloodsuckers. Most frequently they transmit disease by picking up the infecting organism from a rodent or other animal and carry it to man.

IF YOU ARE bitten by a tick, you'll know it. There is the familiar red swelling at the point of entry, followed by tiching and burning. Common sites of entry are the pubic region, armpits, and especially the scalp and back of the neck.

Your first impulse will be to pull out the tick vigorously—BUT RESIST THAT IMPULSE! You may succeed in removing the body, but invariably leave the venom-filled, germ - filled head to continue its dirty work.

The several accepted ways of removing ticks depend on immediate facilities — and pain tolerance.

1. Hold a lighted match or cigaret at the point of entry and burn it out.

2. Apply oil to the tick. This interferes with its respiration and thus, will bring about easy removal with gentle pulling.

3. Attempt to pull it out gently, without any preliminaries. With this approach, a tweezers is far more effective than fingers.

THUS FAR, no available antibiotic is effective against Spotted Fever. However, highly effective vaccines given by your doctor can impart complete immunity.

The only real way to avoid tick trouble is to avoid tick-infested woodlands. If you insist on answering nature's call to these areas, make certain you inspect your body for tick attachments every two hours. Above all, act IMMEDIATELY if you detect a tick bite.... first by attempting removal, second by checking with your doctor. As the old woodsman's warning so wisely puts it:

"Be quick with a tick — or you'll sure get sick."

Also on the agenda is a pledge service in connection with the budget for the coming year.

Mrs. T. Gordon Adams is president of the society. (S

Women Influencing Design of New Cars

Women importantly influence the design of American cars, advises a Ford Motor Company executive.

Paul F. Lorenz, vice president and general manager of the Lincoln - Mercury Division, told the annual meeting Tuesday of the Oak Park - River Forest Chamber of Commerce that women motorists tend to look upon the car as a utility like their familiar kitchen appliances.

"In their very practical approach to our product, women asked for the same things they wanted in their homes — comfort, ease of operation, reliability, economy and style," Lorenz said.

HE POINTED out that auto makers must build cars which appeal to women's "discriminating sense of small lines and color" and "their desire for the attractive, durable interiors we offer in today's car.

"While women did not invent such modern automotive features as automatic transmission and power steering — although one did patent the first windshield wiper — they can take primary credit for having motivated the development of these two most important aids as well as such other features as power seats, power windows and air conditioning," he said.

"The ladies also have had an important part in our efforts to reduce the amount of maintenance required to keep a car running."

The Detroit executive said that women account for a substantial portion of automobile sales.

"The number of licensed women drivers has increased by 25 per cent in the last four years alone," Lorenz noted. "And today women hold more than 40 per cent of all drivers licenses in the United States."

HE SAID that even though American automobiles are designed for mass appeal, some features are built in or offered "for women only."

He cited two features of the 1965 Mercury as examples — a suspended accelerator pedal which is more comfortable for drivers wearing high heels and an option offering rear doors which lock automatically when the car starts moving, important to mothers of young children.

"Your car is the second biggest investment — after housing —in your life," Lorenz said. "Many suburban wives spend more of their waking hours in the car than any place else except the kitchen. And most men spend more time in the car than anywhere except work."

St. Emily Society To Host Couples

The Altar and Rosary Society of St. Emily's Catholic Church, Mount Prospect, is inviting all couples of the area to its May 11 meeting at 8:30 p.m. at the church. The Rev. Walter Imbiorski will speak on "Sex in Marriage."

Fr. Imbiorski was ordained in 1951 at Mundelein and assigned as assistant at St. Francis of Assisi Church. In 1956 he was named by Cardinal Stritch as assistant to Msgrs. Egan and Quinn in the Christian Family and Cana Movements and in 1959 was assigned full time to this work. In 1959 he edited a Cana reference book on marriage for use by both priests and lay people. This book is now in use throughout the world.

HE HAS SPENT 3½ months giving Cana conferences in Japan and Korea, served on the advisory board of the National Family Life Bureau in Washington, D.C., and has written columns on family life for 43 newspapers.

This will be the final meeting of the year for St. Emily's society.

The church is located at 1400 E. Central Road, just east of Rand Road. Guests are asked to use the rear parking lot for easier access to the basement meeting hall. The entrance is on Horner Lane.

May Banquet To Be Held At Carousel

Rolling Meadows Junior Woman's Club will end the year with its annual May Banquet to be held May 10 at the Arlington Carousel Restaurant, Arlington Heights. Highlight of the evening will be a musical variety skit presented by the B.O.B. Players of Palatine.

The business portion of the evening will include the installation of the newly-elected treasurer, Mrs. John Murray; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Donald Carbon; and second vice president, Mrs. Charles Morgan.

Guests for the banquet will be Mrs. Martin J. Rauscher, new president of Seventh District; and Mrs. Dwane Blaine, new Seventh District Junior director. This will be the last business meeting until the club resumes in the fall.

Doctor Is Twin Club Speaker

Dr. Thad Xelowski, physiologist and medical doctor, will be the speaker at the May meeting of the Double Dydee Mothers of Twins Club. The date will be changed this month from the usual Thursday meeting to Wednesday, May 12, at 8 p.m. Members are invited to bring guests.

Preceding Dr. Xelowski's talk, a business meeting will be held at which time an election of next year's officers will take place.

The club, which meets at Lauterburg and Oehler Funeral Home, Arlington Heights, is open to all mothers of twins. Those interested may contact Mrs. Dale Bottom, 392-0676.

Church Society Sets Luncheon

The spring luncheon of Arlington Heights Free Church Women's Missionary Society will be held Saturday at the Old Spinning Wheel. "Springtime in Paris" is the theme.

A fashion show by Mr. Marty will be staged after the luncheon. Mrs. Derwin Anderson will be guest soloist.

Chairman Mrs. Julius Fliehler is assisted by Mrs. Robert Hansen, Mrs. Donald Chase, Mrs. Keith Graham and Mrs. Mary Sergey in planning the event.

Hobby Lobby Luncheon Is Just What Doctor Ordered

By DOLORES HAUGH

The sun is out and the urge is strong to get together with a few of the "girls" (and believe me, no matter how old they are they are girls). A little different idea for a lunch or brunch is just what the doctor ordered in place of the old-fashioned sulphur and molasses.

INVITATIONS

Use plain yellow note paper, and if you are artistic sketch or paint a picture or cut the letters H and L from cloth, paper, wallpaper or even a fancy paper napkin, making sure it is a print of some kind.

Inside write the following:

Everybody has a hobby,
If you don't, come anyway—
Cause there's going to be a luncheon,
Below's the time and day.
Bring part of a collection,
A painting or a quilt.
Any Hobby you may have
Keeps your spirit from a "wilt."

State time, day and ask that the guests RSVP and declare their hobbies so that if a person has more than one you may have as large a variety as possible. Collections may also be limited to a certain number.

PREPARATIONS

Be sure to have a number of card tables, and for fun and color use a different colored tablecloth on each, making sure they are solid and not prints. If you have to, buy a yard of 36 inch parcel material and pink the edges to make the card table covering.

As your guests arrive, make sure they can display their hobby to its best advantage. If you have time, accumulate bright, solid colored boxes and place them on contrasting colored tables so more items will be on display.

As the guests finish their "setting up," for a favor and take-home prize give each one a tiny, flower-bedecked notebook and pencil so they may make notes of the hobbies. This provides an excellent way of solving future birthday gifts, if these are mutual acquaintances and gives hobby-lovers new ideas to try out for themselves.

DECORATIONS

Make your table your hobby for the day and try your hand at a new kind of centerpiece or flower arrangement, but make it something new for you. Use a bright solid blue tablecloth and gay print napkins which may repeat the centerpiece.

If you are lucky enough to own an old quilt, use that or a large braided or hooked rug for the table covering. If you collect antiques, use them on the table as your hobby display and fill a pewter pitcher with bright tulips or dogwood blossoms. Again, be creative as you can be.

MENU AND ENTERTAINMENT

Try all new receipes, or if you have a friend whose hobby is fancy cookery, ask her to bring one of the courses or the dessert. It is amazing what hidden talent sometimes lies dormant or hidden from the view of a friend, and this luncheon may be quite revealing.

Try to have as many planned-ahead menu items as possible, as you will want to see and hear from each guest as to her hobby, how it started and when, also any interesting facts about any part of a collection.

Prizes may be awarded, through secret ballot, of course, for the most unusual, most original, prettiest, etc. Give each one a "Prize Check." This is not money, but you will award them a tiny item to "go with" their respective hobbies, such as a new button for a button collector, a tube of white oil paint for an artist, etc.

So lobby for a new and different luncheon — and get your Hobby Horse going on a gallop for an afternoon that is different, informative and most important of all FUN-FUN-FUN. (S

Fruited Specialties Forte of Former Nurse

PREPARING THE ingredients for one of her specialties, a tangy fruit souffle salad, is Mrs. Arnise A. Basil of Arlington Heights. This recipe and another of her favorites, peachy orange fluff in cream puffs, appear in the adjoining column as well as in the new RN Cookbook currently being sold by members of Arlington Heights Nurses' Club. Recipes Appear In RN Cookbook

by LOIS SEILER

A molded salad that is souffle-like in texture with a tantalizing flavor is the favorite recipe of Mrs. Arnise A. Basil of Arlington Heights. This is one of her specialties which appears in the Arlington Heights Nurses' Club's new cook book.

"We all submitted our favorites," said Mrs. Basil, a former nurse, "so the book is chuck-full of fine kitchen tested recipes."

Her salad combines lime or lemon jello with mayonnaise, which gives it its tangy flavor, and these ingredients are whipped together for a light and fluffy texture.

The fruit combination of your choice (such as fruit cocktail) and chopped nuts are added to the mixture and the mold is chilled until firm. "This salad can be served for a luncheon or dinner," Mrs. Basil commented, "and goes especially well with chicken or beef."

HER INTEREST in cooking and in the philanthropic endeavors of the nurses' club combined to make Lucille Basil a tireless worker for the club's newest money raising project, the cookbook.

As a member of the cookbook committee, she and other committee members worked for seven months in compiling all the favorite recipes of local nurses — turned homemakers. The amount exceeded 250 recipes.

"We also included contributions from several celebrities," said Mrs. Basil. Among these she mentioned Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Mrs. Otto Kerner and Lee Phillip.

Another of Mrs. Basil's specialties which is featured in the RN Cookbook is a delicious dessert. Cream puffs form the basis for this delicacy. Scooped out, they are filled with sliced peaches and a fluffy orange custard. The custard is also used as a topping for the puffs.

A LIGHT dessert, it is excellent to serve after a heavy meal or for bridge parties.

In addition to her [illegible] ipation in the nurses' club, Mrs. Basil [illegible] a Scout leader for 11 years, is a member of St. James Women's Guild and she and her husband belong to St. James Canasta Club. She has also been active in volunteer work at Clearbrook School.

The Basils live at 427 S. Windsor in Arlington Heights. They have a daughter, Joanne, 17, a senior at Prospect High School, who won the Rotary Tip Top Teen award in 1964.

TANGY FRUIT SOUFFLE SALAD

1 package lemon or lime jello
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup hot water
½ cup cold water
2 tablespoons lemon juice
½ cup mayonnaise
1½ to 2 cups any fruit combination and chopped nuts.

Dissolve jello and salt in hot water. Add cold water, lemon juice and mayonnaise. Blend well with a beater.

Pour into a refrigerator freezing tray and quick chill in freezing unit 15 to 20 minutes. Should be firm one inch from the edge but soft in the center.

Pour mixture into a bowl and whip with an egg beater until fluffy. Fold in fruit and nuts.

Pour into a one-quart mold; chill in refrigerator until firm. Unmold on greens. Serves 4 to 6.

PEACHY ORANGE FLUFF IN CREAM PUFFS

Cream Puffs:

½ cup butter or margarine
1 cup water
1 cup flour
4 eggs

Sift flour and measure.

Place butter and water in a saucepan and bring to a boil. When mixture boils, add flour. Reduce heat and cook until thick, stirring constantly until mixture gathers into a mass.

Remove from stove and add eggs, one at a time. Beat hard after each addition.

Drop by spoonsful onto greased cookie sheet to make 12 puffs. Bake at 400 degrees for 50 minutes.

Upon removing from oven, take a sharp knife and slit small hole in base of puff to prevent falling. When cool remove top and scoop out excess insides of cream puff to make room for filling.

Orange Fluff:

2 beaten eggs
¼ cup sugar
¼ cup orange juice
¾ cup lemon juice
½ cup heavy cream, whipped
2 cups, drained, sliced peaches (fresh or canned)
6 cream puffs with tops removed

Combine beaten eggs and sugar. Blend in juices. Cook over hot, not boiling, water until thickened, stirring constantly. Chill. Fold in whipped cream.

Place peaches in the puffs, which have been scooped out. Cover with half of the orange custard. Put tops on puffs and pour remaining custard over. Serves 6. (SH

HOW IT BEGAN

You might think that the detachable collar was invented by someone in the guillotine business, but actually it was thought up by a woman in Troy, N. Y.

Her husband, a blacksmith, soiled so many collars she didn't know what to do. Finally, she detached them.

Today at least 25 different styles of shirts and collars are offered by famous brand manufacturers.

So—you thought Marlene Dietrich invented the trench-coat.

True, she did a lot for it, but it was actually created during World War I for the officers inspecting trenches—and it soon became a symbol of authority.

Today's leading manufacturers are masters at creating rainwear to suit anyone—in or out of the trenches.

Would you mind wearing a tie half as much if you thought it was a protection against what ails you?

In the 17th century, soldiers started wearing long strips of muslin or lace tied at their throats as a magic protection for their heart.

THIS STYLE was introduced into "polite" society by Louis XIV, not for protection, but for decoration.

Today, brand names conscious apparel manufacturers vie with each other to offer a selection of ties that would have dazzled the court of King Louis. (SH

Meat Ball Tidbits

Miniature meat balls are appetizing as a party snack. Season one pound of ground beef with one teaspoon of salt and an eighth teaspoon of pepper.

Mold the meat mixture around stuffed olives or pickled onions. Bake in a shallow pan in a slow oven (300 degrees) 20 minutes.

Leftover Meats Form Croquettes

Cone-shaped croquettes are one of the most attractive ways of serving leftover meats. They offer a delightful change from hash or reheated slices of meat in gravy.

"But I don't want to spend all that time frying them," says the homemaker.

It isn't necessary to fry them. They can be rolled, after shaping, in melted bacon drippings, butter or margarine and then in fine, dry bread crumbs and baked.

This recipe will work out with leftovers from any cooked roast be it beef, veal, lamb or pork. Grated raw carrots add good texture and color to the cooked, ground meat.

OVEN MEAT CROQUETTES

2 cups ground cooked beef, veal, lamb or pork
1 cup grated raw carrots
1 cup soft bread crumbs
¼ cup finely chopped onion
1 egg, beaten
1 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper
Bacon drippings, butter or margarine
Dry bread crumbs

Combine ground meat, carrots, bread crumbs, onion, egg, salt and pepper. Mix well. Divide mixture into 6 parts and shape into croquettes.

Roll in melted bacon drippings, butter or margarine, then in dry bread crumbs, coating lightly.

Place on a cooky sheet and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for 40 minutes. Four to six servings. (SH

Suburban Living

Especially for Women

For Lasting Beauty

Mother's Day Blooms Require Proper Care

Flowers again are expected to be the number one gift this Mother's Day, 1965. Whether a bouquet of cut flowers, a corsage or potted plant is the choice of the giver, they can become gifts of lasting beauty if given proper care.

Especially for "her day" this Sunday, May 9, the Allied Florists Association has released the following hints to help mother prolong the life of all types of fresh blooms.

If not already arranged in water in a vase, cut flowers need attention as soon as received. Place flowers deeply in hot water in a cool room. Heated water, as hot as your hand will stand comfortably, is now recommended instead of cold water for practically all cut flowers.

DRAFTS AND HOT air from registers or radiators should be avoided; if flowers are arranged in "foam" substance by florist, be careful to maintain proper water level.

When cutting rose stems to arrange your bouquet, use a sharp knife, not scissors, and make a diagonal cut. Bulbous spring flowers, such as daffodils, tulips and irises, will keep well in only three or four inches of water if cut above the white base of the stem.

Mother's Day carnations in a bouquet are best handled like roses, and snapdragons should be defoliaged below the water line. Flowering stocks and gladiolas absorb a great deal of water and need deep immersion.

A LITTLE CARE will keep a corsage fresh for a second wearing on Monday. Simply dunk the flowers in cold water once or twice, then shake off the excess; wrap in tissue and refrigerate. If it's an orchid, remove the florists tape and plunge stem in water until you wear the corsage again. A half-pint bottle will keep the stem immersed and the bloom supported out of water.

Keep the orchid corsage in a cool place, 50 to 55 degrees, where there is plenty of moisture in the air. In the household refrigerator, the warmest part of it, but never exposed to hot dry air.

Gardenias are seasonable for Mother's Day, and their longer life calls for a place in the refrigerator, but be sure the corsage goes back into the florists' delivery box while reviving in the cooler. Wrap the bloom in moist cotton to keep its dewy freshness.

THE POTTED hydrangea is a "water" plant and requires constant, ample watering every day. An excellent method is to dunk the plant in a pail of water after removing the florists' wrap. Water should be at the level of the top of the pot; leave it there until no more air bubbles are coming to the top.

Before re-wrapping, be sure that all excess water has been drained off through the hole at the bottom of the pot.

Your potted rose plant or azalea does not need quite as much water as the hydrangea, but should be kept amply moist. A good test is to poke a finger into the top of the soil. If it seems dry or hard it needs water.

The same watering procedure as the hydrangea and, again, be sure the excess water has drained off. (S

Sorority Activities

Luncheon, Information Party Next on Panhellenic Calendar

PANHELLENIC

Two special events on the Panhellenic calendar for May are attracting attention of sorority alumnae in the northwest suburbs.

MRS. WILBUR PAYNE

The final luncheon of the season for Chicago Northwest Suburban Panhellenic Association is set for 12:30 p.m. on Thursday, May 13, at Arlington Carousel Restaurant, Rohlwing Road and Euclid, Arlington Heights. Sunday, May 16, the group will entertain high school senior girls of District 214 and their mothers at the annual sorority information party in Pioneer Park.

Preceding the May 13 luncheon, new officers of Northwest Suburban Panhellenic Council will be installed at a 10 a.m. ceremony. Delegates and alternates fro meach of the organized sorority alumnae groups in the area will then be introduced and plans for the summer and fall discussed.

Sorority women wishing to attend are asked to call Mrs. Verne Whitnell, CL 3-1150, or Mrs. Robert Gilmore, 381-0958, by May 10 for reservations.

Any District 214 girls unable to attend the May 16 affair in Pioneer Park are invited to the party at Maine West's Faculty Lounge the following Sunday, according to Mrs. Splittorff.

Modern Tonic for Spring—Slim Dandy Citrus Salad

Not so long ago, grandma used to treat the young 'uns to odd tonics with the advent of spring to get them in shape. Modern grandmas, and their daughters, too, know much more these days about nutrition and foods to promote glowing health.

We also know that what's good for you can also taste mighty good, too.

One delicious item that perfectly fits that description and one that should be at the top of your weekly shopping list, is Florida citrus fruits. Florida oranges and grapefruit are high in pure, valuable vitamin C, needed by grandmas and granddaughters alike in the daily diet.

THE FRUITS contain plenty of food value, but they're low in calories, so you can eat them three times a day and even between meals, too, without worrying much about the calorie count.

A fresh whole orange is much better for you than a candy bar or a piece of chocolate cake; a tall glass of chilled orange juice —or "OJ" on the rocks—is better than a carbonated soft drink or a synthetic mix.

Another delightful way to enjoy fresh Florida oranges and grapefruit is in a salad. Plump grapefruit sections and juicy orange slices make a pretty combination served with a scoop of cottage cheese and a handful of strawberries.

HERE'S A dieter's salad that not only looks good enough to eat — it is! Plump Florida grapefruit sections and Valencia orange slices make an attractive platter served with cottage cheese and strawberries. (SH

SPRING SALAD

Chill Florida grapefruit and oranges before preparing. Cut off slice from top. Cut off peel in strips from top to bottom, cutting deep enough to remove white membrane.

Then cut slice from bottom. Go over fruit again, removing any remaining white membrane. For grapefruit, cut along side of each dividing membrane from outside to middle of core. Remove sections. For oranges, cut into ¼-inch slices.

Arrange on salad greens; serve with strawberries and cottage cheese. (SH

Young America Bakes Brioche Cheese Ring

Brioche is a yeast-raised bread rich in eggs and shortening. It takes many forms in France, the most common being little rolls with cocky "top hats" and fluted, sloping sides.

Less familiar to us but very popular in France is a Swiss cheese-flavored brioche known as "gannat." Shredded Swiss cheese is mixed into the dough, which is baked in a ring mold. "Gannat" or Brioche Cheese Ring makes a handsome offering indeed, its pleasing flavor and lightness belying its richness.

BRIOCHE CHEESE Ring is not nearly as difficult as it sounds when done over a two-day period. The rich yeast batter is mixed one day and refrigerated overnight; it is shaped and baked the next day.

No kneading is required; chilling makes the dough easier to handle. The cheese ring should be served slightly warm as a luncheon or dinner bread; slices may be lightly toasted and used as canape bases.

BRIOCHE CHEESE RING
(Makes one 9-inch ring)

- ¼ cup warm water (105 to 115 degrees)
- 1 package or cake yeast, active dry or compressed
- 2 cups unsifted flour
- 4 teaspoons sugar
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 3 eggs
- ½ cup (1 stick) margarine melted
- ¼ pound Swiss cheese, shredded

Measure warm water into large warm bowl. Sprinkle or crumble in yeast; stir until dissolved. Add ½ cup flour and mix well.

Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 20 minutes.

COMBINE remaining flour, sugar, and salt; stir in eggs and beat until smooth. Stir in melted margarine; add yeast mixture and beat thoroughly. Stir in shredded cheese.

Punch down; cover with wax paper and damp towel; refrigerate overnight.

SHAPE refrigerated dough into a roll to fit a greased 9-inch ring mold; place in pan. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour.

Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees) about 45 minutes, or until golden and done. Remove from pan, let cool slightly on wire racks. Serve slightly warm, sliced.

Recipe by Fleischmann Yeast. (SH

Bacon 'n Potatoes

If the family likes creamed potatoes, then add a special touch to them with cooked, crumbled bacon, just before serving.

CALLED "GANNAT" in France, Brioche Cheese Ring is a Swiss cheese-flavored yeast bread that makes an ideal accompaniment for chef's salad luncheons.

Sunglow Salad

EMPHASIZE THE lighter mood in menus by serving salads as a main dish. Sunglow meat salad satisfies the need for protein using salami and bologna, cut julienne style.

Salad days are here again!

Of course, salads are on the menu year around, but the main dish salad around which meals are built usually comes into its own during spring.

These are the meaty salads which need only a hot bread, beverage and dessert to complete the menu.

SUNGLOW SALAD is one of the simplest salads to put together because it's easy to assemble the ready-to-serve meats which may be purchased sliced and need only to be cut in strips.

Either a sharp knife and cutting board or a pair of kitchen shears may be employed for this purpose.

For supper or lunch on a warm night, serve it with cornbread squares, butter and orange marmalade, a beverage and ice cream or fruit for dessert.

SUNGLOW MEAT SALAD

- 6 to 8 ounces sliced salami, cut in strips
- 6 to 8 ounces sliced bologna, cut in strips
- 2 cups cauliflower pieces
- 1 green pepper, cut in strips
- 1 teaspoon finely chopped onion
- ½ cup French dressing
- 1 cup orange sections
- Lettuce

Combine salami, bologna, cauliflower, green pepper, onion and dressing. Toss lightly and marinate in refrigerator 3 to 4 hours.

Add orange sections. Toss and serve on lettuce leaves. Four to 6 servings. (SH

Echo of Spring

Trees shoot forth delicate sprouts, gardens display color that's a promise of brilliance to come—all about us, nature blossoms forth in splendor after the dreary days of winter. And the gaiety of spring-into-spring is echoed on our tables.

Lemon asparagus mold with curry dressing is a salad triumph that emphasizes the glorious sunshine and carefree spirit of the season.

It glamorous appearance earmarks it for entertaining, as well as family meals though it is simplicity personified to make. The mold of asparagus in tangy jelly is studded with bright pimiento bits, while a smooth dressing with illusive undertones of curry highlights the refreshing flavor of the shimmering sald.

LEMON ASPARAGUS MOLD

- 2 3-oz. pkgs. lemon flavored gelatin
- 1½ cups boiling water
- 1½ cups cold water
- Hard-cooked egg wedges
- Pimiento
- Cooked asparagus spears
- Lettuce
- 1 cup salad dressing*
- 1 teaspoon curry powder

Dissolve gelatin in boiling water; add cold water. Arrange egg wedges and chopped pimiento in bottom of 1-quart mold. Add enough gelatin to cover; chill until slightly thickened.

Arrange asparagus and strips of pimiento around sides of mold; add remaining gelatin and chill until firm. Unmold on lettuce. Serve with Curry Dressing made by blending salad dressing and curry powder.

*Miracle Whip used in recipe. (SH

Strawberry Chiffon Pie Salutes Spring

Welcome Spring with a delicious new dessert that's lovely, light and luscious! Pretty pink strawberry filling swirls high in a crunchy pie crust of crushed vanilla wafer crumbs, flavored with mace and bordered by a scalloped edging of whole wafers.

Serve it as the main attraction at afternoon tea or a grand finale at family dinner. Either way, this easy no-bake pie will have guests calling for encores. And here's how to make it:

STRAWBERRY CHIFFON PIE

- 1¼ cups Sunshine Vanilla Wafer crumbs
- 3 tablespoons sugar
- ¼ teaspoon mace
- 6 tablespoons melted shortening
- Whole vanilla wafers
- 1 envelope gelatine
- ¼ cup cold water
- 4 eggs, separated
- ½ cup sugar
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1/8 teaspoon salt
- 1 package frozen sliced strawberries, 10 ounces, thawed
- 2 to 3 drops red vegetable coloring, optional

Roll wafers into fine crumbs between two pieces of waxed paper. Mix with 3 tablespoons sugar and mace; add melted shortening and blend well. Press mixture evenly and firmly over bottom and sides of 9-inch pie plate.

Press whole wafers on edge around sides for scalloped border. Refrigerate for about an hour. Sprinkle gelatine on cold water in small saucepan; stir over very low heat until dissolved; set aside to cool.

LIGHTLY BEAT egg yolks and place in top of double boiler with sugar, lemon juice and salt. Stir over hot, not boiling water, until sugar is dissolved and mixture thickens slightly.

Remove from hot water, stir in the thawed berries and coloring if desired. Blend in melted and cooled gelatine; chill, stirring occasionally, until mixture is the consistency of unbeaten egg whites.

Meanwhile, beat egg whites until stiff but not dry; gently fold into chilled gelatine mixture and pour into chilled crumb shell. Refrigerate at least 2 hours before serving.

Yield: 6 servings. (SH

Pumpkin Pie Spice Boasts Many Uses

This year's winner of the $25,000 Pillsbury Bake-Off is a "Peacheesy Pie," which calls for pumpkin pie spice.

For those who are not familiar with this product, the American Spice Trade Association Association explains that it is a blend of spices which is readily available in all major spice brands today.

As the name implies, it was invented to make the spicing of pumpkin pie quick and convenient. It consists of a delightful mingling of cinnamon, cloves and ginger, with emphasis on the latter, since ginger is a natural with pumpkin and squash.

WHILE THERE are hundreds and probably thousands of family recipes for pumpkin pie, the best ones, ever since the discovery of this early American delicacy, have called for a well balanced mixture of ginger, cinnamon and cloves.

Just because it's the ideal spice blend for pumpkin pie doesn't mean it's not a lovely fragrance for many other dishes.

Use it in spiced cakes and cookies—about 1½ teaspoonsful per two cups of flour used. Sprinkle sugar and pumpkin pie spice over buttered toast for a breakfast treat. Mix it with the sugar for apple, pear and fruit pies. Dust baked winter squash halves with pumpkin pie spice or add it to mashed sweetpotatoes. It's great, too, in certain sweet toppings for baked ham.

You can create as you go when you use this blend of many purposes, used here for two new recipes Icebox Cookies and Spice Loaf.

PUMPKIN PIE SPICE ICEBOX COOKIES

- 2/3 cup soft butter or margarine
- 1 teaspoon pure vanilla extract
- 1½ teaspoons pumpkin pie spice
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 large egg
- 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
- 1½ teaspoons double-acting baking powder
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1 cup finely chopped walnuts

Cream butter or margarine with pure vanilla extract and pumpkin pie spice until light. Gradually add sugar and beat until light and fluffy. Add egg and beat well.

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt and stir into creamed mixture until well mixed. Stir in walnuts. Turn batter onto lightly floured board, divide in half and shape each half into a roll about 7 inches long.

Wrap each roll in saran or foil and refrigerate overnight. Cut into ¼-inch slices and arrange 2 inches apart on ungreased cooky sheets. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (375 degrees) 12 to 15 minutes or until edges are browned.

Remove to racks to cool. Yield: Approximately 4½ dozen.

PUMPKIN PIE SPICE LOAF CAKE

- 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
- 2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 2/3 cup soft butter or margarine
- 1 teaspoon pure vanilla extarct
- 1½ teaspoons pumpkin pie spice
- 1 1/3 cups sugar
- 3 large eggs
- 2/3 cup milk

Sift together first 3 ingredients and set aside. Cream butter or margarine with vanilla extract and pumpkin pie spice until light. Gradually add sugar and beat until light and fluffy.

Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Add sifted dry ingredients alternately with milk, beginning and ending with flour. Blend well after each addition. Turn into a greased and lightly floured 9 x 5 x 3-inch loaf pan.

Bake in a preheated moderate oevn (350 degrees) for 65 minutes or until wooden cake tester inserted in the center comes out clean. Remove to rack and let stand 10 minutes.

Meats Marinated

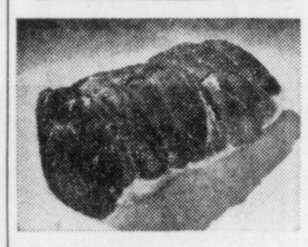
Meats are marinated in a variety of sauces before broiling or grilling. Meats, fruits and vegetables are marinated in dressing for salad.

The term, marinate, confuses many homemakers.

TO MARINATE means simply to allow to stand in a liquid mixture. This mixture usually contains vinegar, lemon juice, pineapple juice or other tart liquid. Seasonings are usually an important part of the liquid, as in a barbecue sauce or salad dressing.

By marinating in this mixture, meat and other foods will take on flavors from it.

In some cases, less tender cuts of meat are marinated for several hours or overnight in a mixture which contains some acid like vinegar or lemon juice. This has some tenderizing effect on the meats.



Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?

A. Beef rolled rump.

Q. Where does it come from? How is it identified?

A. It comes from the rump section of beef, right next to the sirloin section. The bones have been removed and the meat has been rolled and tied with string.

Q. How is it prepared?

A. If beef rump roast is of high quality, it can be roasted. That means placing it on a rack in an open pan, fat side up.

Neither add water, nor cover it. Roast in a slow oven (300 to 325 degrees) until the roast meat thermometer registers 150 to 170 degrees F., depending upon the degree of doneness desired.

BEEF ROLLED rump weighs between four and six pounds, and 25 to 30 minutes per pound should be allowed for roasting time.

If there's any question about tenderness, beef rolled rump may be braised. Brown the meat in its own fat or lard or drippings.

Pour off drippings, season and add a small amount of liquid. Cover tightly and cook slowly 3 to 4 hours or until tender. (SH

Simmering Method

Certain cuts of meat are best when cooked by simmering in water.

These include corned beef (brisket) and tongue and are cooked in water to cover. It's interesting to add extra special flavor during the cooking.

For example, 1 lemon, sliced, 2 onions, sliced, 6 whole cloves, 6 whoel peppers and a stick of cinnamon bark added to pickled tongue while it cooks enhances the flavor of this cut. (SH

Sausage Links

Pork sausage links are tastiest when cooked so they're plump and juicy.

That's why you add 2 to 3 tablespoons of cold water to the frying-pan with the links, cover tightly and simmer for about 10 minutes.

Remove the cover and brown the sausage slowly. This not only cooks the meat thoroughly but gives it a plump appearance.

Ground Beef

During 1964, 2.7 billion pounds of ground beef were consumed in this country alone. This comes to almost 15 pounds per person.

What cuts of meat does the retailer use in making ground beef?

He has several available to him, usually less-tender cuts like chuck, brisket, short plate, shank, flank and round are used for grinding.

Grinding cuts the fibers and thus makes ground beef tender enough for broiling, panbroiling, frying or roasting (baking) as meat loaf.

Deviled Eggs A Natural On First Family Outing

Deviled eggs are as beloved an item in the American food lexicon as the chocolate soda, hamburger and apple pie. They make marvelous appetizers at cocktail time, with tomato juice and salad greens, and of course are as familiar at picnics as the ants!

There is something so appealing about the salty, peppery taste of the yolk mixture combined with deviled ham, mayonnaise, mustard and Tabasco liquid red pepper seasoning—who can refuse one or two, or even three?

With eggs so plentiful and economical now, you might even go to four.

French Fried Liver

Liver, fried in deep hot lard, heated to 375 degrees is one of the most delectable ways to serve this variety meat.

Have the liver sliced thin, wash it with cold water and dry thoroughly.

Before frying, cut it with kitchen shears into strips about 3/8-inch wide. Dip the pieces in seasoned flour for a light coating then fry in deep, hot lard.

Time Saver

When cutting ready-to-serve, cooked sliced meat into strips (julienne-style) or in cubes, stack several slices together and cut through them with a well-sharpened knife.

Use a firm surface like a cutting board so that meat does not slip.

HAM AND EGGS are such a natural, too, so try this simple recipe using Tabasco for spicy flavor just as you would in preparing scrambled, poached or boiled eggs. Tabasco enhances the bland flavor of eggs like no other seasoning on your staple shelf.

Enjoy deviled eggs at home or wrap them carefully and tote along on picnics, beach and boating parties. Use a cardboard egg carton when you take hard-cooked or deviled eggs on an outing.

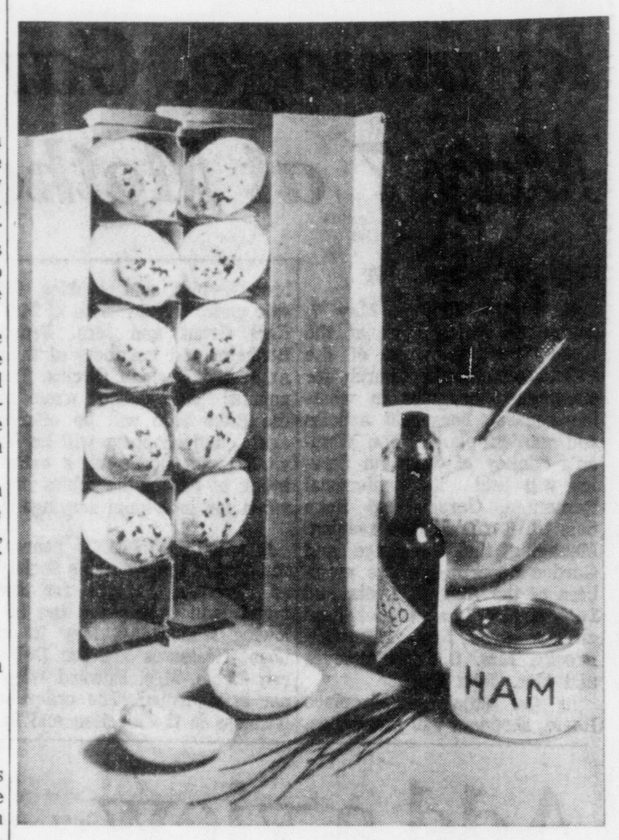
HAM DEVILED EGGS

- 8 hard-cooked eggs
- 1 can (4½ ounces) deviled ham
- ¼ cup mayonnaise
- ½ teaspoon dry mustard
- ½ teaspoon Tabasco
- Chives, finely cut (optional)

Shell eggs; cool. Halve eggs lengthwise. Carefully remove yolks; mash or press through a sieve. Add remaining ingredients and beat until fluffy. Refill whites. If desired, garnish with chives.

Yield: 8 servings. (SH



SAVE THE CARTON to repack deviled eggs to take on your first outing. Seasoned with spicy Tabasco, the yolk mixture contains deviled ham, mayonnaise and mustard, sprinkled with chives. (SH

John G. Metsig Makes Dawn Tucker His Bride

An area couple, Dawn Tucker of Arlington Heights and John Gregory Metsig of Prospect Heights, were united in marriage April 10 in St. Alphonsus Catholic Church, with Rev. Edward O'Brien officiating. The noon rites were followed by a dinner for 75 guests at Hapsburg Inn, Des Plaines.

It was a busy afternoon for members of the Women's Auxiliary of Northwest Community Hospital when they held their annual spring luncheon meeting recently. A unique part of the afternoon was a hat fashion show narrated by Norma Barnes, director of volunteers. For this show, hats were made by volunteers who modeled hats patterned after the hospital department they represented.

Also on the program, planned by Mrs. Robert L. Lockwood of Palatine, chairman, and Mrs. Ronald Cook of Rolling Meadows, were the Atcher Family Singers, composed of Maggie and Bob Atcher and their daughters, Cecily, 10, and Christy, 12.

During the business portion of the afternoon, at which Mrs. Ralph E. Clabaught, president presided, several announcements were made and six members were elected to the nominating committee. Included in the announcements were the naming of a new chairman for the group's Seventh Running Luncheon and Fashion Show to be held Sept. 14 at the Classic Club at the Post and Paddock of Arlington Park Jockey Club. The former chairman, Mrs. H. E. Baker of Palatine, is moving to New York, and taking over her chairmanship is Mrs. A. J. Daley of Mount Prospect.

MISTRESS OF ceremonies for the annual fashion show will be Lee Phillip of CBS-TV, and fashions will be from Bramson's of Chicago.

Mrs. Jack Hughes, Cook Book Chairman, announced that "Calculated Risks," the Auxiliary cook book, is now in its second printing and that 2000 books had been sold in six months. Announcement was also made by Mrs. J. W. Norenberg of a Christmas card project.

Elected to the nominating committee from the membership at large were Mrs. William Petersen and Mrs. Richard Wackher of Palatine, Mrs. Donald Knox of Arlington Heights, Mrs. Otto Bouc of Mount Prospect, Mrs. R. F. Grisson of Inverness and Mrs. Eldon W. Simpson of Barrington.

Three board members, Mrs. Thomas E. Lindsey of Arlington Heights, Mrs. Edwin C. Bruning of Palatine and Mrs. John K. Hart of Rolling Meadows, had previously been approved by the board to serve on this committee, making a total of nine members. (S

MOUNT EMBLEM

"Illinois' Most Beautiful Cemetery"
Site of the
OLD DUTCH MILL
Built in 1850

The DuPage County Historical Society presented an AWARD OF HONOR to MOUNT EMBLEM CEMETERY in 1956 for preserving the Old Dutch Mill as an educational and historic exhibit.

Visitors to the Old Dutch Mill are always welcome.

Autumn brings a glorious burst of color to the superb landscape of Mount Emblem. This is one of Nature's most impressive moments which we invite you to enjoy.

You will see acre upon acre of multi-colored effects from our great variety of trees and shrubs each lending its particular hue to the scene.

For such extensive landscaping you could reasonably expect to pay more. Yet our prices are moderate. It costs no more to own the best.

"It is better to have it and not need it—than to need it and not have it."

Meat garnish: top thick slices of tomato with chopped ripe olives, shredded American cheese and a little mayonnaise. Broil until bubbly.

Turkey Garnish: chill pear halves (fresh or canned) in orange juice, then drain and fill with cranberry relish.

Itasca Author Hard at Work on Second Book

Her First One In 4th Printing

By JOAN LORENSON
Staff Writer

"You're right smart to string all those words together," a Texas farmer wrote an Itasca author.

"Could you tell me what to do about the potato bugs eating my plants?" he added.

Helen Tann Aschmann, 901 North St., Itasca, could not answer the farmer's question about bugs as she wrote him she had plenty of trouble with her own garden. But this is just one kind of letter she has received since Dodd Mead Publishing Co. published her book about Julia Cole, a woman doctor and her struggles to gain acceptance in a man's profession.

Having a book published gives a writer self-confidence, Mrs. Aschmann has found. People also are more willing to see someone who has been published and this makes any research work easier.

But the writing itself is just as hard work, the winner of a $2,000 Dodd Mead teacher and librarian award in 1963, said ruefully. Already her publisher is nagging her about the deadline of her second book, a children's mystery set in peony-growing country.

She tries to preserve weekday mornings for writing. Friends are conditioned to know the ring of a telephone in the house on the quiet dead-end street in residential Itasca will bring no answer at this time.

"YOU HAVE TO spend time as a miser," Mrs. Aschmann said. This proves difficult in a small town where involvement in community life is expected. The publishing company expects a certain amount of its authors' time spent in publicizing their books. It would be easy to be sidetracked from writing if she allowed the lecture circuit to take her time, said Mrs. Aschmann.

Any husband somewhat resents the time a book takes from a wife's life. Mrs. Aschmann tries not to let her writing interfere with her family life. She abstains from writing weekends when her husband who is in the lumber business is at home. Her two children were grown before she tackled her first book.

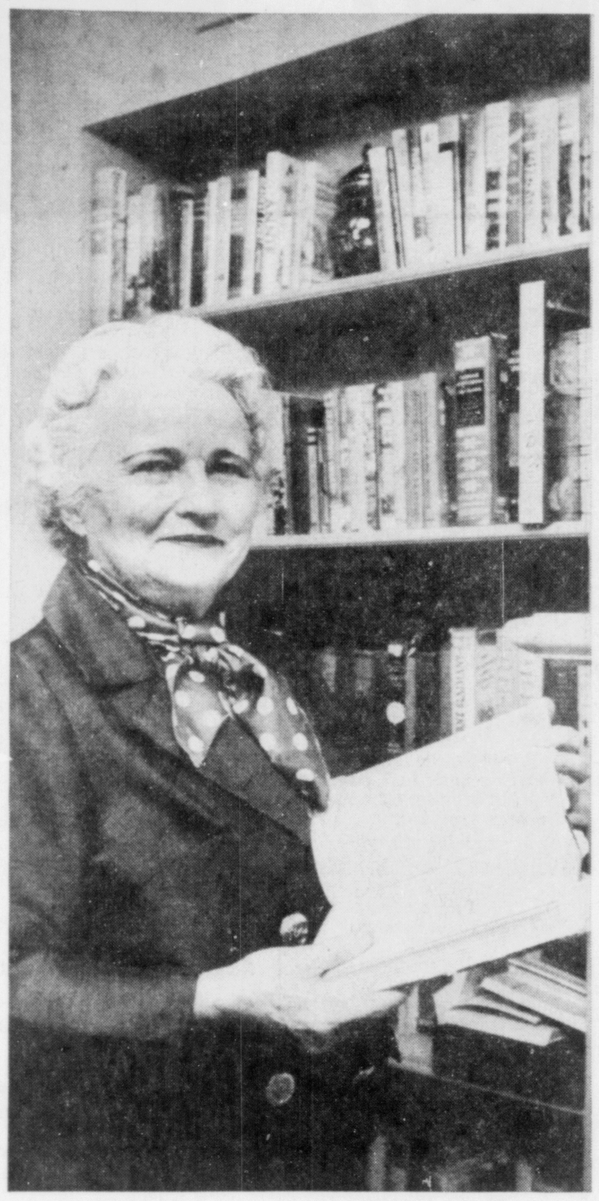
With interruptions such as a daughter's wedding the book took about 4½ years to complete.

She rewrote the first book about three times and the first chapter was reworked about 15 times until she could barely stand to read it in print, Mrs. Aschmann said. "You need an electric typewriter when you write thousands of words," she observed.

THE ANIMATED author does not believe she will have the one problem she encountered with her first book. She had to rewrite it, changing it from an adult to a teen-age book at the request of the publisher. She recalls the succinct telegram "Cool love scene on page 272" she received at one point. Communications with the publisher usually were in the form of special delivery letters and telegrams as the deadline pressed her.

The rule of no work on weekends had to be amended and her husband helped her read proofs during the summer before the book was released.

Once a publisher has bought a book, one of its staff editors is assigned to help the writer polish it. The editor practically is a collaborator, Mrs. Aschmann said.



AUTHOR HELEN Tann Aschmann of 901 E. North St., Itasca, already has her first book in its fourth printing. She is working on her second book, a children's mystery set in peony growing country. Dodd Mead Publishing Company has an option on her next three books. (Staff photo)

Completely untemperamental about her work, she found the editor often had the professional touch making a change completely right. "I told the editor I didn't care if she wanted to change the doctor to a one-legged ballet dancer," laughed Mrs. Aschmann.

PLOTTING IS always the most difficult part of writing, this vitally "involved" woman has found. This was true for the students she taught for seven years when she lectured in fiction at Northwestern University. "Truth is stronger than fiction and coincidence won't solve anything," she used to tell the students.

As a writer Mrs. Aschmann keeps clippings and files of material she considers might be helpful. She has a file on names for her characters and usually uses one unusual name for one of her people. "But you can't have more than one odd name in a book," she pointed out.

Another file gives her samples of dialogue. Often when she returns home, she will write a snatch of conversation she has heard.

In trying to hire a cleaning woman, she found the people responding to her advertisement gave her possible potential parts of characterization and idiom. One woman applicant confessed,"Honey, I'm a floater," and the bit went in the files.

"You're not accident-prone but incident - prone," Mrs. Aschmann's daughter once told her. Mrs. Aschmann admits to "a great curiosity about people." She has managed to meet different types in spite of living in a suburban setting.

WRITERS CANNOT be stereotyped, Mrs. Aschmann said. "But they're 'ambi-verts' — extroverts in that they like people and study them; introverts when they write since they must write alone."

Discipline comes hard to any writer. A bedroom converted to a study gives Mrs. Aschmann quiet surroundings. A corner window overlooks quiet green lawns, and provides few distractions but good light. One typewriter contains the manuscript on which she works while another can be used for writing parts and handling correspondence. Boxes of her research remain undisturbed.

Mrs. Aschmann prizes two things since she has published: a letter from the publisher telling her her first book was going into its fourth printing; and a letter from a blind girl telling of her eagerness for each chapter as Mrs. Aschmann's book is put into braille.

One of eight children, Mrs. Aschmann considers her "middle position" in the family pushed her to be a standout. "To be a writer and a homemaker, you have to have drive and compulsion."

LIFE FOR Mrs. Aschmann might have turned out differently if fate hadn't played a certain role. She might have been a lawyer if her ardor over a boyfriend hadn't caused her to miss the final test for a $4,000 college scholarship.

"That was one of the most expensive fashion shows I had," she recalls. She went to the track meet where her boyfriend was running and swaggered around in his letter sweater. As a result, she missed the final oral examination in American history and it went to her competitor by default.

She might have been on the stage, too, she reminisced, "because I have a lot of 'ham' in me." She recalled her first appearance when her brother, Willy, took her to perform at the Orpheum in Kansas City, the town where she was born and raised. Her brother had her sommersault and sing the "Star Spangled Banner" in order to get tickets to see the show.

During the performance, she lost her pleated skirt and finished with the bloomers made from flour sacks. She was a great hit.

But the key to her career seems to be the simple statement she makes, "I want to write more than talk." (A-15

Littelfuse Wins Industrial Design Award

Construction of the new award-winning plant was started in March, 1963. It houses all of the firm's sales, research, engineering, administration and manufacturing personnel. Total cost, including the 141 acres of land on which the plant was constructed, architectural, contracting and engineering cost, was estimated at $1,750,000 by Blake.

Littelfuse employs about 650 persons. (10BB

This is the second national award for "excellence" received by Littelfuse. In the past year it was honored by the Martin Co., Baltimore, Md., prime contractors to NASA for its role in supplying miniature fuses for the Gemini spacecraft of the Gemini Tital II space program.

IT ALSO received two golden stars representing its part in the recent successful ventures in space by the spacecrafts. Littelfuse is the only Illinois firm of 31 in the nation to receive these awards.

Among 'Top Ten' New Plants in 1964

Littelfuse Inc., Des Plaines maker of electronic and electrical circuit protection devices, was named as a winner of the "Top Ten" United States manufacturing plants of 1965 award.

The announcement was made to Thomas M. Blake, president of Littelfuse, by the annual contest's sponsor, Factory, the magazine of manufacturing. The winners were selected by the McGraw-Hill publication's editors from 6,000 entries. All plants were required to be all new, completed and put into operation in 1964. They were judged for overall excellence in planning and construction of manufacturing facilities.

Only 10 plants are chosen annually. This is the 31st year for the publication's presentation of these awards. Each winner receives a citation and an original Kent Day Coes watercolor of the plant.

FORMAL presentation of the publication's award to Littelfuse and the other nine winning plants will take place at a banquet in New York Wednesday, May 12. Speaker for the evening will be Gov. Donald Russell, of South Carolina.

Thomas Blake of Inverness, president of the electronics firm; Carl Teutsch of Mount Prospect, the architect, Teutsch-Lucas Associates, Chicago, and others from Littelfuse will be there to accept the award which represents the best in American industrial design today.

Realty Sales Rise Despite Weather

Despite inclement weather conditions which hampered real estate sales efforts, Baird & Warner's volume for the first quarter of 1965 showed a 2.84 per cent increase, according to John L. Hall, vice president and general sales manager.

Hall reported that sales for the first three months of this year totaled $17,288,867.

Transactions involving residential properties, including co-op apartments, increased from 388 to 393. The sale of apartment buildings with less than 12 units showed a decline of 56 per cent, while vacant land sales improved 50 per cent.

Hall predicted increased activity for the rest of 1965. Earlier in the year, a scarcity of exclusive listings existed in many sections of Chicagoland, he explained, and the demand for pre-owned housing could not be met. However, the availability of houses for sale has improved markedly as the second quarter began. (10BB

New Industrial Park Opened in Northbrook

Smith-Pipenhagen Inc. of Des Plaines, which operates Northwestern Industrial Park in Rolling Meadows and Central Wheeling Industrial Park in Wheeling, has formally opened another industrial park in Northbrook.

The 118-acre $15 million development, Northbrook Edens, is located at the confluence of Edens Expressway and the Tri State Tollway in Northbrook. It is the only major industrial park the entire length of Edens Expressway.

LAUNCHING of the park was made at a luncheon at which the owners - developers hosted 65 industrial contractors, architects and bankers.

R. J. Kittredge Co. of Peoria, printers and lithographers since 1886, already is building a 48,000 square foot one-story building in the industrial park which it expects to occupy some time in August.

Arthur Pipenhagen, executive vice president, said several other land deals are being negotiated.

THE NEW PROJECT is the fourth major industrial effort for Smith-Pipenhagen. Besides the parks in Rolling Meadows and Wheeling, it also has the 11-acre Algonquin - Busse subdivision near Des Plaines.

M. Edward Smith, the firm's president, has been in the mortgage and real estate business for the last 39 years. Since 1945 he has had his own firm, specializing in land acquisition and industrial and residential subdivision development. He also has done considerable work in appraising and court testimony in condemnation and zoning.

He is a director of the Illinois Association of Real Estate Boards and past president of the Northwest Suburban Board of Realtors.

Pipenhagen, a lawyer, has a background in finance, spending many years in corporate finance and management. He entered the real estate field when he headed a large national mortgage company and subsequently a prefabricated home manufacturing firm. This led to home building and shopping center development. Copy Truckers' Driving Habits

Motorists could make the nation's highways safer if they drove with the same care that truck drivers do, an insurance executive said this week.

"Every driver could take a lesson from the safe driving habits the trucking industry has developed," commented Carl F. Krieg, regional manager, of the Allstate Insurance Companies.

"The truckers' outstanding driving record is the result of training, courtesy, alertness and sound judgment—factors that many automobile drivers frequently ignore."

VETERAN TRUCK drivers offer these tips for safe driving:

1. Keep your car in peak operating condition and check it regularly.
2. Never exceed posted speed limits and adjust your driving to road, weather and traffic conditions.
3. Avoid tailgating and yield the right of way whenever necessary.
4. Be equipped for emergencies—carry emergency equipment and a first aid kit.

"Truck drivers obey these rules," said Krieg, "and have an outstanding driving record. The nation's traffic accidents could be sharply reduced if all drivers followed their example." (15BB

Three Become Senior VP's At Chicago Ad Firm

Three executives of Compton Advertising, Inc., of Chicago, all residents of the Paddock area, have been named senior vice presidents with the firm.

Two are Palatine residents: Charles F. Mikuta, 1703 W. Durham Drive; and Andrew E. Zeis, 2269 Westwood Lane. The third man is Lawrence D. Senten of 127 S. Lancaster St., Mount Prospect.

In revealing the promotions, Dean Landis, Compton executive vice president, hailed the three for making important contributions to Compton's growth as the fifth largest ad agency in Chicago. (10BB

Country Club Attracts Buyers to Long Grove

Definite attraction to builders of homes in Long Grove Country Club Estates in the southwest outskirts of Long Grove is the golfing and other facilities of the neighboring Long Grove Country Club.

The club is housed in a large, classically-styled building with dining room and other service and entertainment features. Among these are four new bowling alleys in the basement of the main clubhouse and a large swimming pool and the bathouse on the grounds nearby.

Membership in the club which includes golfing and other privileges is offered at several levels of participation, including full and part-time memberships and a family plan which has special appeal for residents of the adjacent Estates.

Developer Bob Anderson reports that the golf course, winding over 7,000 yards through the all-residential community, continues to be a major attraction. Many of the 270 homesites border upon, or overlook, the fairways. Others offer a picturesque view of one of the five small lakes spotted through the area.

No homesite in Long Grove Country Club Estates is less than an acre in size. Landscaping for each home is encouraged to follow and preserve the natural foliage and land contours.

Anderson said, "The people who choose to build and live here, we believe, place a premium value upon natural beauty. They want their families to grow up with it, to share in it and appreciate it. That's why we encourage the design of our special kind of home — with the room and comfort, and pleasing style, to fit the natural appeal of Long Grove Estates."

Typical of the individual, complementary home designs encouraged among residents of the community is Anderson's own home. The rambling ranch overlooks Yankee Lake and the seventh fairway of the golf course.

In arrangement, the home is of general L-layout, with two main wings and a couple of "stubs." Use of window and wall area suggests sweeping comfort, plenty of room. Exposed beams and pronounced roof overhang add dramatic interest. Interior of the Anderson-designed home continues the concept of spacious comfort, with eye-catching touches of rustic simplicity.

On its hillside site, the home becomes two-level on the downhill side, with the entry and patio area toward the lake and fairway seeing much use.

"The main thing," says Anderson, "is to build individually, to match the natural advantages we have to start with."

Visitors are invited to view Long Grove Country Estates any day from 10 a.m. till dark. The community is on Illinois Route 53, about two miles west of Route 83.

Appears on Television

Bob Baker of Baker Family Nursery, 812 W. Palatine Road, Arlington Heights, was a guest on the Orion Samuelson "Top-O-the-Morning" show on WGN-TV April 27.

A member of the publicity committee of the Illinois Landscape Contractors Association, Baker promoted Arbor Day and the need to provide trees and shrubs as sources of food and cover for wild birds. He suggested crabs and viburnums as ideal for such purposes.

Baker also noted that membership in the Illinois Nurseryman's Association and the contractors association is a sign of integrity. (10BB

Employers Urged to Fill Summer Jobs

Northwest suburban employers are urged to plan now to fill their expected summer job openings, including vacation replacements, new jobs and special seasonal jobs that can be filled by high school and college students and recent graduates.

Everett F. Callaway, manager of the northwest suburban office of the Illinois State Employment Service, says that high school and college students and prospective graduates are registering in large numbers at the employment office, 601 Lee St., Des Plaines. He advised employers to let the office know their job openings and requirements.

Employers may help the young people in their community by providing job experience and at the same time, acquire valuable employes for temporary or permanent work, Callaway said. Jobs they may be able to perform include file clerks, cashiers, typists, retail salespersons, camp counselors, work in food processing, manufacturing, warehousemen, clean - up men, landscape helpers and office personnel.

The Northwest Suburban Office covers 19 suburbs, including Arlington Heights, Buffalo Grove, Elk Grove Village, Hoffman Estates, Mount Prospect, Palatine, Prospect Heights, Rolling Meadows, Schaumburg, and Wheeling.

Q. Isn't it supposed to be bad manners for a person to use bread to sop up his gravy on his plate?

A. Not at all. The proper way to perform this is to break off a piece of bread, drop it into the gravy, then use the fork to pick it up.

Report from Washington

Douglas Hails CNW Commuter Success

Senator Cites Rail Managers

By BRUCE LADD
Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, D.C.— Senator Paul H. Douglas of Illinois has carved out quite a reputation for doing battle with the giants of the commercial world.

The senator's campaign to curb illegal and borderline loan practices, for example, has won him the image of a crusader for the consumer.

But such campaigns have also marked the one-time University of Chicago economics professor as no special friend of big business.

It was, therefore, somewhat of a surprise to his Washington colleagues last week when Douglas took to the Senate floor to heartily commend the Chicago and North Western Railway for successfully attacking the railroad-commuter problem in suburban Cook County.

LADD

The C&NW runs through the heart of the northwest suburbs—Mount Prospect, Arlington Heights, and Palatine— and serves hundreds of thousands of suburban commuters every week.

OTHER RAILROADS carrying suburban commuters have not been financial successes, however, and many have discontinued commuter service entirely.

Douglas put it this way:

"During recent years it has been the fashion of many railroads to bemoan their obligations to continue passenger service when they would rather devote their investments to the more lucrative pastime of hauling freight. Passengers, it has been repeated time and time again, cannot be transported by rail at a profit.

"I always believed this premise was false; and now I am glad to report that it has been proven false."

THE PRAIRIE State Democrat explained that airplanes and buses have carried passengers at a profit, and it has been his belief that "sincere management" would enable railroads to profit from passenger service too.

He cited the C&NW's program of attacking the railroad-commuter problem at its source — the railroad management.

"The C&NW brought in Ben W. Heineman as chairman and Clyde J. Fitzpatrick as president; and these two twisted the company's thinking around to where the considerations of the commuting public became paramount, rather than continuing under the old approach of giving the public what management thought the company could afford to give.

"The entire attitude of the company changed from commuter tolerance to commuter enthusiasm."

THEN, DOUGLAS continued, the C&NW proceeded to put $50 million into new equipment designed specifically for commuter service. The bold gamble began to pay off.

In 1963 and 1964, the C&NW operated its commuter service at a profit, demonstrating that it could be done.

"The story of the C&NW encourages other railroads to step into this breach," Douglas said.

"Profits can be made by operating rail service for commuters; all it takes is the proper company attitude.

"As Mr. Heineman says: 'You can't have successful suburban service without support, interest, attention and devotion from top management. If top management doesn't want it, it's not going to happen.' "

DOUGLAS' public exposure of the C&NW's success story is significant, not only because it violates the senator's popular image as a foe of business, but also because it illustrates to others in Washington that there is hope for the future of the nation's commuter transportation industry.

The Congress is currently under heavy pressure to subsidize commuter rail systems, particularly those in the heavily populated northeastern states.

How Railway Has Served Commuters

In addition to adopting a far-sighted attitude and making major improvements in equipment, management of the Chicago and North Western Railway has taken these steps to serve commuters:

—Issued an edict that all trains will run on time.

—Ordered that commuters are to be treated courteously and efficiently at all times by railroad employes.

—Instituted an advertising campaign, including sponsoring radio helicopter traffic report programs directed at people stalled in highway traffic.

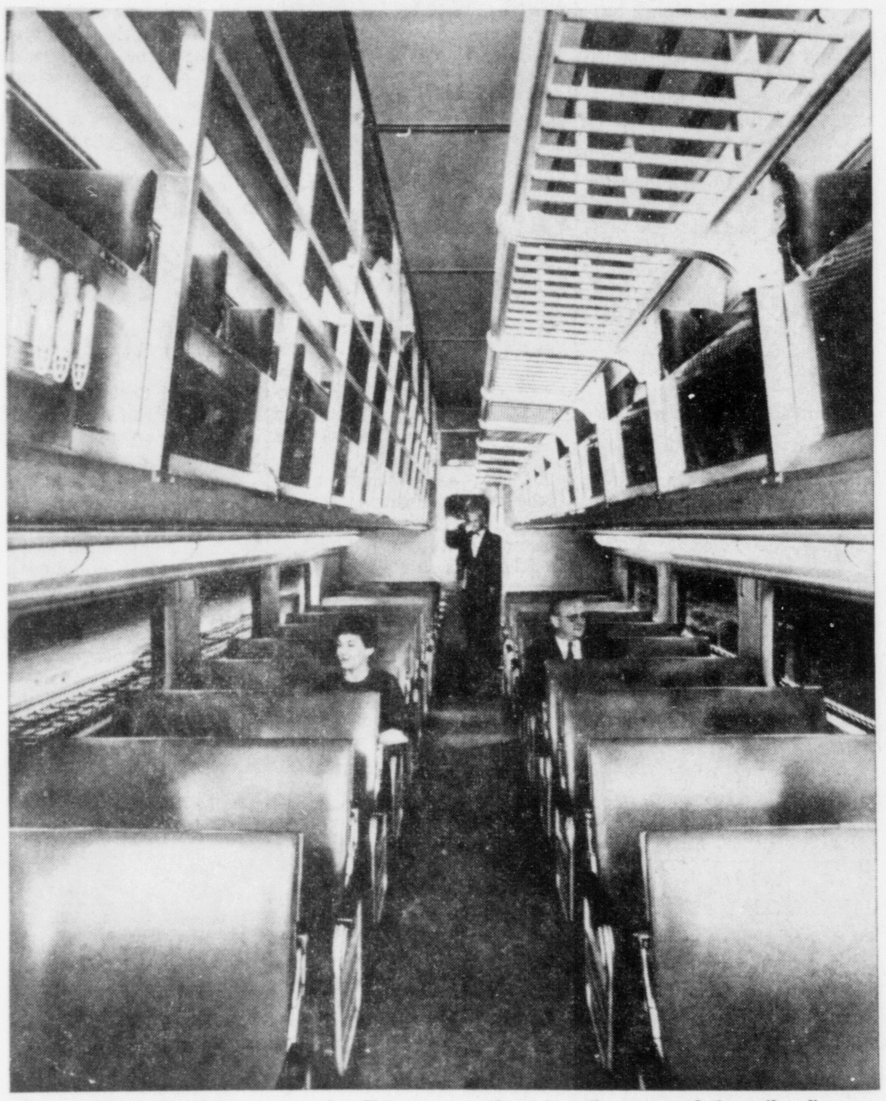
—Improved the appearance of local train stations.

State, National News Analysis



THE MODERNIZATION program for Chicago and North Western Railway's commuter service, which includes new coaches such as the one shown above, prompted Sen. Douglas last week to heartily commend the railroad's management and its attitude of "commuter enthusiasm."

Springfield Sidelights

Crucial Remap Issue Stuck on Dead Center

by SEN. PAUL SIMON

Springfield—As of this writing, there is not much hope that the members of the House and Senate will be able to agree on maps for the state's Senate and House, or on new congressional districts — and I hope I'm wrong.

The only experiences I have had when reapportionment was worked out occurred in 1955, when it became clear within a few weeks after the session opened that it would be worked out, and in 1961, when it took a special session of the legislature to work out the new congressional maps.

THE 1955 experience certainly is not being repeated and there is not much evidence that even a special session could work this puzzle out.

One of the factors causing all this is that in the Senate friction between the two parties is greater than it has been within the memory of sitting members. There are many causes for this; but regardless of what causes it, the fact presents an added obstacle to the compromise that is necessary for working out reapportionment.

If the legislature does not work out the answer, there is at least a possibility that the courts will do the job for us. One prominent Republican, former state auditor Elbert Smith of Decatur, has suggested that the federal courts should do this, since they are removed far enough from the battle scene in Illinois to do a reasonable job.

IF THE COURTS do not assume responsibility, and if the legislature fails to accomplish the job, Illinois faces a worse ballot than we had in 1964. Then there were only House members on at-large ballots. This time there could be the Senate and Congressional races in addition.

A major point of friction between the conferees at the present time is whether the "one man, one vote" decision of the U. S. Supreme Court has tossed out the geographical divisions created in our constitution. The state constitution calls for districts from Chicago, from the Cook County suburbs, and from downstate.

Republicans argue — and they have the backing of the State Supreme Court — that the constitution of the state still applies on these geographical divisions, since it can be worked out on a "one man one vote" basis.

THE DEMOCRATS believe the federal courts have by implication knocked this out.

Right now the two parties are at dead center on that issue. Until that is resolved by the federal courts, it is not likely much progress will be made. Even if the federal court sitting in Chicago rules on the matter, there is a good chance the decision will be appealed to the U. S. Supreme Court.

Just to add a little more confusion to the whole business, there are some in both parties who would welcome an at-large race.

Personally, I hope it does not happen. The whole theory of representative government suffers in the process. And if there's much more of this at-large business, the public will lose confidence in our lawmaking procedures.

United Nations Report

Little Publicity Is Given UNESCO Work

By SHERWOOD ROSS
Staff Correspondent

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. — Although our taxes help support it, few suburbanites have any detailed picture of the activities of UNESCO.

Its imposing title, the United Nations Educational Scientific and Cultural Organization, isn't likely to excite many people, although the exceptions to this rule tend to deny it.

From the standpoint of budget, about $25,000,000 a year, UNESCO scarcely exists and one wonders why its 117 - member countries, including the eastern bloc nations, can't ante up any more for this autonomous, non - political agency.

Sherwood Ross

After all, $25,000,000 isn't much for the herculean task of wiping out illiteracy among some 700 million adults and 200 million children, especially if it must dabble in culture and science, too.

ITS JOB IN education, our subject for today, is particularly pressing since the number of people who can't read in our world is growing, not declining. In India alone, and despite vast educational schemes, the number of adult illiterates increased by 36 million in the decade ending 1961.

This is a statistic to contemplate, particularly for Americans who hold the view that communism flourishes where men are hungry and ignorant.

UNESCO's staff is paltry, too. Its 500 professionals at its Parks headquarters and 1,200 field experts, taken together, are roughly half as numerous as the employes of the Chicago Department of Water and Sewers. And while we're at it, UNESCO's members are not investing as much each year to wipe out illiteracy as the Chicago waterworks, a typical utility, is spending to lay pipes.

Somehow, UNESCO is getting something accomplished. Although John Bowers, its deputy director, says the agency needs $1.9 billion to launch "a total eradication campaign" against illiteracy, it's done a lot with a little.

IN THE CONGO, where a college graduate is as rare as a day without bloodshed, UNESCO has helped the government recruit 800 teachers and double secondary school enrollment, in just a few years.

Together with the UN's Special Fund, the agency last year opened 13 teacher-training institutes in tropical Africa. Within three years, Bowers tells us, these will be turning out 1,800 graduates annually.

The major barriers these teachers will face include the absence of books for their pupils, decent schools, (or any schools,) and "linguistic chaos." This last horror, enough to discourage anyone who's had pains becoming bilingual, is common in Africa, where some countries enjoy more than 100 languages. (The world total is 2,800, UNESCO says.)

UNESCO LAST YEAR also opened, or expanded, technical and engineering schools in the following countries: Chile, Colombia, Ecaudor, Iran, Iraq, Libya, Malta, Morocco, Pakistan, Trinidad, Tobago, and Turkey. Two research schools were opened in India and two academies for training vocational and technical instructors were opened in Lebanon and in Laos.

This, unfortunately, was about as far as UNESCO could stretch it. The agency has been obobliged to single out a half dozen countries, or so, for pilot projects in education because it can't finance the whole ball of wax. Bowers says that it costs between $5 and $8 to teach a man how to read and, in a world that's spending $120 billion a year for weaponry, mankind just can't swing it.

To help countries help themselves, UNESCO last year teamed up with the World Bank, sent two missions to Latin America to help government officials learn how to plan and bankroll literacy campaigns. UNESCO enjoys a good reputation in Latin America. In 1957 it opened a drive to get 40 million out-of-school children enrolled in classes. To date, it's gotten 20 million into the classroom.

In a world that measures victories by counting the enemy dead, I suppose UNESCO didn't do much last year. Writing about it certainly isn't as exciting as Vietnam.

PART C

THURS., MAY 6, 1965

The Way We See It

High-Rise Impact Up to Government

The end of winter and the beginning of the building season will see work start on the first high-rise apartments in the northwest suburban area.

The groundbreaking will be accompanied by a good deal of skepticism on the part of suburbanites unconvinced of the merits of high-rise buildings in suburbia. On the other hand, officials who have cleared the path for high-rise buildings will be anxious to see their hopes of important community benefits come true.

Suspicions about high-rise apartments don't come from imagination or from reading books. They arise from actual memories of the hot, crowded city from which so many persons fled in search of spacious lawns and fresh air.

To achieve the life they wanted, they came to the suburbs. To maintain it, they have built strong building and zoning codes as defenses against possible blight.

However, it is unrealistic to imagine that the entire area between O'Hare Field and the Fox River can be reserved more or less exclusively for single-family homes.

The steady increases in land prices make this less and less feasible.

Furthermore, communities of predominantly single-family homes find it more difficult with every passing year to finance the costs of necessary public services, especially schools. Despite prosperous times, the typical suburban school district finds that pupil enrollment is outstripping tax revenue. The number of tax dollars available per pupil continues to decline.

Tall buildings are not in themselves evil. They have been ornaments of many cities throughout the centuries. The evil has not been the height of buildings but the failure to enforce laws governing them — in particular, building and zoning codes.

Thus, tall buildings were crowded wall-to-wall without provision for light, air and recreation. The result has been well-described as an "asphalt jungle," which invited the subsequent deterioration and slums.

Of course, this process is not inevitable. Some of the most desirable addresses in the world are on streets lined for decades with high-rise apartments, such as Lake Shore Drive and Park Avenue.

Just as high-rise apartments are not necessarily an evil, neither are they a panacea. They may be expected to help rejuvenate weary downtown areas only if downtown merchants and property owners keep pace with the times.

They will bring valuable new tax revenues, but they will also require additional municipal services.

If building and zoning laws are drafted capably and administered with zeal and impartiality, suburban communities can continue to grow upward and outward without losing their desirable characteristics.

On the other hand, no community can survive the handicap of inadequate laws and indifferent or hidebound officials.

The touchstone of desirable suburban growth will continue to be the calibre of municipal government, whether or not that growth includes high-rise construction.

'Must' Legislation

Illinois has 6,452 local government units—more than any other state in the Union.

They include 102 counties, 1,251 municipalities, 1,433 townships, 1,540 school districts and 2,126 special districts.

Periodic audits are required by law for 87 counties of 10,000 to 500,000 population, all municipalities except those of fewer than 500 population which do not own or operate public utilities, and all school districts.

For all other units of government, requirements vary. Many loopholes exist.

No law requires independent professional audits of forest preserve districts, park districts, mosquito abatement districts, soil conservation districts, and the like.

As a result, many examples of apparent wrong-doing can be cited.

State Auditor Michael J. Howlett has listed several:

—In St. Clair County, an audit of county offices by professional accountants, the first since 1911, found a liability of more than $1,733,000 had been run up by appropriations in excess of anticipated revenue and by expenditure of more than was appropriated.

—In Champaign County, a state's attorney resigned his office and entered a mental hospital after a $40,000 discrepancy showed up in his accounts.

—In Bureau County, an $18,155 judgment was entered against a former justice of the peace for recovery of fines and penalties he had collected and failed to turn over to the state treasurer for overweight violations.

—In Will County, another justice of the peace was convicted of failure to turn over fines for overweight trucks.

—In Mason County, an employe of the county treasurer's office pleaded guilty to theft after a discrepancy of $6,300 was discovered in funds of the office.

And several more instances are listed.

Howlett is urging support of bills which would bring other governmental units under the same requirements that now exist for counties, municipalities and school districts.

"If the proposed bills are passed," Howlett says, "we would have enough law on the books to provide a Public Moneys Accounting Code simply by recodification."

The desirability of such a code is obvious and passage of these bills should be put on the "must" list.

Sensible Suggestion

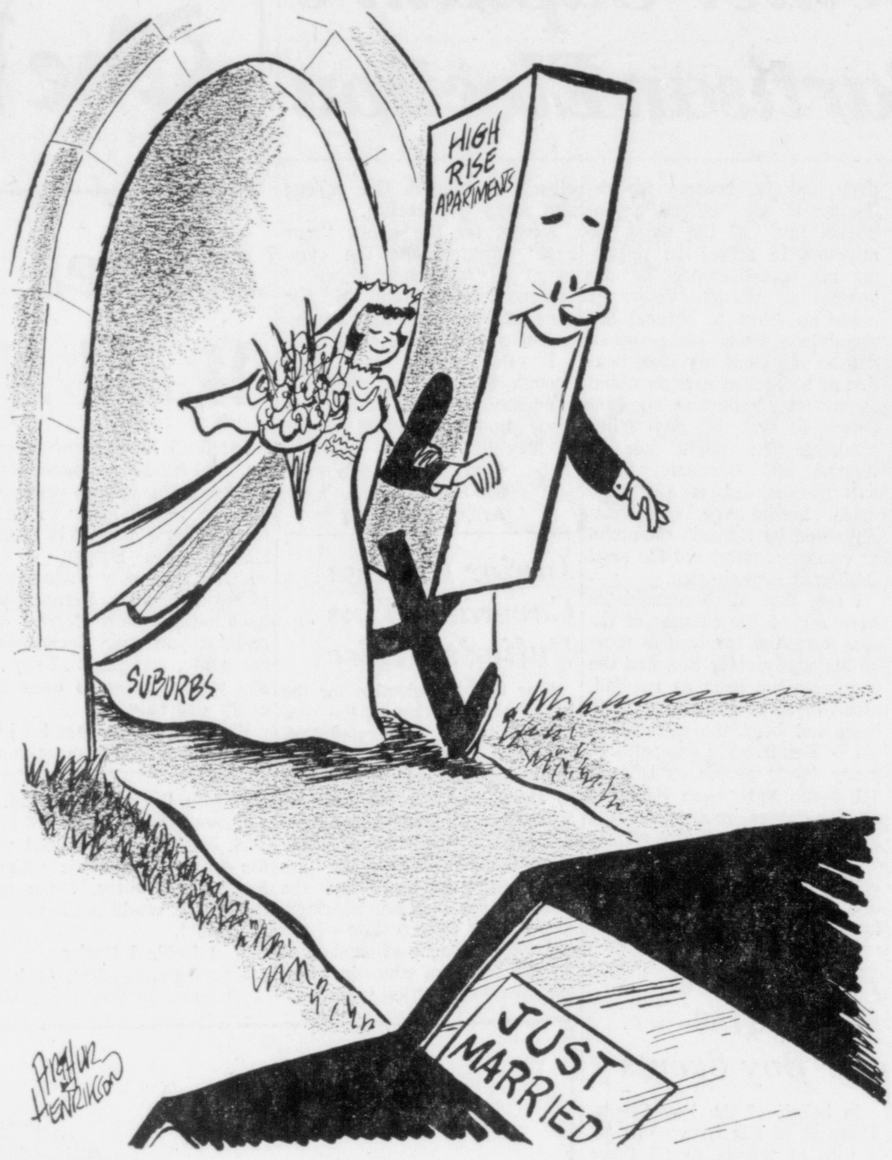
State Rep. Charles Clabaugh of Champaign is sponsoring a proposed constitutional amendment to permit so-called unit school districts (grades 1 through 12) to become indebted up to 10 per cent of taxable property. The present limit is 5 per cent.

Separate elementary and high school districts now have a limit of 5 per cent each, making a total of 10 per cent. Definite advantages of curriculum and administration might result if these separate districts were consolidated into unit districts.

State law reflects the opinion that unit districts are desirable, by granting them extra state aid. Yet the constitutional debt limit makes it practically impossible for rapidly growing suburban areas to form unit districts. Such consolidation would result in loss of bonding power necessary for physical expansion.

Rep. Clabaugh's proposal is in line with good educational practice, as well as simple logic.

For Better or Worse



Speak Up!

Health Bills 'Confusing'

By DAN BAUMANN
Staff Writer

"Ah," I thought, removing the assignment from my typewriter, "an easy one."

Simply interview a random choice of suburbanities to get their opinions on the Medicare and Eldercare proposals. Nothing to it. Grab some names and just call.

Marge

Get a dozen or so opinions. And report them faithfully.

A good theory.

It didn't work.

A half dozen calls failed to turn up anyone willing to commit himself to one of the two opposing plans for providing medical care for the elderly.

BAUMANN

What's more, people kept embarrassing me by asking what the difference was between the two plans. All I could say was Medicare is an administration proposal to finance care for the elderly through the social security system; Eldercare is an alternative plan developed and pushed hard by the American Medical Association to provide such care — with some government help, at least, but outside the social security system.

THAT BROAD generalization didn't help people reach a decision among the two.

A typical comment was offered by Mrs. John F. Butcher, 415 Chatham Place, Arlington Heights: "I don't know which approach is better. I haven't given it enough thought, I guess, to decide which I am in favor of."

Mrs. James Arden, 50 S. Glenwood, Palatine, also had a general idea of the difference between the two plans but did "not feel well enough informed about the particulars to express an opinion."

THE APPROACH wasn't working. But, theorized I, the people most immediately affected would know all about both plans and would have strong opinions about each plan. That proved only partially true.

The Over 50 Club, an organization of people mainly from Arlington Heights, was having a "drop-in" meeting of informal activities. I dropped in.

Again, I found people wanted an explanation of the difference between the two plans. But the group was willing to commit itself in one direction — against Medicare.

THE GROUP had formed a definite negative impression of Medicare and expressed a strong opinion against it once they connected that name with its main feature — Social Security financing.

They were less definite about Eldercare, apparently having formed few positive impressions of it but regarding it as a better alternative than Medicare.

The group actually voted on both proposals. About 20 of the 25 attending the meeting favored Eldercare. None favored Medicare.

Here are some of the individual comments:

EDWIN PLANZ, 953 Cornell Road, Palatine, who retired from Western Electric Co. last year at age 62, after 41 years with the firm: "I don't feel anything should be added to the social security system. The rate is high enough now; with the income tax and the possibility of a state income tax, deductions are a heavy burden."

Planz, who has private medical and hospitalization insurance, would favor a program to finance reduction of private insurance costs, because "most people on a pension can't afford a private health plan."

Mrs. R. J. Swingert, 7 N. Dryden, Arlington Heights, a widow, said she had not formed an opinion because "I knew I would not be needing it." Her late husband was a purchasing agent for the armed forces and his government-wide service benefit plan "covers everything. I've had two operations, and all I had to pay was the telephone call."

MRS. ELIZABETH Meyer, 211 Wille, Mount Prospect, whose husband is 66 and still works: "I truthfully favor Eldercare. I don't favor my child's carrying the burden for me (through social security payments). I feel Eldercare would do a great deal without government intervention.

Mrs. Gladys Northrup, 514 W. Miner St., Arlington Heights, a widow: "No one gets anything for nothing. I'm not too familiar with Eldercare, but I have read up on Medicare and am not in favor of it.

"It's placing too much in social security on the younger generation for everyone who is older, when many of us are able to pay for medical care. They pay enough taxes as it is."

Mrs. Ann Platell, 7 N. Donald, Arlington Heights, a widow: "I definitely do not like Medicare. I would not want to be told what doctor to go to. Eldercare sounds better."

The Hall of Fame

By BOB CUMMINS
Staff Writer

I am going to devote my annual spring baseball column this year to the Hall of Fame.

Many great players have been named to the Hall of Fame and have been enshrined at Cooperstown. All of them distinguished themselves with their bat or their glove, their arms or their feet, or some combination of these. In other words, they hit a remarkable number of home runs, struck out an extraordinary quantity of enemy batsmen, made double plays right and left, stole bases and things like that.

CUMMINS

ALL THIS is fine, but it overlooks a vast field of baseball achievement which deserves to be honored.

To fill the void, I am going to nominate the following for membership in baseball's Hall of Fame:

Hubert "Hub" Kinniston, veteran pitcher who twirled with seven big league clubs during a career spanning 16 years. After Hub's bad year in 1923 he said his manager didn't pitch him enough; after his equally bad year in 1924 he said the manager pitched him too much. Succeeding generations of pitchers owe much to this discovery of Hub's.

Richard J. Rhodes, outfielder with the Blue Sox. When Rhodes reported to his first spring camp, sports writers referred to him as "Dusty" Rhodes. Rhodes remonstrated vehemently and insisted upon being known as "Dick." Richard J. Rhodes thus became the first baseball player in history named Rhodes who wasn't nicknamed "Dusty."

CLYDE GASKIN, a member of a group from the Moose Lodge in Fond du Lac, Wis., who drove into Milwaukee to see the Fourth of July doubleheader with the Pirates in 1962. The group arrived in town an hour-and-a-half early and stopped in Irv and Marge's Tavern to kill a little time. However, Gaskin refused to have a beer, pointing out it would impair his appreciation of the afternoon's play.

Ray T. Louster, radio announcer. Louster broadcasted the Scorpions' games for many years. One day, anticipating the umpire's call incorrectly, he said "And it's a ball!" When the umpire raised his right arm to indicate a strike, Louster blandly continued his sentence "...over the outside corner of the plate for a strike!" Louster thus became the first announcer to use this ruse in an effort to disguise his error.

Weldon Crenshaw, television executive. Crenshaw was the first man to conceive the idea of programing three pre-game baseball interview shows. Before each Caribou home game, he produced, in succession, "Warm Up Time," "Heat Up Time," and "Burn Up Time."

CYRIL REGUR, a great statistician. Regur compiled an index listing each big league player's offensive coefficient. Regur added together each player's triples and stolen bases, subtracted the number of strikeouts, multiplied by the number of balks and passed balls, then divided by the number of runs batted in during the last four night games. Regur succeeded in demonstrating that the result was a remarkably accurate prediction of the player's offensive potential, providing he had been born under the sign of Pisces.

Suburb Achieves Stature

History is inescapably a part of today. What has happened in the past is the foundation on which we continue to build.

We live in an area dedicated to progress. Everything must be new and bright and shiny and speedy.

Only occasionally do we slow down enough to get out the picture album and reminisce of days past. But once in a while we take a look over a shoulder and realize the importance of history.

KLINE

I happen to be looking back over both shoulders right now and it is a rather interesting contrast to review the 10-year history of Rolling Meadows, the city I write about, and the 100 years since the settlement of Ela Township, where I live.

MOST COMMUNITIES wait to celebrate their founding until a century has passed. It is refreshing that Rolling Meadows has so much civic pride that it marked its fifth anniversary in 1960 and now is getting ready to observe its 10th year of incorporation.

Rolling Meadows presents a different picture. The garb of 10 years ago isn't so different from today. Skirts now are a bit (?) shorter and suit coat lapels a lot narrower.

THE BIG CHANGE insofar as Rolling Meadows is concerned is the respect accorded the city by its neighboring towns, who feared that a community as planned by Kimball Hill would become a blight on the northwest suburbs.

Instead, the development was settled by stable young people who had civic consciousness. They took a keen interest in their adopted home town, and saw to it that responsible people were elected to office. The announcement last week that Western Electric Company had chosen the city for its four-state central regional headquarters indicates the stature achieved through work of civic leaders.

Annexations during the last six months, which move the city limits south to Golf Road, are the culmination of an expansion plan first discussed three years ago, when civic, school and other leaders were called together to explore the city's future.

THE RESPECT which Rolling Meadows has earned is due in large part to the honest and forthright approach taken by its administrators. It is rather refreshing to see elected officials come right out in the open, rather than take the typical wheel-and-deal method.

Rolling Meadows, with only 10 years to look back upon, has made great strides toward becoming an important factor in industry as well as in the lives of its residents.

So as the city marks its 10th anniversary perhaps some of the early critics would like to take a drive through the area that was cornfields only a short while ago and see what has been accomplished in such a brief span of history.

For those who want to recapture the old rural countryside of a hundred years ago, come on out to Ela Township next August and relive for a few hours the early days of the now-bustling northwest area.

Reflects on Precinct Captain's Status in Non-Partisan Election

I want to take this opportunity to extend my congratulations to the successful candidates for their election to the Junior College Board of Education. Although I am not personally acquainted with all of the candidates, I am sure they are entirely competent to meet the challenge of the difficult task ahead.

As an unsuccessful candidate, greatly concerned for the future of the junior college in our area, I would hope to be able to make some constructive contribution to its success.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank those people who supported my candidacy in the belief that I qualified for membership on this Board. To them my appreciation for all their efforts in my behalf.

In your April 29th issue in the section devoted to the junior college board candidates, you printed a "news item" headed "Houser Gives Nod to Perrin."

Apparently the item was based upon an incomplete knowledge of the facts. I am sure you must now be aware that Mr. Houser did not offer organization support for me and I would earnestly urge you to publish the full text of his letter.

Allowing for the usual confusion of semantics, I believe the words if accepted without prejudice or malice can only be tken to mean that the following: that the Republican organization did not participate in this election; that my fellow precinct captains were invited to support me individually; and attention was directed to the candidates' forum at the Prospect High School Field House conducted by the Women League of Voters. I do not think it is reasonable or just to draw any other inference.

Obviously, the results of the election clearly indicate that the township organization did not, in fact, participate. It would have required minimal effort on the part of the Republican organization to overcome the several hundred votes separating me and the seventh man on the Board.

After listening to some of the comments stimulated by your "news report" of April 29th, I have had cause to reflect upon the status of a precinct captain — in either party. Is he to be denied the right to run for public office in non-partisan elections? Must his every act be interperted as a partisan one? Do his words, however personal or unrelated to partisan matters, become the reflection of the "official organization line" of the party he attempts to serve? In returning my questionnaire to the League of Women Voters, I made no effort to conceal my Republican Party status but I had no idea that my identification as a precinct captain would in any way jeopardize my candidacy or that of any other candidate who might join to support me. Certainly, there was no such claim of "foul" made toward the candidates supported by Eugenia Chapman or various members of the local Democrat organization.

I feel that all 48 candidates have served the citizens of the four townships involved. It must be abundatly clear that had the campaign not been as spirited, albeit of short duration, or had there not been the element of old - fashioned competition, many fewer people in District 301 would have been informed on the issues relating to the Junior College. With all 48 candidates discussing the Junior College widely it is my hope that more of our friends and neighbors will be favorably inclined to support the college and make it a reality.

Except for the minor "sour note" injected into the campaign as mentioned above, I enjoyed participating in this race and am proud that a number of people whose judgement I value greatly were kind enough to urge me to be a candidate. Again, thanks to those people who voted for me on May 1st.

Women Demos' Election Called 'Farce, Illegal'

I feel that the election of officers held on Wednesday evening April 28 by the Bloomingdale Township Democratic Women's Organization was done in an improper procedure.

Especially when an influx of women, non-members, are brought to the meeting specifically with premediated intentions of deposing the officers. These officers are qualified, intelligent women who strive for unity and the success of the Democratic party.

It was quite a surprise to me to see a woman who has run for office on another party ticket and who was not a dues paying member of the Democratic organization attempt to become an officer of the organization. She had the audacity to publicly denounce the officers of the organization.

Mrs. Noreen Phebus worked very diligently on every project and if it were not for her the organization would never have existed. The group of newcomers, non-members, infiltrated the meeting for the express purpose of nominating their own candidates, disregarding the by-laws and the constitutuion of the organization.

In my opinion the election was a farce and illegal, causing the organization to be non-existent.

'Roads Around Here Getting To Be Terrible'

In the past few months road construction seems to be "the thing" in Arlington Heights. Practically everywhere you go there is some sort of building going on.

I'm not against progress, but I am against the deplorable condition of our roads because of all this construction work.

For example, one almost has to drive around Arlington Heights to get to Palatine. There is construction on Palatine Road and Northwest Highway; Wilke Road is closed off.

Even though it is passable, the condition of these roads is inexcusable. It's bad enough with this re-routing happening everywhere at once, but the roads are covered with dirt and other debris from the construction trucks, and the holes in some of these roads and side streets should be repaired promptly. And, why, when our workmen tear up a road for some reason, don't they repair the road again instead of filling it in with dirt that will sink in a week later?

The roads around here are getting to be terrible, especially Euclid and Northwest Highway.

If they would finish what they start, instead of tearing things up all over, I'm sure there would be fewer irritated drivers on the road.

The section around the race track is about the worst.

There must be some way of keeping these roads in decent driving condition. Perhaps concentrating on one construction job at a time, as far as roads are concerned, would relieve this mess. I certainly hope they do something about it soon.

Visitor Finds Sister City Idea Exciting

Recently I was in your city visiting and was included in a group conversation concerning your city's Comas venture. I was amazed at what has been accomplished in a few short years.

We all help in our own way, the unfortunate and poor in our own land by our taxes, and our contributions to one cause or another, but there is a hint of "greatness" when an entire city reaches out to help another that has not yet found the way to stand alone . . . A Sister City!! How exciting it could be to help them in any way at all.

My reason for writing to you is that I gathered from the conversation that there is some concern for fear the project may die for lack of help from your own good citizens. What a tragic waste if the vitamins and medicine in storage are allowed to spoil before the money is available for shipping it to those who so desperately need it.

I am too far away to be of any physical help, and I know that the $10 which I was glad to contribute is just a drop in the bucket—but please, use whatever influence your paper may have to stir your folks toward helping their Sister City grow.

Rent Payment Idea Called 'Pure Nonsense'

Before the annual April 15 reckoning with the Federal government recedes too far into the memory of taxpayers, we ought to take a good look at the newest proposal to raid us. I refer to the "rent supplement" idea now being dangled before Congress in the Administration housing bill.

It's a scheme to require a federal cash payment for part of each month's rent—forever—for those who get picked for the favor. It does not even pretend to be relief for the poor. They couldn't get in on it. It is for people of "middle income."

That's most of us. We'll have to pay part of the rent bill for some other "middle income" people who are just as able to take care of themselves as we are.

Somewhere there has to be an end to pure nonsense in government give-away. The "rent supplement" scheme deserves the greatest storm of protest that ever hit Congress.

Junior College Coverage Wins Puffer's Praise

Now that the election for the board of education of the new community college serving Palatine and Arlington Heights high school districts is history, I want to thank Paddock Publications, and especially Miss Helene Bristol, for the wonderful coverage given this project from the time of the study made, through the filing of the petition, hearings, election for the creation of the district, biography of candidates for the board of education, and outstanding reporting in connection with the whole project.

Without the teamwork of Paddock Publications, coupled with the fine work of the Citizens Survey Committee, I am sure the project would not have been successful.

Questions Column Idea On Abortions

Has "Critic's Corner" columnist Joan Lorenson thought of carrying out her advocacy of therapeutic abortion to prevent the birth of children with defects to its logical extension?

Miss Lorenson suggests therapeutic abortion for pregnant women who contact German measles, but this destroys at least a third who would be perfectly normal and others with only marginal defects. Why not wait until the children are born and then weed out the defectives?

Of course, there might be some difficulty in determining the cut-off point. (Should babies with IQ's under 90 be allowed to survive? How much hearing would qualify a child to live?) But I'm sure that a legalistic formula can be devised to solve this small problem in order that the race be purified.

Hopes Mrs. Liuzzo's Death Will Set Spark in Everyone

Lately, I have been grieving . . . for I have lost a sister. I did not know the woman who died, yet she was a sister to all of us. Her name was Viola Liuzzo, she lived in Detroit, a city which I have only visited twice in my life time. Perhaps you have never been to Degroit, and perhaps you have never heard her name, and yet . . . I say . . . she was a sister to each and every one of us.

Viola must have been the kind of woman who is a do-er, not a complainer, and not a "Let Mary Do It" type of person. Viola saw a wrong being done, and she had to fight it . . . so she went to help solve the civil rights problem in Selma, Alabama. Sure, she was a housewife and a mother, and had many things to do in taking care of her own family . . . BUT . . . she somehow found the time and energy to go to Selma, and help in any way she could.

She probably knew that she wouldn't make any glorious and moving speeches while she was there, and probably never dreamed that she would make a lasting impression on hundreds of thousands of people . . . but she went, knowing that in her heart, she would have the satisfaction of doing her part to obtain equal rights for the Negroes of the south, who have been denied and persecuted simply because of the color of their skin.

She must have felt that in going there, and doing what she could, she surely in a small way would be making this a better world for all of us to live in. Certainly, she couldn't have even suspected that her life would have been taken, and with her sacrifice become famous for doing what her conscience dictated she must.

This is the kind of person that makes America great. Our very country was built and formed by people just like her . . . people who were tired of oppression and injustice, and who found within themselves the will to do something about it.

I say God bless her, and never forget her, because we too are made up of the same things Viola was, and these things make us sisters. We too are troubled by the injustice and problems of this nation today, and we too have the capabilities of fighting for what is right and good, and we too . . . are average people.

In tribute and memory of the sister we have lost, let us never again keep silent and remain inactive when there is a problem we can help solve. Viola will not have died in vain if her tragedy can set a spark in each and every one of us, her sisters. Our actions and better impulses set to work can build a great and lasting monument to her, and make our country a far better place to live.

Make-Up Artist Adept At Creating Character

Whenever a Des Plaines Theater Guild actor needs to develop a character make-up, chances are good that he will consult with Jackie McDermott to get her expert advice and help.

Mrs. McDermott, who lives at 509 N. Maple, Mount Prospect, recalls the Guild's production of "Rashomon" as one of her most challenging make-up jobs, and perhaps the most interesting. Converting a group of American suburbanite actors into Japanese from various walks of life was a major project.

Her roles in "Ladies in Retirement" and "Separate Tables" required Mrs. McDermott to create character make-up for herself, but things are different now. In "Light Up the Sky," she will have a sophisticated make-up job and a matching wardrobe for her role as Miss Lowell.

THIS LIVELY MOSS Hart comedy opens tomorrow (Friday) for a three-weekend run at the Guild Playhouse, 620 Lee St., Des Plaines. Tickets may be reserved by calling 824-8019.

Versatile Hazel Peck, 811 Lynwood, Arlington Heights, emerges from the drab wardrobe and character make-up required by the part of Nora in "A Touch of the Poet" to also go the glamour route as Stella, the hard-bitten stage mother of the star.

Completing the quartet of dazzling ladies are Toni Sawyer and Phyllis Lasker, both of Des Plaines, as the egotistical leading lady and the former rink idol, and it should be a toss-up as to which of the four is more beautifully gowned, elegantly furred and extravagantly bejeweled.

"Light Up the Sky" is about a group of Broadway stage people in the throes of whipping together a new play during its tryout stages in Boston. Assembled in the living room of a hotel suite, they are shown both in a sentimental and in a cynical light for the span of one evening.

BEFORE THE PLAY has its opening night, they are warm and ardent. But as the situation changes, so do the characters, and they squall and brawl until they are all triumphanlty united at the end of the show.

Few dramatists have been more familiar with the foibles and temperaments of Broadway than Moss Hart, author of "Light Up the Sky." So successfully did he tell the behind-the-scenes story of what goes on when the greasepaint comes off, that "Light Pp the Sky" was an immediate hit when it was originally produced on Broadway in 1948, and it has been a favorite with community theatres and stock companies ever since. Alan Blomquist, Cornell College sophomore, played a role in one of two musicals presented recently by the music and speech and dramatic art departments. He was Jennie's father in "Down in the Valley," by Kurt Weill. Blomquist also sang in the men's chorus for the other musical, Gilbert and Sullivan's "Trial by Jury."

He is the son of Mrs. Hazel S. Blomquist, 506 W. Lonnquist, Mount Prospect. (10CC

JANE PEDERSEN

The dinner honored all those who have contributed to the operations and activities of the Student Union during the past year. Miss Pedersen, one of four students receiving work awards, served as co-chairman for the Halloween, Christmas and Valentine's dances, was co-chairman of Christmas decorations and co-chairman of the Christmas caroling party, worked on the movie committee and assisted with the open house for the new addition to the Student Union.

Rod Taylor Star of Film At Catlow

The fight of an Irish playwright against poverty and injustice and his struggle to become a writer are the theme for "Young Cassidy," film coming next to the Catlow Theatre.

Based on the autobiography of Sean O'Casey, "Young Cassidy" traces the Dubliner's early manhood from his first work as a laborer through his participation in the Irish Citizens Army to his decision to fight with his pen rather than a gun. Rod Taylor acts the title role of Johnny Cassidy.

HUMOR, SADNESS and violence are the emotions portrayed in this film, photographed in Technicolor in Dublin and the nearby countryside and directed by Academy Award-winner Jack Cardiff.

The John Ford picture starts today (Thursday) for a one-week run. The all-star cast also includes Maggie Smith, Julie Christie, Edith Evans, Michael Redgrave and Flora Robson.

Several Towns Contribute Talent for Opera Benefit

Northwest Opera Showcase is drawing on a wide variety of talent from Palatine, Arlington Heights, Wauconda, Crystal Lake and Barrington to produce "L'Opera Symphonique," premiere benefit of the Northwest chapter, Lyric Opera Chicago. It will be presented Saturday, May 15, at the Barrington High School auditorium at 8 p.m.

The entire production is being directed by Lois Palermo of Barrington and produced by Helen Shockley, also of Barrington. Lois Palermo has been on the WGN "Theater of the Air," and the "Carnation Hour," and was chosen by Frank Sinatra to appear with him on the Ford Show. Mrs. Shockley is as well known for her achievements in the tennis world as she is in the music field, for she holds the title of National Junior Tennis Champion and is the only one from the Midwest to hold it.

JAN IMPEY of Arlington Heights is the choral director for the evening's performance which will be narrated by her husband, W. Richard Impey. The art director is Thelma Townsend of Crystal Lake, and Mimi Sutton of Palatine is in charge of special events.

Among the evening's singers will be Winifred Nelson of Inverness who will sing in the "La Boheme" finale of "L'Opera Symphonique." She has studied at Northwestern University opera workshop. Betty McLean, a soloist with the Elgin Choral Union and the Community Church of Barrington, she will be Carmen, a role she sang earlier in the year in one of the operalogues.

Beth Carr, who has studied with Forrest Lamont of La Scala, Rosa Raisa, the famous diva, and is now studying with Eunice Steen, will sing in the Allegro Molto from "Don Giovanni." Erma Bartling and Betty Stroh will star in selections from "Madame Butterfly."

BARBARA Crooks and Marjory Crooks, two well known pianists from Wauconda, will play the music for "Carmen," which has been transcribed for two pianos by Prof. Chester Shockley. The Crooks are both graduates of the American Conservatory of Music, and both have been soloists with the DuPage Symphony Orchestra. Barbara Crooks studied with Madame Levine and was her assistant in Aspen last summer.

Other pianists for the evening will be Janet Johnson, Richard Otto, Miriam Stieger and Helen Shockley, all of whom are known to members of the northwest chapter of Lyric.

The corps de ballet also will draw talent from the entire countryside. In it will be three students of the dance who were selected for the Kirov performance of "Cinderella" at McCormick Place. They are Andrea Lynn, Ralph Marugg and Randy Nellis.

OTHERS IN the corps are Clare Bataille, Karen Hobbs, Kathleen Brownlee, Tom and Dave Zolendek, Barry Gillogly, Tom and Dan Gerblick and Don Christman. Meri Lynn, formerly with the corps de ballet of Lyric, will dance the famous gypsy dance in "Carmen."

Twenty members of the male chorus include several directors of music at Barrington churches: Thomas Michaelson of St. Michael's Church, Richard Carter of Salem Evangelical and Reformed and Walter Krauss of the Lutheran Church of the Atonement.

Other members of the chorus are Ralph Czerwonky, Stanley Brockington, Austin M. Aimmerman, Walter Stroh, John Wastcot, Stanley Young, Victor Dahir, Edward A. Twerdahl Jr., Raymond Wichman, Carl J. Easterberg, Howard Wagner, Walter Johnson, Samuel Willets, Ralph Whitlock and Howard and Michael Bailey.

'Kate' Cast Chosen

Best-Off-Broadway Players has selected the cast for its upcoming production of the Cole Porter musical, "Kiss Me Kate." The show is slated for the Prospect High School stage the evenings of June 18 and 19 and 25 and 26.

Starring in the title role will be Lynn Jessen, 1212 W. Clarendon, Arlington Heights, who will be playing her third major part behind B.O.B. footlights. Her prior roles were the romantic lead, Sharon, in "Finian's Rainbow" and the affable Aunt Eller in "Oklahoma!"

THE LEADING MALE role will be enacted by Lloyd Bourdon, 1512 W. Juneway Ter., Chicago, who played Jud in "Oklahoma!" and opposite Mrs. Jessen as Woody in "Finian's Rainbow."

Betty Jane Martin, 527 Shadywood Lane, Elk Grove Village, will play Lois, and newcomer David Frost, Mundelein, will be Bill. The two gangsters will be portrayed by Ted Weiss, 1109 E. Pratt, and Tom Swingle, 204 W. Johnson, both of Palatine.

Sammy will be featured along with Arcadia Farm's other stallion, Thunder Cloud High, in a tableau depicting the history of the Appaloosa. (BILL

Professional Rodeo Scheduled for August

A professional national championship rodeo will be held at Acradia Farms at Long Grove next Aug. 27, 28 and 29.

The owners and operators of Arcadia Farms, Peter J. Cirelli and Mrs. Blanche W. Kloman, are undertaking construction of a permanent arena to accommodate the rodeo, which will be produced by Lehrke - Chapman Rodeo Productions.

The rodeo itself is sanctioned for championship points by the International rodeo Association of Pauls Valley, Okla., and contestants will come from all over the United States to compete in six events: bareback bronc riding, calf roping, saddle bronc riding, steer wrestling, wild Brahma bull riding and cowgirl's barrel racing.

TOTAL PRIZE money for the events will amount to more than $3,000.

Between the rodeo contests cowboy and cowgirl performers will entertain with trick roping, fancy riding and clown antics. Headlining the performers will be George Taylor of Grapevine, Tex., a master trick roper who also has a trained Brahma bull with him.

The rodeo also will feature a tableau depicting the history of the Appaloosa horse and the plains Indians. Arcadia Farms' two Appaloosa stallions, Sammy and Thunder Cloud High, will be the stars of this tableau.

THREE RODEO performances are scheduled, at 8 p.m. on Friday, Aug. 27, and Saturday, Aug. 28, and at 2 p.m. Sunday, Aug. 29.

The special arena being built for the rodeo will seat 3,000 persons and will be available later for horse shows.

The 150-acre Arcadia Farms offers boarding, horse rental facilities, riding instruction, breakfast and supper rides and several weekend trail rides in the Kettle Moraine section of Southern Wisconsin.

Arcadia Farms also offers a special pony birthday party. In addition to pony rides and refreshments the children are given a tour of the horse barns, including a visit to see Sammy and Thunder Cloud High.

Art Center Guests To Explain Jurying

Art world personalities Martyl and Robert Borchard will discuss "The Art of Jurying" for the Countryside Art Center general membership meeting tonight (Thursday) at 8:30 p.m.

Following a short business meeting slated for 8 p.m., and election of new officers for the coming fiscal year, the Borchard's will describe how a jury of professional artists evaluates a piece of art work.

Many artists who submit work for competition, either as a bid for prizes or for entrance in a "juried show," know the disappointment of rejection, but few know what the pitfalls are. The meeting tonight is to inform the membership what judges look for in an art piece.

QUESTIONS and answers will follow the talks. One question that will be put to the attending artists will be, "Are You Ready For Jurying?"

Martyl Borchard is represented in the Feingarten Galleries in New York, Chicago and Beverly Hills.

Borchard, currently a teacher of art at Nichols Junior High in Evanston, is represented in the Countryside Gallery and has exhibited throughout the country.

Interested persons may attend the meeting which will be held at Pioneer Park, 500 S. Fernandez, Arlington Heights.

WLT Revue Has Bright Spots

By JOAN LORENSON
Staff Writer

The Harlequins of Winston Little Theatre gambled this weekend that they possessed sufficient talent and slickness for an original "Second City" type performance.

The gamble of this Palatine group was not entirely successful. But the bright moments were bright in "Crabgrass Salad."

It is not unusual for amateurs to have difficulty with this kind of material, and they had it. Hackneyed writing in some of the situations compounded their problems.

THE CABARET style for the show is a logical successor for area community theatre that successfully introduced the dinner-theatre idea. But the Harlequins placed thier audience under severe handicaps at the Arlington Carousel. Large tables, especially in the back of the room, destroyed the intended intimacy on which cabaret theatre depends. With a step-high front stage, it meant a good portion of the audience continually had to strain to see the performers.

"The Guessing Game" and "Fagman" probably could be considered two of the outstanding numbers of the show with its 17 major scenes. Rudy Kandlbinder gave a slick professional performance in each of the situations, and he produced some of the high points of the evening.

"The Guessing Game" paired Kandlbinder with his wife, Betty, in a simple situation of the tired husband whose wife insists he "guess" who called. It ended with the tables turned when the husband makes his wife "guess" the identity of the woman who called him that day.

IN "FAGMAN" Kandlbinder and Al Filippini as two homosexual hairdressers plagued with a dissatisfied customer skirted the pitfalls of what could have been considered just bad taste.

In another post-intermission scene that took a typical suburban problem of "The Baby Photo Salesman," Kandlbinder again showed his skill in a fast paced scene. Dan Tagliere as the homeowner who turns into a syndicate type who will give the salesman "his just due" performed with deftness.

Kandlbinder was the most versatile of the performers. He also managed a creditable performance as an automaton in a scene "Automation in Revolt."

"SO THIS IS LIFE?" illustrated one of the high schoolish scenes that was overacted and trivial. Two babies, played by Peggy Tagliere and Patti Clark, speculated on their parents and their idiosyncrasies. Both actresses seemed to connect facial gyrations with acting when more skilled pantomime was needed. Writing of lines like "Looks like I'm Italian" or the "red (outfit) makes you a communist" further sunk the scene.

Weiss in many cases provided the continuity in an adequate manner.

THE TYPICAL act where a famous child star grows up lacked freshness and Patti Clark failed to put across the role. The gilded wig she wore might have been adapted from an idea of "Little Me," but it forced into slapstick an already bad situation. Peggy Tagliere borrowed another wig in the "Folk Song to End All Folksongs" to similar disadvantage.

Weiss, who produced, directed, wrote and acted in the vignettes showed cleverness and ingenuity but lacked the professionalism to make a slick whole. Later improvisations showed his directing failed to exploit the talents of the group to their fullest.

It must be said to his credit that his material had to be limited to tastes of his suburban audience. For example, clever commentary on Goldwater brought stony response from the audience.

JIM BEALL can be applauded for the effectiveness of the lighting that was well cued. The other technical effects also were handled well. Except for the wigs, the simple costumes were in good taste and appropriate.

The Harlequins can be commended not only for taking a gamble in this direction of theatre but also for taking a leaf from the "Theatre Games" that allows audience participation.

The audience provided them with situations, such as "a saleslady selling a dress two sizes smaller than the customer needs" or a "Winston Park homeowner calls his insurance agent to report his car has been demolished while it has been in the garage" or a takeoff on the Baker incident in President Johnson's administration.

The cleverness of the scenes conjured with minutes of preparation showed the talent of the Harlequins and brought out some of the potential never revealed by the actors in actual performance. (Bill

KNITTERS

At last — beautiful weather and you golfers may have discovered you'd like a beautiful sweater. Nothing compares to a lovely handknit. We suggest Les Coraux, Ascot, or 100% alpaca.

For pick-up knitting, knit your own golf socks (the gals have been using sport orlon for the weight), and golf club mitts are fun too.

New Introduction. If you like the unusual in your garden, this mad plant is for you. A medium sized shrub—silvery catkins in the spring, narrow green leaves in summer. KLEHM'S HARDY SPECIMENS LOCALLY GROWN!

KLEHM EVERGREENS

When winter strips other trees and shrubs of summer fullness, and their gay fall color, evergreens assume the full importance of their role in the well planned landscape program. In endless variety they lend color to the winter scene, they soften and screen unattractive areas, they give promise of year-round beauty complementing the whole scene.

Winters don't "fool around" here in Northern Illinois, so it is important to buy hardy well-grown stock. The Klehm Nursery has acres and acres of quality stock acclimated to the most severe winters.

PLANTING SEASON

The planting season extends from the latter part of March through December 15. Visit our salesyard and choose a single specimen, or several as a "friendly" evergreen screen for your outdoor living privacy.

Sugar Norway

Sugar and Norway Maples—The maple family represents the finest in midwestern shade trees to add grace and beauty and cooling summer shade to your home.

BALLED AND BURLAPPED TREES CAN BE PLANTED ANY SEASON

The principal planting season is the dormant period — all the months from October 15 through May 15 (depending upon the weather and the condition of the ground). Late fall and early spring is the time for moving small or bare-rooted trees. Really large trees are moved all winter. All summer we carry a good selection of both balled and burlapped and container grown trees in our salesyard. Balled and burlapped (B&B) means the tree is dug with a ball of earth that is held in place around the roots with burlap. This is necessary in moving larger trees, sizable ornamentals, or trees in leaf.

Eleyi—A large wide spreading tree, making a good combination for shade and beauty; red flowers, purplish red foliage, red fruit in late summer.
